McCarthy To Defy Brownell

St. Lawrence Seaway Virtually Assured

House Votes Participation With Canada

Ike Applauds Action; Senate Must Concur In Minor Differences

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Congressional approval of the St. Lawrence Seaway after more than a half century of controversy was virtually assured tonight, with prospects that ships from the seven seas will be able to sail as far inland as Toledo, Ohio.

Spurred in large measure by President Eisenhower's statement that the seaway is needed for national defense as well as for economic reasons, the House voted 241-158 to authorize this country to join Canada in building the channel.

All that remains is the adjustment of minor differences with the Senate bill before sending the measure on to Eisenhower for his signature.

Eisenhower, in a statement late today, hailed the House vote as "the end of a long and historic effort." He said the seaway would "contribute materially to the economic well-being and security" of both the United States and Canada.

Six-Year Project

Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, predicted the Senate would accept the House version without further ado, which could place the completed bill before Eisenhower by Tuesday.

Proponents say construction of the seaway, which will take an estimated six years, will open up the prospect of great new economic development of the Great Lakes area and the Midwest.

When completed, the 27-foot-deep channel will enable ships of the Victory and Liberty classes, for example, to pass directly from the Atlantic Ocean to inland ports on the Great Lakes. Ships of this size have a cargo capacity of 10,000 tons.

Navigation of the river now is restricted to ships with a draft of 14 feet or less because of a 46-mile stretch of rapids near Ogdensburg, N. Y.

U. S. Share 105 Million

The legislation passed today permits elimination of this shipping bottleneck through the digging of a canal — the "seaway"—27 feet deep.

The canal became a practical proposition only after the Federal Power Commission last year granted New York State a license to build, with the Province of Ontario, a giant 600-million-dollar hydroelectric project.

The granting of this license is now being contested in the courts, with indications that a decision may be reached by early summer or fall.

The U. S. share of constructing the seaway is estimated at 105 million dollars. Engineers estimate that Canada will be required to spend slightly more than 200 million dollars to build its part.

Md. Reformatory Break Thwarted

HAGERSTOWN, May 6 (AP) — Guards trying to prevent the escape of 10 inmates from the Maryland State Reformatory for Males early tonight shot and wounded seven prisoners, officials reported.

Superintendent Clement J. Ferling said none of those shot was seriously hurt and all 10 were recaptured.

The reformatory was the scene of two riots by inmates last fall.

Ferling said the inmates scaled a 20-foot fence topped by barbed wire which surrounds the recreation field next to the main building of the institution. The field had been opened only a few dayss ago for summertime use.

Guards in the towers fired a couple of warning shots over the heads of the fleeing fugitives, and guards outside the walls quickly went to the scene. They fired buckshot into the group, striking some of the prisoners.

Ferling said those wounded were treated at the reformatory hospital. Their names were not immediately available.

The break occurred about 7:45 p.m.

It came shortly after the State Planning Commission had inspected the institution at nearby Breathedsville and heard a plea for 35 new steel-grille doors to make it more secure.

Dulles Said To Expect Indochina Red Victory

SAYS "NO" — Attorney General Brownell (above) yesterday ruled against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) on releasing some secret FBI data dealing with a search for espionage and the senator, declaring he would not abide by the decision, demanded that Brownell be called before the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Secretary Would Base U. S. Policy On That Premise

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles is reported pressing a Far East policy which recognizes that, short of a military miracle, the major part of Indochina may be lost to the Communists.

The plan is reported based on an estimate that any "united action" plan which can be devised may be too late to save Viet Nam, the biggest and richest of the three Indochina states.

The present American strategy, it was learned, calls for the United States to concentrate on guaranteeing along with other countries the defense of neighboring Laos and Cambodia.

Won't Abandon Viet Nam

These two Indochina states have a combined population of some 4½ million people as compared to Viet Nam which has more than 22 million inhabitants including the big cities of Hanoi and Saigon.

Informants said the U. S. government attitude does not mean that this country will abandon Viet Nam, or that all hope that it will be saved has been lost. It was emphasized that massive American shipments of military supplies will continue to go forward to French Union forces there as long as there is a fighting chance the critical area can be held.

But it was said that this will be done with the realization that such steps may not be enough to prevent the Reds from conquering the area, or to keep the French from making a settlement which would allow the Communists to take over most, if not all, of Viet Nam.

Dulles To Report To Nation

If the French and Loyal Vietnamese were to stage a military comeback, the American plan undoubtedly would be quickly revised to seize any new opportunity offered.

Dulles arranged today to give a television and radio "report to the American people" tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m., EST, over a coast-to-coast network to discuss plans for meeting the Indochina crisis. The address will deal with Western efforts at Geneva to achieve peace in Indochina and Korea.

The State Department said Dulles' half-hour address would be carried "live" over the ABC television network and on NBC, CBS and Mutual radio hookups at 8:30 p.m. EST. CBS-TV will show a film report of the speech at 11:15 p.m. and ABC radio will carry a rebroadcast at 11 p.m.

Pair Convicted In Kidnap Case; Death Mandatory

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6 (AP)—A jury late today convicted two former private detectives of kidnaping realtor Leonard Moskovitz for $500,000 ransom and called for death sentences for both.

The jury convicted Harold Jackson, 52, and Joseph Lear, 43, on all counts of kidnaping with bodily harm under California's "little Lindbergh" law and made no recommendation for leniency making the death penalty mandatory.

Jury Got Case Wednesday

The jury signaled it had reached a verdict at 6:30 p.m., more than 24 hours after it began deliberations.

During the day jurors had asked Superior Judge Twain Michelsen what constituted "bodily harm."

Judge Michelsen ruled touching another person with a show of force or an intention of force constituted "bodily harm." The court held it wasn't necessary that a blow be struck or blood be drawn.

Moskovitz, 36-year-old San Francisco peninsula real estate dealer, testified he was chained during his 61 hours of captivity and threatened with a knife. His captors asked $500,000 for his safe return but reduced the figure to $300,000.

Plot, Jackson Contends

No ransom was ever paid and Jackson insisted the kidnaping was not a kidnaping at all, but a plot by Moskovitz to obtain money from his father.

Lear claimed he was an innocent dupe who remained in the kidnaping last January through fear after he learned the truth.

Feels Sorry For Pope

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—The Church of England Newspaper said today a married Catholic pope would command more confidence than a celibate one and expressed regret that Pope Pius XII "has been deprived of the experience of a happy married life."

Three Captured Americans Broke Law, China Reds Say

GENEVA, May 6 (AP) — Huang Hua, an official Red China spokesman, said tonight three Americans seized more than a year ago in a yacht off the China coast, are being held on charges of "violating Chinese law."

The three are Donald Dixon of New York, a correspondent for International News Service; Richard Applegate of Medford, Ore., a former United Press correspondent in Korea and an employe of the National Broadcasting Co. at the time of his capture; and Ben Krasner of Brooklyn, a merchant marine captain.

Earlier today a Chinese spokesman had admitted for the first time that Dixon was being held on the Chinese mainland, but made no mention then of the other two.

Huang refused to elaborate on the charges nor would he say where the three are held. He declined to comment on a report from a Canton source last week, which was received in Hong Kong, that they had been given prison sentences of three to five years. But the spokesman said he hoped for more information in a few days.

The three Americans were captured March 22, 1953, while en route in Applegate's yacht from Hong Kong to Macao, a nearby Portuguese port in the China Sea.

The U.S. delegation in Geneva said there were no specific plans yet for any direct moves with the Chinese at the Geneva conference for release of the three Americans.

Delegation officials said, however, that any "useful opportunity" would not be overlooked.

Since the Americans' capture the U.S. State Department has been seeking information concerning them through the British who have recognized the Red China regime.

Planes Pound Reds Ringing Dien Bien Phu

High Fragmentation Missiles Showered On Vietminh Troops

HANOI, Indochina, May 6 (AP)—Fleets of bombers swarming in as monsoon clouds lifted showered high fragmentation bombs on Vietminh troops surrounding beleaguered Dien Bien Phu today. The attacks ripped big gaps in the tightening rebel lines.

Bombers from bases in northern Indochina and from the former U.S. aircraft carrier Belleau Wood, now owned by the French as the Bois Belleau, swept in to bomb not only artillery emplacements but also the creeping trench systems now little more than 100 feet from the barbed wire protecting the inner fortress.

500, 1,000-Pounders Dropped

Land-based Privateer bombers carried four 500 - pound bombs each, designed to explode above ground with deadly intensity among infantry. Hell Divers and Bearcats from the carrier came in for more precision attacks.

Joining in the barrage from the sky were squadrons of B26 bombers dropping 1,000-pounders on the string of Vietminh antiaircraft batteries around the rim of the isolated northwestern Indochinese fortress, and on the Red-led rebels' artillery emplacements in the jungle hills two to three miles away.

Seasonal tropical storms that have hampered the French Union's air arm for days whipped the flat little rice valley during the early morning hours but broke at midday to give ceiling for the air attackers.

"Butterfly" Bombs

The French have been using fragmentation bombs of the "butterfly" type for nearly a month. The French said these attacks were being stepped up since they have caused heavy casualties and scattered thousands of Vietminh troops. Rebel infantry are now within easy grenade-hurling distance of the French barbed wire entanglements on all sides of the main defense complex, now constricted to a diameter of five-eighths of a mile.

While the warplanes struck, French mortars and artillery were plastering the rebels and waging violent duels with their batteries in the nearby hills.

American-Flown 'Flying Boxcar' Fails To Return

HONG KONG, Friday, May 7 —A Flying Boxcar flown by an American crew in Indochina failed to return to its base, an announcement said today.

The announcement was made by the Civilian Air Transport Co. operated by Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, retired. CAT has been operating Flying Boxcars under contract in Indochina to haul supplies.

McCarthy-Army Row Prober Feels "Brainwashed"

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) of the McCarthy-Army hearings committee complained today, "I feel brainwashed just sitting through these hearings."

Partly because of Potter's plaint, the committee voted to take tomorrow afternoon off.

Potter had said the Senate had important business before it, and he would like to be on the floor to take part. But the hearings, he lamanted, have "no end in sight for days, weeks or months."

Assembly Backs French Premier

PARIS, May 6 (AP)—The French National Assembly today gave Premier Joseph Laniel and his Cabinet a 311 to 262 vote of confidence. This authorized the government to continue to negotiate at Geneva for an end to the Indochina War.

Laniel probably has much less support than the 49-vote margin would indicate. Many deputies said they did not fully approve Laniel's policies but that they felt it would be unwise to throw the government out just as talks were starting in Geneva on Indochina.

The vote of confidence was on a procedural point. Laniel insisted on the liberty to fix a date for a debate on Indochina. Many of the deputies wanted to set May 14, but Laniel said this was too soon because of the Geneva conference. The Premier now will be able to call the debate whenever he thinks the negotiations at Geneva have yielded maximum results.

Red H-Bomb Warning

MOSCOW, May 6 (AP)—The Soviet army newspaper Red Star today warned the Russian public that underwater hydrogen bomb explosions are the most dangerous of all.

Trophy Of Seaway Battle

Rep. George A. Dondero (R-Mich), right, floor leader for passage of the St. Lawrence seaway bill, gets the gavel used by Speaker Joseph Martin, Jr., (R-Mass) in presiding over the session yesterday at which the measure was approved by the House.

GOP 'Caught Bluffing' By Foes, Demos Told

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) declared tonight that the Eisenhower administration has been "caught bluffing by our enemies" and the United States stands "in clear danger of being left naked and alone in a hostile world."

The Senate Democratic leader launched an attack on the Republican administration's foreign policies in a speech prepared for a $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson dinner.

Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex) also spoke to the approximately 1,500 party faithful who turned out for the first Washington dinner of its kind since the Democrats went down to defeat in the 1952 presidential election. Rayburn said that while he has no personal criticism of President Eisenhower, the Republican party is headed "downward" toward loss of control of Congress in the November election.

In a message to the dinner, attended by former President Truman, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the 1952 party presidential nominee, predicted that the Republicans "will have considerable experience as a minority after November of 1954."

Stevenson exhorted the Democrats to maintain "party equilibrium and steady purpose in the face of the incessant barrage of falsehood and insult to all Democrats which cannot hide the confusion, contradiction and impotence within the majority party."

Stevenson was not able to be present at the two-day conference of the Democratic National Committee, which preceded the dinner. Stevenson is still recovering from a kidney operation. But other members of the party made up for his absence by vigorous attacks on the Eisenhower domestic and foreign policies.

In a closed session of the National Committee before the climatic dinner, Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell was given a vote of confidence on his action urging the withdrawal of James Roosevelt, son of the former President, and Rep. Robert L. Condon from races for Democratic congressional nominations in California.

Sen. Johnson, who has made a point of cooperating with the Republicans on foreign and military affairs, took another tack tonight in lambasting Republican foreign policies.

"All of us have listened to the dismal series of reversals and confusions and alarms and excursions which have emerged from Washington over the past few weeks," he declared. "It is apparent only that American foreign policy has never in all its history suffered such a stunning reversal."

With obvious reference to the call of Secretary of State Dulles for "united action" by the free world to stem the tide of Communist aggression in Indochina, Johnson declared:

"We have been caught bluffing by our enemies. Our friends and allies are frightened and wondering, as we do, where we are headed. We stand in clear danger of being left naked and alone in a hostile world.

"Only a few days ago we observed our final humiliation in the spectacle of the American secretary of state backtracking the Atlantic from the conference at Geneva."

Truman Order Bars Disclosure Of Loyalty Data

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration still is considering whether to revise a directive by President Truman which bars the disclosure of information in government loyalty files.

The 1948 directive is still in effect. A Justice Department spokesman said today the situation is still as it was last Feb. 18 when Atty. Gen. Brownell told a news conference that the question of a revision was under study in the department but no decision had been reached.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has been especially critical of the Truman order, which he contends has hampered him in his probe for subversives.

Wreckage Of Missing Navy Plane Sighted

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 6 (AP)—The Navy said today that the wreckage of a missing PBM flying boat with 10 men aboard had been sighted 90 miles southwest of Brownsville in Mexico and there appeared to be no survivors.

A Navy spokesman said the crashed plane was still burning. The plane had been missing since last night. It was based at the Naval Air Station here.

More A-Subs Planned

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee announced today the Defense Department is asking money to build two additional atomic-powered submarines in the year beginning July 1.

China To Demand Voice For Laos, Cambodia Reds

GENEVA, May 6 (AP)—The official spokesman for Red China said tonight his delegation would demand the admission of Communist puppet governments from Laos and Cambodia to the Indochina section of the Geneva peace talks.

A French spokesman said France would refuse to sit at the same table with representatives of "phantom regimes which exist only in the imagination of the Vietminh."

The Communist - led Vietminh, calling themselves the "Democratic Republic of Viet Nam," consider their authority is limited to Viet Nam, one of the three French Union Associated States of Indochina. The kingdoms of Cambodia and Laos are the other two.

Talks May Open Monday

Russia and the West have agreed that the Indochina talks will open, perhaps on Monday, with nine delegations at the conference table—the United States, France, Britain, Russia, Red China, the three French Union associated states and Vietminh.

But the first item on the agenda is a possible invitation to other delegations. The Communist Chinese spokesman said his delegation would demand admission of the Communist governments of Khmer (Cambodia) and Pathet Lao (Laos) as well as other "interested states," including India, Indonesia and Burma.

Chairmanship Dispute

However, the Russians and Red Chinese were believed to be sufficiently interested in having the conference get under way not to insist on additional invitations to the extent of wrecking it.

The Indochina talks were expected to open today, but were delayed by various obstacles. For one thing, there still was an agreement to be reached on the chairmanship. Another cause of delay was the failure of several leading members of the delegations of the Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia to reach here in time.

Big Plane, 63 Aboard, Lands Safely With Bad Nose Wheel

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — A big transatlantic plane with 63 persons aboard landed safely at Idlewild Airport today, after being hung up above the field two hours with a bad nose wheel. One of the passengers was an infant.

There were no injuries to the 53 passengers and nine crew members as Pilot Cameron Walker set the four - engined, double - decker giant down gingerly but smoothly on its main wheels and with its tail low.

The Pan American Stratocruiser took off for London at 3:23 p.m. Its nose wheel failed to retract completely and locked at a 65-degree angle instead of in a vertical position.

The plane radioed word of its plight, then swung out to sea to dump 2,000 gallons of gasoline. It circled the field to burn up as much more fuel as possible before coming in for the landing.

Nine fire engine companies, four ladder truck companies and a Fire Department rescue company — enough equipment to handle a three alarm blaze—rushed to the airport and stood by during the ticklish landing

Senator Says He'll Release FBI Material

Demands Appearance Of Attorney General Before Investigators

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) defied another member of the Eisenhower administration today, declaring he would not abide by Atty. Gen. Brownell's decision that FBI data bearing on a hunt for Communist spies should be kept secret.

The Brownell decision brought a stormy protest from McCarthy, who contends the Army lagged in rooting out alleged subversives from the Ft. Monmouth radar laboratories—a charge hotly denied by Secretary of the Army Stevens.

"I think maybe I have no duty to keep this material secret, and I don't intend to," McCarthy declared at the 11th day of hearings on his row with high Pentagon officials.

He demanded that Brownell, who said publication of the data would be contrary to the public interest, be called before the Senate Investigations subcommittee to justify his stand.

With this question still open, the McCarthy-Pentagon inquiry delved into the record of a certain "Mr. X." This man never was named, but McCarthy charged he is one of several persons with "Communist connections" who have served on the Pentagon's top security screening board.

John G. Adams, Army counsel, replied that the man had been cleared of security risk allegations after an investigation.

Brownell got into the inquiry when the Senate investigators asked him if it would be all right to make public a "letter" produced earlier by McCarthy — a letter that turned out to be a cut-down version of an FBI memo on the question of espionage at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

The attorney general sent back his answer today. It was no. He said the letter makes "unauthorized use" of secret FBI data. And he ruled it would be against the public interest to disclose either the letter or the 15-page FBI memo from which it was extracted.

Impassioned Speech

This prompted McCarthy to make the most impassioned speech he has made since the televised hearings began two weeks ago.

He declared Brownell himself set a precedent for releasing such material when he divulged FBI data against "a dead spy — not the live spies we are discussing" in the Harry Dexter White case.

Shouting, and his voice rising to an emotional pitch, McCarthy said the time has come to test Truman - Eisenhower security directives.

"As far as I personally am concerned," McCarthy declared, "no Truman directive or any other directive which is designed not for the security of this nation, but to prevent embarrassment of those responsible for covering up Communists, will keep me from making public the type of information we have here showing gross neglect."

McCarthy contends the 1951 "letter" shows the Army had ample warning of spy danger in secret radar laboratories. But the Army,

Paraguay Radio Says Revolt Over

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, May 6 (AP)—The Paraguayan radio announced today the quelling of a revolution by elements of the Army but left unclear the status of President Federico Chaves, the country's ruler for the past five years.

The radio carried a communique signed by Gen. Alfredo Stroesner, commander in chief of the armed forces, ordering resumption of normal business activities following yesterday's revolt.

A second announcement carried a statement by Tomas Ferreira, president of the Colorado party's governing council, saying the revolt had ended and calm had returned to the central South American republic.

But neither announcement made any mention of Chaves, the 74-year-old President who had kept Paraguay in a period of comparative calm since 1950.

American-Flown 'Flying Boxcar' Fails To Return

HONG KONG, Friday, May 7 —A Flying Boxcar flown by an American crew in Indochina failed to return to its base, an announcement said today.

The announcement was made by the Civilian Air Transport Co. operated by Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, retired. CAT has been operating Flying Boxcars under contract in Indochina to haul supplies.

McCarthy-Army Row Prober Feels "Brainwashed"

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) of the McCarthy-Army hearings committee complained today, "I feel brainwashed just sitting through these hearings."

Partly because of Potter's plaint, the committee voted to take tomorrow afternoon off.

Potter had said the Senate had important business before it, and he would like to be on the floor to take part. But the hearings, he lamanted, have "no end in sight for days, weeks or months."

Assembly Backs French Premier

PARIS, May 6 (AP)—The French National Assembly today gave Premier Joseph Laniel and his Cabinet a 311 to 262 vote of confidence. This authorized the government to continue to negotiate at Geneva for an end to the Indochina War.

Laniel probably has much less support than the 49-vote margin would indicate. Many deputies said they did not fully approve Laniel's policies but that they felt it would be unwise to throw the government out just as talks were starting in Geneva on Indochina.

The vote of confidence was on a procedural point. Laniel insisted on the liberty to fix a date for a debate on Indochina. Many of the deputies wanted to set May 14, but Laniel said this was too soon because of the Geneva conference. The Premier now will be able to call the debate whenever he thinks the negotiations at Geneva have yielded maximum results.

Red H-Bomb Warning

MOSCOW, May 6 (AP)—The Soviet army newspaper Red Star today warned the Russian public that underwater hydrogen bomb explosions are the most dangerous of all.

Three Captured Americans Broke Law, China Reds Say

GENEVA, May 6 (AP) — Huang Hua, an official Red China spokesman, said tonight three Americans seized more than a year ago in a yacht off the China coast, are being held on charges of "violating Chinese law."

The three are Donald Dixon of New York, a correspondent for International News Service; Richard Applegate of Medford, Ore., a former United Press correspondent in Korea and an employe of the National Broadcasting Co. at the time of his capture; and Ben Krasner of Brooklyn, a merchant marine captain.

Earlier today a Chinese spokesman had admitted for the first time that Dixon was being held on the Chinese mainland, but made no mention then of the other two.

Huang refused to elaborate on the charges nor would he say where the three are held. He declined to comment on a report from a Canton source last week, which was received in Hong Kong, that they had been given prison sentences of three to five years. But the spokesman said he hoped for more information in a few days.

The three Americans were captured March 22, 1953, while en route in Applegate's yacht from Hong Kong to Macao, a nearby Portuguese port in the China Sea.

The U.S. delegation in Geneva said there were no specific plans yet for any direct moves with the Chinese at the Geneva conference for release of the three Americans.

Delegation officials said, however, that any "useful opportunity" would not be overlooked.

Since the Americans' capture the U.S. State Department has been seeking information concerning them through the British who have recognized the Red China regime.

Trophy Of Seaway Battle

Rep. George A. Dondero (R-Mich), right, floor leader for passage of the St. Lawrence seaway bill, gets the gavel used by Speaker Joseph Martin, Jr., (R-Mass) in presiding over the session yesterday at which the measure was approved by the House.

GOP 'Caught Bluffing' By Foes, Demos Told

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) declared tonight that the Eisenhower administration has been "caught bluffing by our enemies" and the United States stands "in clear danger of being left naked and alone in a hostile world."

The Senate Democratic leader launched an attack on the Republican administration's foreign policies in a speech prepared for a $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson dinner.

Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex) also spoke to the approximately 1,500 party faithful who turned out for the first Washington dinner of its kind since the Democrats went down to defeat in the 1952 presidential election. Rayburn said that while he has no personal criticism of President Eisenhower, the Republican party is headed "downward" toward loss of control of Congress in the November election.

In a message to the dinner, attended by former President Truman, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the 1952 party presidential nominee, predicted that the Republicans "will have considerable experience as a minority after November of 1954."

Stevenson exhorted the Democrats to maintain "party equilibrium and steady purpose in the face of the incessant barrage of falsehood and insult to all Democrats which cannot hide the confusion, contradiction and impotence within the majority party."

Stevenson was not able to be present at the two-day conference of the Democratic National Committee, which preceded the dinner. Stevenson is still recovering from a kidney operation. But other members of the party made up for his absence by vigorous attacks on the Eisenhower domestic and foreign policies.

In a closed session of the National Committee before the climatic dinner, Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell was given a vote of confidence on his action urging the withdrawal of James Roosevelt, son of the former President, and Rep. Robert L. Condon from races for Democratic congressional nominations in California.

Sen. Johnson, who has made a point of cooperating with the Republicans on foreign and military affairs, took another tack tonight in lambasting Republican foreign policies.

"All of us have listened to the dismal series of reversals and confusions and alarms and excursions which have emerged from Washington over the past few weeks," he declared. "It is apparent only that American foreign policy has never in all its history suffered such a stunning reversal."

With obvious reference to the call of Secretary of State Dulles for "united action" by the free world to stem the tide of Communist aggression in Indochina, Johnson declared:

"We have been caught bluffing by our enemies. Our friends and allies are frightened and wondering, as we do, where we are headed. We stand in clear danger of being left naked and alone in a hostile world.

"Only a few days ago we observed our final humiliation in the spectacle of the American secretary of state backtracking the Atlantic from the conference at Geneva."

Truman Order Bars Disclosure Of Loyalty Data

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration still is considering whether to revise a directive by President Truman which bars the disclosure of information in government loyalty files.

The 1948 directive is still in effect. A Justice Department spokesman said today the situation is still as it was last Feb. 18 when Atty. Gen. Brownell told a news conference that the question of a revision was under study in the department but no decision had been reached.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has been especially critical of the Truman order, which he contends has hampered him in his probe for subversives.

Wreckage Of Missing Navy Plane Sighted

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 6 (AP)—The Navy said today that the wreckage of a missing PBM flying boat with 10 men aboard had been sighted 90 miles southwest of Brownsville in Mexico and there appeared to be no survivors.

A Navy spokesman said the crashed plane was still burning. The plane had been missing since last night. It was based at the Naval Air Station here.

More A-Subs Planned

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee announced today the Defense Department is asking money to build two additional atomic-powered submarines in the year beginning July 1.

China To Demand Voice For Laos, Cambodia Reds

GENEVA, May 6 (AP)—The official spokesman for Red China said tonight his delegation would demand the admission of Communist puppet governments from Laos and Cambodia to the Indochina section of the Geneva peace talks.

A French spokesman said France would refuse to sit at the same table with representatives of "phantom regimes which exist only in the imagination of the Vietminh."

The Communist - led Vietminh, calling themselves the "Democratic Republic of Viet Nam," consider their authority is limited to Viet Nam, one of the three French Union Associated States of Indochina. The kingdoms of Cambodia and Laos are the other two.

Talks May Open Monday

Russia and the West have agreed that the Indochina talks will open, perhaps on Monday, with nine delegations at the conference table—the United States, France, Britain, Russia, Red China, the three French Union associated states and Vietminh.

But the first item on the agenda is a possible invitation to other delegations. The Communist Chinese spokesman said his delegation would demand admission of the Communist governments of Khmer (Cambodia) and Pathet Lao (Laos) as well as other "interested states," including India, Indonesia and Burma.

Chairmanship Dispute

However, the Russians and Red Chinese were believed to be sufficiently interested in having the conference get under way not to insist on additional invitations to the extent of wrecking it.

The Indochina talks were expected to open today, but were delayed by various obstacles. For one thing, there still was an agreement to be reached on the chairmanship. Another cause of delay was the failure of several leading members of the delegations of the Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia to reach here in time.

Big Plane, 63 Aboard, Lands Safely With Bad Nose Wheel

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — A big transatlantic plane with 63 persons aboard landed safely at Idlewild Airport today, after being hung up above the field two hours with a bad nose wheel. One of the passengers was an infant.

There were no injuries to the 53 passengers and nine crew members as Pilot Cameron Walker set the four - engined, double - decker giant down gingerly but smoothly on its main wheels and with its tail low.

The Pan American Stratocruiser took off for London at 3:23 p.m. Its nose wheel failed to retract completely and locked at a 65-degree angle instead of in a vertical position.

The plane radioed word of its plight, then swung out to sea to dump 2,000 gallons of gasoline. It circled the field to burn up as much more fuel as possible before coming in for the landing.

Nine fire engine companies, four ladder truck companies and a Fire Department rescue company — enough equipment to handle a three alarm blaze—rushed to the airport and stood by during the ticklish landing

Senator Says He'll Release FBI Material

Demands Appearance Of Attorney General Before Investigators

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) defied another member of the Eisenhower administration today, declaring he would not abide by Atty. Gen. Brownell's decision that FBI data bearing on a hunt for Communist spies should be kept secret.

The Brownell decision brought a stormy protest from McCarthy, who contends the Army lagged in rooting out alleged subversives from the Ft. Monmouth radar laboratories—a charge hotly denied by Secretary of the Army Stevens.

"I think maybe I have no duty to keep this material secret, and I don't intend to," McCarthy declared at the 11th day of hearings on his row with high Pentagon officials.

He demanded that Brownell, who said publication of the data would be contrary to the public interest, be called before the Senate Investigations subcommittee to justify his stand.

With this question still open, the McCarthy-Pentagon inquiry delved into the record of a certain "Mr. X." This man never was named, but McCarthy charged he is one of several persons with "Communist connections" who have served on the Pentagon's top security screening board.

John G. Adams, Army counsel, replied that the man had been cleared of security risk allegations after an investigation.

Brownell got into the inquiry when the Senate investigators asked him if it would be all right to make public a "letter" produced earlier by McCarthy — a letter that turned out to be a cut-down version of an FBI memo on the question of espionage at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

The attorney general sent back his answer today. It was no. He said the letter makes "unauthorized use" of secret FBI data. And he ruled it would be against the public interest to disclose either the letter or the 15-page FBI memo from which it was extracted.

Impassioned Speech

This prompted McCarthy to make the most impassioned speech he has made since the televised hearings began two weeks ago.

He declared Brownell himself set a precedent for releasing such material when he divulged FBI data against "a dead spy — not the live spies we are discussing" in the Harry Dexter White case.

Shouting, and his voice rising to an emotional pitch, McCarthy said the time has come to test Truman - Eisenhower security directives.

"As far as I personally am concerned," McCarthy declared, "no Truman directive or any other directive which is designed not for the security of this nation, but to prevent embarrassment of those responsible for covering up Communists, will keep me from making public the type of information we have here showing gross neglect."

Paraguay Radio Says Revolt Over

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, May 6 (AP)—The Paraguayan radio announced today the quelling of a revolution by elements of the Army but left unclear the status of President Federico Chaves, the country's ruler for the past five years.

The radio carried a communique signed by Gen. Alfredo Stroesner, commander in chief of the armed forces, ordering resumption of normal business activities following yesterday's revolt.

A second announcement carried a statement by Tomas Ferreira, president of the Colorado party's governing council, saying the revolt had ended and calm had returned to the central South American republic.

But neither announcement made any mention of Chaves, the 74-year-old President who had kept Paraguay in a period of comparative calm since 1950.

Steel Union's Wage Policy Group Considers Demands On Industry

May Demand Pay Guarantee, Boost

By JOHN MOODY

PITTSBURGH, May 6 (AP)—The CIO United Steel Workers powerful Wage Policy Committee weighed today a motion to adopt a four-point program including demands for higher wages and a guaranteed annual wage as the basis for negotiating a contract with the basic steel industry.

The four - point program was adopted earlier today by the union's 39-member Executive Board and handed to the Wage Policy Committee for final approval before negotiations open with U.S. Steel Corp. May 18.

Other points in the program call for improved insurance and pension plans and better contract terms.

CIO-USW President David L. McDonald said the committee discussed the wage and pension and insurance points at an afternoon meeting and will take up the remaining points at sessions scheduled to get underway tomorrow at 9 a.m.

He said the committee will vote on the program in its entirety tomorrow rather than vote on each point. There is little doubt that the four points will win approval.

Reminded that in former years the union has said it will seek a substantial wage increase, the union president said no significance should be attached to the wordage of the demand. It said simply that the union will seek "higher wages."

About the guaranteed annual wage, McDonald said the proposal which the union will carry to the negotiating table will "likely follow the general trend of a plan which the union has been discussing."

He defined the plan as formation of a supplemental benefit income to be paid to unemployed workers out of a trust fund. He did not elaborate on the point.

In recommending that the union seek higher wages for the approximately 600,000 members employed in the basic steel industry, the board said the economic needs of the members of the union, their increasing productivity, profits of the industry, and the economic situation of the country as a whole, "all require that the industry give favorable consideration to this proposal."

On the guaranteed annual wage the board noted that, "The time is overdue for the establishment of a guaranteed annual wage along the practical and feasible lines advocated by the United Steel Workers."

he says, ignored such warnings.

Pentagon officials on the other side of the fence deny there was any laxity. They produced a statement from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today saying he received fine cooperation from Army Intelligence.

No Afternoon Hearing

At the heart of the row are (a) charges by Pentagon officials that McCarthy and aides brought pressure to get favors for draftee G. David Schine, and (b) countercharges by the McCarthy side that civilian chiefs at the Pentagon tried to block the McCarthy investigation of Ft. Monmouth.

Tomorrow's hearing, by special vote of the subcommittee, will be held in the morning only.

Secretary of the Army Stevens, who has accused McCarthy of "perversion of power," sat quietly in the witness chair while McCarthy roared that the executive branch has imposed a "blackout" on Congress and said it's time the legislators make up their minds whether they are "lackeys" or not.

Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) at first brushed off McCarthy's demand that Brownell be called for questioning in a closed session. McCarthy demanded a special subcommittee meeting to act on his proposal, however, and Mundt agreed to hold one. No time was set.

Old Story In U. S. History

Arguments between Congress members and the executive branch over the withholding of information are an old story in American history. Seventeen presidents, beginning with George Washington, have refused congressional requests for data the presidents believed should be kept secret. In all such cases Congress has eventually let the matter drop.

Stevens grinned at one point when McCarthy described him as "a minor character" in the senator's feud with Pentagon officials —as a "fine, not over-experienced secretary" being used as a tool by "those responsible for covering up Communists."

That led straight to "Mr. X"—and there was argument also about a "Mr. Y", a "Mr. Z" and even a "Mrs. B" before the session ended.

Roy M. Cohn, McCarthy's chief counsel, brought up the matter, declaring some members of Pentagon loyalty boards "had records of Communist front activity themselves" and questioning Army Counsel Adams about a man whose name was handed to him on a sheet of folded paper.

Cohn said this "Mr. X," as he came to be called, was a board member, had a top security clearance and handled secret work for eight months after Stevens took office — even though the man, by his own admission, (1) had collected funds for subversive organizations and (2) knowingly employed a Communist in work that brought him in close contact with government employes.

Adams, a man of fiery but precise speech, replied "Mr. X" sat on a loyalty board for the last time about two weeks after Stevens became Army Secretary. He said the man's security clearance was lifted for a time last winter, because of security allegations against him, but was restored after an investigation by the proper authorities.

Shelving Of T-H Bill Demo Aim

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Democratic leaders in the Senate expressed confidence privately today that they have enough votes to send the Taft-Hartley revision bill back to the Labor Committee.

Three key Southern Democrats said in separate interviews they would join a move expected to be made tomorrow by Northern Democrats to recommit President Eisenhower's recommended changes in the nation's basic labor law.

If the measure goes back to committee, chances of getting any further action on it during this session will be slim.

None of the three Democrats would be quoted by name, but Sen. Russell (D-Ga), often considered an unofficial leader of the Southern bloc, told a reporter he would definitely vote to recommit if Labor Committee Democrats could show that the Republican majority of the committee refused to consider their proposals when the bill was being drafted.

Curious Cat Sends Owner To Hospital

BROCKTON, Mass., May 6 (AP)—Here's the tale of a curious cat that got washed and dried and sent its owner to the hospital.

It happened something like this:

Tabby was nosing along a narrow shelf in Mrs. Nana Overan's laundry basement today. Beneath the shelf was a washing machine. The washing machine was churning the week's wash.

Prancing Tabby missed a step, wound up in the washing machine. Its tail became entangled in the rollers. The rollers rolled as far as they could roll.

Mrs. Overan released the rollers. Tabby emerged with injured dignity but in no mood to be consoled.

When Mrs. Overan tried to sooth Tabby's ruffled feelings, she got scratched in return. So badly scratched was Mrs. Overan that she had to be taken to Brockton Hospital for treatment.

Tabby? Not permanently injured —but possibly the only cat in the country with three loops in its tail.

Airline Pilot Dies In Stairway Fall

ATLANTA, May 6 (AP)—William B. Boggs, a 34-year-old veteran air line pilot, was killed early today in a fall down a stairway at his Atlanta home.

Mrs. Boggs said she awakened about 3 a.m. and realized her husband was missing from his bed. She found him at the foot of the stairs and called a physician who pronounced him dead due to a broken neck.

Boggs, who had been with Delta-C. & S. Lines for 11 years, apparently lost his balance while groping in the dark.

Cornerstone Of New Scout Headquarters Will Be Laid May 30

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — The cornerstone for the new national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America near New Brunswick, N.J., will be laid at ceremonies May 30, Chief Scout Executive Dr. Arthur A. Schuck announced tonight.

The headquarters, which will replace present offices here, will include a two-story office building and one-story warehouse.

Boy Scouts of America National Council members, public officials and representatives of Boy Scout local counicls in New Jersey will take part in the program.

John M. Schiff of Oyster Bay, N.Y., president of the National Council, will preside.

Government Butter Put On World Market

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The government today offered its 360 million pounds of surplus butter on the world market at cut rate prices in efforts to move it before it spoils.

The butter was bought during the past 12 months under a dairy price support program. The government's investment — the original buying price and storage cost — averages about 67 cents a pound.

In announcing this move, the Agriculture Department said the butter will be offered to exporters at prices competitive with those prevailing in importing countries.

Late Stage, Radio Comedian Draws Last Laugh In Will

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — Joe Laurie Jr., a gagman all his life, drew his last laugh today—in his will. Then, with thanks, he bowed offstage forever.

The little stage and radio comedian, who died April 29, wrote that he was of sound mind "although being an actor and writer."

He asked that his body be cremated and the ashes strewn in the fireplace of the actors' hangout, the Lambs Club on W. 44th St. "some winter's day when the fire is roaring."

As an alternative he suggested the ashes be placed in a rosin box in the Palace Theater on Broadway. A rosin box is used by entertainers just before they go on stage so their shoes won't slip.

Laurie also willed $100 to the Lambs Club bar "for any member of the club to have a drink at any time that they may run short of money."

The will was filed today in Queens County Surrogate's Court. It was dated April 2—27 days before Laurie died of a heart ailment. He was 61.

In a serious vein, he left his eyes to an eye bank—and they already have been used in corneal transplant operations.

He willed $250 each to Jewish, Protestant, Roman Catholic, Episcopal and Negro actors' guilds, and $100 each to cancer, heart and cerebral palsy funds.

The bulk of the estate, estimated at something over $30,000, went to Laurie's widow, June, and their son, JJoe Laurie 3rd.

And, in his 10½-page will, Laurie added:

"The world owes me nothing. I owe it a lot . . . Thanks for all the laughs and pleasures they gave me."

President Signs Highway Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill authorizing 966 million dollars in federal aid for highway construction in each of two fiscal years starting July 1, 1955.

In doing so, the President expressed hope that during the next five years it will be possible to build more great toll highways throughout the country. He said the program should provide for parking facilities in large cities and for highways that would bypass congested areas.

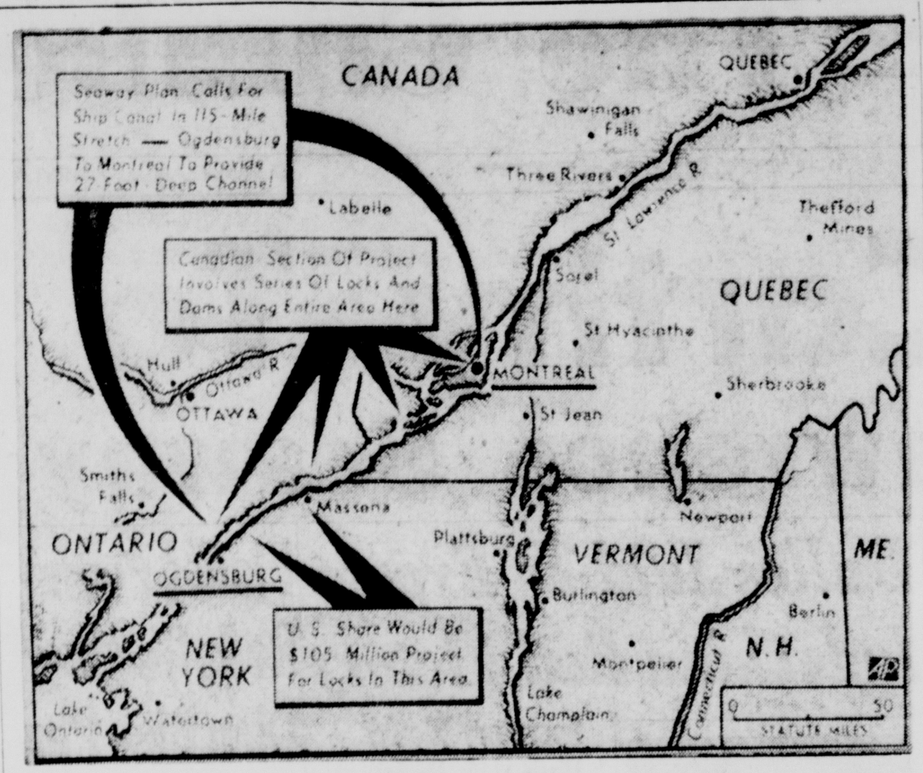
The money aid authorized in the highway measure, which will be matched by the states in most cases, is a new record. It compares with 652 million dollars authorized for the current fiscal year and for the new one starting this July 1.

Actual funds for the work must be appropriated later. Administration officials have described the expanded program as a valuable reserve measure in case the economic pumps should need priming.

The bill sets up a new formula for allotting funds toward interstate roads, giving a somewhat larger share than heretofore to the more populous states.

In a prepared statement, the President said the measure amounts to "one effective forward step" toward meeting accumulated highway needs, and added:

"It keeps in the states, as I deeply believe it should, primary responsibility for highway construction. At the same time, it recognizes the responsible relationship of the federal government to the development of a sound, nationwide highway system."



ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY PROJECT—Map shows area involved in the long-disputed St. Lawrence seaway plan—legislation on the U. S. part of which was approved by the House yesterday. The measure provides for $105,000,000 in revenue bonds to supply funds for construction of the U. S. share in the proposed 27-foot-deep waterway between Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Montreal. Canadian part of project involves more extensive construction of locks and dams.

100 Feared Drowned

DACCA, East Pakistan, May 6 (AP)—More than 100 persons in small river boats were believed drowned today in a storm that struck the southern part of East Pakistan. Forty-eight river craft were reported missing and believed to have sunk.

Ran Long Mile

OXFORD, England, May 6 (AP)—Surveyors measured the Oxford University track today immediately after Roger Bannister was timed in 3:59.4.

Germans See A-Cannon

ANSBACH, Germany, May 6 (AP)—Six of the U. S. Army's atomic cannon were put on display today to inaugurate the beginning of a local German - American friendship week. The Army disclosed last week it now has 30 of these weapons in West Germany.

Oppenheimer Panel Recesses

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—A 10-day recess was taken today by the special board considering whether scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer should be restored to access to government atomic data.

Chairman Gordon Gray said the board's recess was "to enable its members to review the record of its proceedings."

"The board has been sitting for four and one-half weeks, during most of which time it has been hearing testimony," he said in a brief announcement.

Gray is president of the University of North Carolina and a former secretary of the Army. Other members of the board are Thomas A. Morgan, former president of the Speery Corp., and Dr. Ward V. Evans, professor of chemistry at Loyola University, Chicago.

Oppenheimer, once top advisor to the Atomic Energy Commission, was barred by order of President Eisenhower last December from further access to government atomic data pending a new security check. Eisenhower's action was disclosed last month by Oppenheimer himself.

Roy M. Cohn, McCarthy's chief counsel, brought up the matter, declaring some members of Pentagon loyalty boards "had records of Communist front activity themselves" and questioning Army Counsel Adams about a man whose name was handed to him on a sheet of folded paper.

Cohn said this "Mr. X," as he came to be called, was a board member, had a top security clearance and handled secret work for eight months after Stevens took office — even though the man, by his own admission, (1) had collected funds for subversive organizations and (2) knowingly employed a Communist in work that brought him in close contact with government employes.

Adams, a man of fiery but precise speech, replied "Mr. X" sat on a loyalty board for the last time about two weeks after Stevens became Army Secretary. He said the man's security clearance was lifted for a time last winter, because of security allegations against him, but was restored after an investigation by the proper authorities.

President Signs Highway Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill authorizing 966 million dollars in federal aid for highway construction in each of two fiscal years starting July 1, 1955.

In doing so, the President expressed hope that during the next five years it will be possible to build more great toll highways throughout the country. He said the program should provide for parking facilities in large cities and for highways that would bypass congested areas.

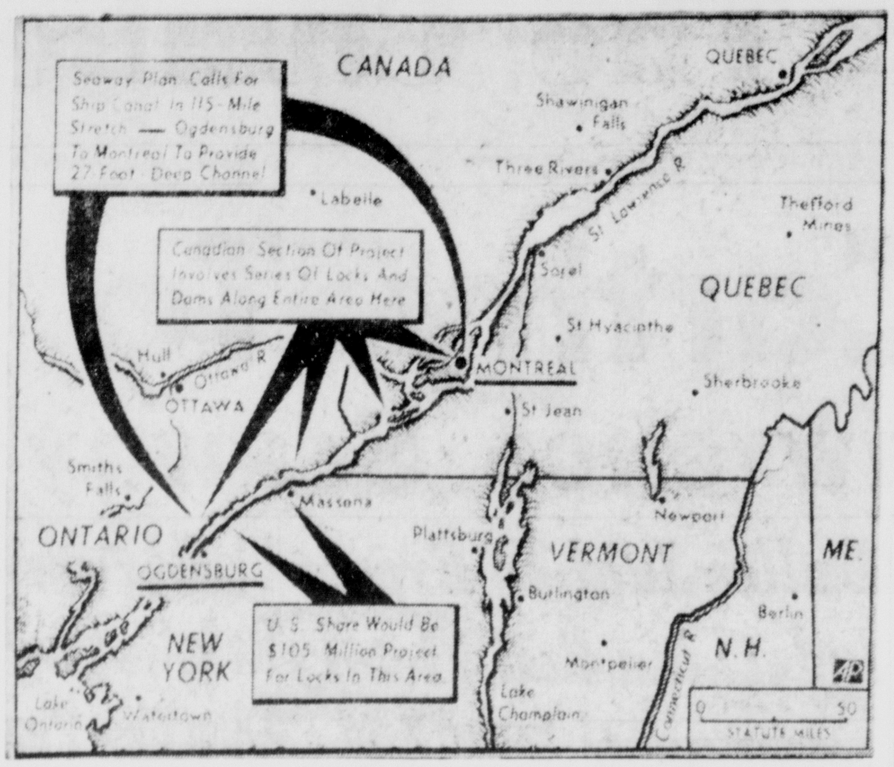
The money aid authorized in the highway measure, which will be matched by the states in most cases, is a new record. It compares with 652 million dollars authorized for the current fiscal year and for the new one starting this July 1.

Actual funds for the work must be appropriated later. Administration officials have described the expanded program as a valuable reserve measure in case the economic pumps should need priming.

The bill sets up a new formula for allotting funds toward interstate roads, giving a somewhat larger share than heretofore to the more populous states.

In a prepared statement, the President said the measure amounts to "one effective forward step" toward meeting accumulated highway needs, and added:

"It keeps in the states, as I deeply believe it should, primary responsibility for highway construction. At the same time, it recognizes the responsible relationship of the federal government to the development of a sound, nationwide highway system."



ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY PROJECT—Map shows area involved in the long-disputed St. Lawrence seaway plan—legislation on the U. S. part of which was approved by the House yesterday. The measure provides for $105,000,000 in revenue bonds to supply funds for construction of the U. S. share in the proposed 27-foot-deep waterway between Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Montreal. Canadian part of project involves more extensive construction of locks and dams.

100 Feared Drowned

DACCA, East Pakistan, May 6 (AP)—More than 100 persons in small river boats were believed drowned today in a storm that struck the southern part of East Pakistan. Forty-eight river craft were reported missing and believed to have sunk.

Ran Long Mile

OXFORD, England, May 6 (AP)—Surveyors measured the Oxford University track today immediately after Roger Bannister was timed in 3:59.4.

Germans See A-Cannon

ANSBACH, Germany, May 6 (AP)—Six of the U. S. Army's atomic cannon were put on display today to inaugurate the beginning of a local German - American friendship week. The Army disclosed last week it now has 30 of these weapons in West Germany.

Oppenheimer Panel Recesses

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—A 10-day recess was taken today by the special board considering whether scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer should be restored to access to government atomic data.

Chairman Gordon Gray said the board's recess was "to enable its members to review the record of its proceedings."

"The board has been sitting for four and one-half weeks, during most of which time it has been hearing testimony," he said in a brief announcement.

Gray is president of the University of North Carolina and a former secretary of the Army. Other members of the board are Thomas A. Morgan, former president of the Speery Corp., and Dr. Ward V. Evans, professor of chemistry at Loyola University, Chicago.

Oppenheimer, once top advisor to the Atomic Energy Commission, was barred by order of President Eisenhower last December from further access to government atomic data pending a new security check. Eisenhower's action was disclosed last month by Oppenheimer himself.

Shelving Of T-H Bill Demo Aim

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Democratic leaders in the Senate expressed confidence privately today that they have enough votes to send the Taft-Hartley revision bill back to the Labor Committee.

Three key Southern Democrats said in separate interviews they would join a move expected to be made tomorrow by Northern Democrats to recommit President Eisenhower's recommended changes in the nation's basic labor law.

If the measure goes back to committee, chances of getting any further action on it during this session will be slim.

None of the three Democrats would be quoted by name, but Sen. Russell (D-Ga), often considered an unofficial leader of the Southern bloc, told a reporter he would definitely vote to recommit if Labor Committee Democrats could show that the Republican majority of the committee refused to consider their proposals when the bill was being drafted.

Curious Cat Sends Owner To Hospital

BROCKTON, Mass., May 6 (AP)—Here's the tale of a curious cat that got washed and dried and sent its owner to the hospital.

It happened something like this: Tabby was nosing along a narrow shelf in Mrs. Nana Overan's laundry basement today. Beneath the shelf was a washing machine. The washing machine was churning the week's wash.

Prancing Tabby missed a step, wound up in the washing machine. Its tail became entangled in the rollers. The rollers rolled as far as they could roll.

Mrs. Overan released the rollers. Tabby emerged with injured dignity but in no mood to be consoled.

When Mrs. Overan tried to sooth Tabby's ruffled feelings, she got scratched in return. So badly scratched was Mrs. Overan that she had to be taken to Brockton Hospital for treatment.

Tabby? Not permanently injured—but possibly the only cat in the country with three loops in its tail.

Airline Pilot Dies In Stairway Fall

ATLANTA, May 6 (AP)—William B. Boggs, a 34-year-old veteran air line pilot, was killed early today in a fall down a stairway at his Atlanta home.

Mrs. Boggs said she awakened about 3 a.m. and realized her husband was missing from his bed. She found him at the foot of the stairs and called a physician who pronounced him dead due to a broken neck.

Boggs, who had been with Delta-C. & S. Lines for 11 years, apparently lost his balance while groping in the dark.

Cornerstone Of New Scout Headquarters Will Be Laid May 30

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — The cornerstone for the new national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America near New Brunswick, N.J., will be laid at ceremonies May 30, Chief Scout Executive Dr. Arthur A. Schuck announced tonight.

The headquarters, which will replace present offices here, will include a two-story office building and one-story warehouse.

John M. Schiff of Oyster Bay, N.Y., president of the National Council, will preside.

Government Butter Put On World Market

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The government today offered its 360 million pounds of surplus butter on the world market at cut rate prices in efforts to move it before it spoils.

The butter was bought during the past 12 months under a dairy price support program. The government's investment — the original buying price and storage cost — averages about 67 cents a pound.

In announcing this move, the Agriculture Department said the butter will be offered to exporters at prices competitive with those prevailing in importing countries.

As an alternative he suggested the ashes be placed in a rosin box in the Palace Theater on Broadway. A rosin box is used by entertainers just before they go on stage so their shoes won't slip.

Laurie also willed $100 to the Lambs Club bar "for any member of the club to have a drink at any time that they may run short of money."

The will was filed today in Queens County Surrogate's Court. It was dated April 2—27 days before Laurie died of a heart ailment. He was 61.

In a serious vein, he left his eyes to an eye bank—and they already have been used in corneal transplant operations.

He willed $250 each to Jewish, Protestant, Roman Catholic, Episcopal and Negro actors' guilds, and $100 each to cancer, heart and cerebral palsy funds.

The bulk of the estate, estimated at something over $30,000, went to Laurie's widow, June, and their son, JJoe Laurie 3rd.

And, in his 10½-page will, Laurie added:

"The world owes me nothing. I owe it a lot . . . Thanks for all the laughs and pleasures they gave me."

Late Stage, Radio Comedian Draws Last Laugh In Will

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — Joe Laurie Jr., a gagman all his life, drew his last laugh today—in his will. Then, with thanks, he bowed offstage forever.

The little stage and radio comedian, who died April 29, wrote that he was of sound mind "although being an actor and writer."

He asked that his body be cremated and the ashes strewn in the fireplace of the actors' hangout, the Lambs Club on W. 44th St. "some winter's day when the fire is roaring."

Huge, Five-Year, Prison-Building Program Urged

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Federal Prison Director James V. Bennett has asked that consideration be given to a five-year, 100 million dollar prison-building program, in view of a steadily growing penal population.

In an annual report to Atty. Gen. Brownell, Bennett said that many facilities now in use are obsolete and that the institutions "are presently filled to capacity or are overloaded."

Bennett renewed a previously made recommendation that the government abandon Alcatraz as a federal penitentiary. He has long described it as uneconomical because of difficulties in supplying the isolated "Rock" in San Francisco Bay.

The report described the National Training School for Boys in Washington as no longer suitable for its purpose — the handling of the most youthful of offenders. The director said there is a need for two new training schools, a replacement for the Washington institution, and another new school in the West.

In addition, Bennett reported that the system requires an additional hospital for offenders with mental disorders, a youth center, another woman's reformatory "and several small institutions to serve as jails at critical points like Chicago, Los Angeles and New York."

10 Nations Fear Big-Power Cuts In Arms Outlay

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 6 (AP)—Fear is felt in at least 10 countries on three continents that big-power cuts in defense spending would shake the world's economy.

This was brought out today in notes the countries sent to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in response to a query framed by the Economic and Social Council.

Nineteen replies — those received by April 9 — were made public. Those replying indicated confidence that they could cushion any effects upon themselves of their own cutbacks.

But 10 expressed concern at the effects that might follow similar cutbacks in the world at large and particularly in what Denmark termed "big countries."

These were Britain, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Honduras, Netherlands, New Zealand, Thailand and Turkey.

No comment on the international aspect of the problem was made by Australia, Colombia, Egypt, Iran, South Africa, the Soviet Union, Sweden and the United States.

The council will study the replies at its next session in Geneva June 29 - Aug. 6.

Two "Lifers" Paroled

ANNAPOLIS, May 6 (AP)— Two murderers serving life terms were among the 56 persons released from Maryland's penal institutions during March, the Department of Parole and Probation announced yesterday.

Both are Negroes—Frank Bailey, convicted of murder in Wicomico County in March, 1931, and James Dukes, convicted of the same crime in Baltimore in January, 1939.

The other 54 on the list were serving sentences totaling more than 150 years. The highest, with the exception of the life terms, was 18 years for Frederick E. Roessler, who was convicted of second degree murder in Baltimore County in January, 1946.

Communists Waging Bitter Attack Against Church, FBI Director Says

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover said last night the church today faces its greatest period of assault from secret Communists.

The director of the FBI said a "bitter Communist attack" is being waged today—often in subtle forms—against all religions and all denominations.

He made his remarks after receiving the 1954 award of the Military Chaplains Assn.

He told his audience the campaign of the anti-God continues on "various fronts and under different guises. At times, it is so subtle that it escapes notice of even the most discerning souls."

"The Jew and the Gentile, the Catholic and the Protestant, who believe in the God of their fathers, are the acknowledged 'enemy' of the Communist," he declared. "Make no mistake—the church of God, on the eve of its greatest opportunity, also faces its greatest period of assault."

"The Communists play no favorites," he said. "In this great hour of peril, all religions and denominations must work closely together. All have the same aim of promoting the kingdom of God and encouraging justice, love and mercy."

He said the skilled Communist propaganda machine has long directed fierce assaults toward members of the clergy and church groups.

"Tonight, at this very moment, as we meet here, secret Communists are seeking to establish themselves in churches, civic grroups and labor unions known for their resistance to communism over the years, as well as in other established and respected groups."

He said their purpose is to "seek a cloak of respectability and then to quietly work for the Communist cause."

Play-Acting Eases Tough Job Of Being Good Parent

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

ST. LOUIS, May 5 (AP)—The tough job of being a good parent is eased by play-acting in which parents play the roles of themselves and their children.

The goal is to gain insight into what makes a normal child tick, and what makes parents behave as they do. And to understand the emotional problems and anxieties that get stirred up in children and parents in day-by-day living.

After acting out some ordinary home problems, one father said: "I used to tell the kids off without thinking. Now I stop and try to fit the pieces together first."

This use of the play-acting or psychodrama method was described yesterday to the American Psychiatric Assn. by Drs. George Shugart and Earl A. Loomis Jr., child psychiatrists of the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

Five couples have been acting out home problems in weekly sessions over the last eight months. They pretend to be parents, or children playing with toys, or a brother and sister in a quarrel. The acting is spontaneous in ordinary situations suggested by the parents or by the psychiatrist.

The sessions were started because all these couples have children hospitalized with schizophrenia. These parents felt guilty, fearful, or preoccupied about their sick children.

Each couple has other normal children. Their stress on the sick one was handicapping their understanding both of the sick and well ones.

In the dramas, the stress is not upon sick youngsters, but normal ones, how they grow, how they come to feel as they do, how children affect parents and vice versa.

The parents are losing their feelings of guilt and bitterness, are becoming more understanding and relaxed in dealing with their healthy children, far better prepared to help their sick children when they do come home, the psychiatrists said.

They learned by pretending to be vindictive or loving or unreasonable parents, or pretending to be misunderstood or frightened or happy children.

"They discover there is not one single 'correct' way to manage a disturbing situation with a child. They learn to look for background episodes leading up to the situation, and perhaps through understanding these will be more at ease in trying to deal with it," Drs. Shugart and Loomis said.

SAYS REDS CRUEL — Sister Hanna, 21, tells how "unspeakably cruel" the Russians were during their occupation of Poland as she testifies in Chicago before the special House Committee on Communist Aggression. The Polish-born nun and her three sisters told of being evacuated to Siberia in 1940 with those who died being thrown beside the train tracks.

Parents' own traits become cleared in the acting—a father who is consistently unable to express anger toward a child, a mother who panics if she feels she is not in control of the child.

The dramatic setting makes for greater expression of feelings, which are brought out in public and recognized for what they are. Other parents watching realize some attitude or feeling is what they do also.

Local AAUW Elects Two Officers, Receives Invitation

Two officers were elected and seven members were welcomed into the Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women at the meeting Wednesday evening at Happy Hills Farms Restaurant, Frostburg. Mrs. Aden L. Everstine presided. Mrs. Earl Nonnenmann was named treasurer and Mrs. Milton Granet, corresponding secretary.

New members introduced by Mrs. Carolyn Dunlap, Membership chairman, were Mrs. Frederick J. Eckert, Miss Pauline Fisher, Mrs. Georgia Wolford, Mrs. Fred Sloan, Mrs. Ray Carroll, Mrs. James Sullivan and Mrs. John J. Long.

Mrs. Everstine read an invitation from the Frostburg-Georges Creek AAUW to attend its first anniversary luncheon at Anton's Big Savage Inn, May 15 at 1. Members attending are to call Mrs. William H. Blake.

Announcement was made of the executive board meeting at 11:30 May 15 at Happy Hills Restaurant, Baltimore Avenue. Luncheon will follow. The branch's booth at the Community Flower Show was discussed. Mrs. Gilbert Miller is chairman.

Miss Carolyn Hill, the branch's scholarship student at Frostburg State Teachers College, was guest vocalist. She sang, "Summertime," and "Beautiful Dreamer," with Mrs. Marian Charles at the piano.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, was guest speaker. He spoke of juvenile delinquency, its causes and the methods of helping the delinquent choose a better way of life. He said there is an equation for every individual delinquent that will show the factor that will lead to the crime. He mentioned among others, loitering in pool rooms, bad company, unsatisfactory parental care, broken homes, as factors that lead to crime.

On the other hand, he said, the Boy Scouts, a good student, the churchgoing boy, the athletic type have factors that lead to good citizenship. Lilya also said it is the record of human experience that juvenile behavior generally follows the pattern of adult behavior as found in the home environment. There are, of course, some exceptions to this rule. The speaker complimented the schools on the job they are doing with youth by calling on parents of delinquents and making these parents realize their responsibilities. He said the system has brought good results.

Beauticians Meet Monday

Allegany Unit, Maryland Hairdressers and Cosmetologists will receive a report on the state laws at the monthly meeting Monday. The meeting is being held at Central YMCA.

Mrs. Esther Smith and Mrs. Alberta Lindner will report on the regional meeting held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore, May 1 and 2.

Demonstrations on tinting and permanent waving will be given Tuesday at 7:30 and Wednesday at 10 a. m., 2 and 6 p. m. at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. There is no charge and beauticians are urged to attend.

Troop 20 To Celebrate Anniversary

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 20 of Mt. Royal School is celebrating its first anniversary with a ceremony and program today. The troop will be guests of Nancy Ebert and Catherine Shaffer, at the former's home, Mt. Royal Avenue.

Virginia Holzshu is to be master of ceremonies for the first part of the program and Shelia Umberger, for the second part. Joann Carscaden is leading the group singing of "America."

An explanation of the second class activities on which the troop was working during the year will be given. Shelia Umberger is to discuss the field of agriculture; Janet Shanholtz, the Girl Scout promise; Joann Carscaden, arts and crafts; Joyce Hammer, community life; Susan McNeil and Sue Taylor, health and safety; Susan Gephart, homemaking; Sally Gerson, international friendship; Marie Naughton, literature and dramatics; Catherine Shaffer, nature; Betsy White, sports and games; and Diana Petty, music and dancing.

The troop is doing a dance, "O Susanna," directed by Marie Naughton.

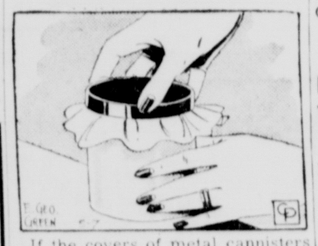
Camp slides will be shown by Mrs. Elizabeth Williams and Mrs. Patrick Hogan, after which a period for questions on camp is to be held.

Attendance stars and registration cards will be presented during a special ceremony, conducted by Mrs. J. Henry Holzshu, Mrs. Paul Umberger and Mrs. Ross Petty. During the ceremony there also will be the lighting of the birthday candles on individual cakes and singing of the "Happy Birthday" song. The program will close with the singing of "Girl Scouts Together" and "Taps."

Mrs. Holzshu, Mrs. Umberger and Mrs. Petty are leaders of the troop; Mrs. Max Shaffer, Mrs. John McNeil, Mrs. Umberger and Mrs. Holzshu, committeewomen.

WSCS of Zion Methodist Church will install officers at 7:30 tonight at the church. Rev. Arden Beck will officiate. Hostesses are Mrs. Jane Mertens and Mrs. Genevieve Wotring.

WIFE PRESERVERS



If the covers of metal canisters or plastic boxes fit too tightly, "wax" them with waxed paper. Place the paper over the top and set the lid on. Move the lid back and forth until enough wax transfers itself from the paper to the metal or plastic and you can remove the cover easily next time you wish to open the box.

Memorial Students To Give Circus

Sponsor Party

The Memorial Hospital Student Government is sponsoring two events this month. The first is a circus to entertain members of the Memorial Auxiliary. The second is a fashion show and dance.

The circus will be given May 19 in back of Memorial Hospital. There will be the usual animal acts and concessions.

Chairmen of arrangements are Miss Mildred Ann Hyde, Refreshments; Miss Froena Blamble, Invitations; Miss Barbara Johnson, Decorations; Miss Alice Hornig, Entertainment; Miss Marjorie Glessner, Music and Miss Nancy Murphy, Costumes and Make-Up.

May 28 the fashion show and dance is being held at the Cumberland Country Club for the benefit of the Student Nurse Scholarship fund. The fashion show is by Lazarus and will be presented around the swimming pool from 9 until 10 p. m.

Dancing will be in the patio with music by Peck Mills Orchestra from 10 until 1 o'clock.

Group 117 To Entertain Circuit Oct. 6

Four members of the C. L. Betz Division 117, Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers attended the Potomac Circuit meeting and extended an invitation to the Martinsburg auxiliary for October.

Officers of the Martinsburg auxiliary put on the ritual work at the Circuit meeting Tuesday in Martinsburg. Mrs. Carrie Hosier, Mrs. Olivia Shambaugh, Mrs. Ella Rafter and Mrs. Geraldine Larrick, of the Cumberland auxiliary, observed the work and gave instructions.

A social hour followed and an invitation extended to attend the fall Circuit meeting here October 6, when the Cumberland auxiliary will put on the initiation.

Division 117 received an invitation from Thomas Conlon to attend the Armed Forces Day program May 15 at the fair grounds. The invitation was read at the meeting Wednesday. Mrs. Mary Moore presided and plans were made to attend. Flowers were sent to a member who is ill.

Attending were Mrs. Hosier, Mrs. Edith Null, Mrs. Cora Linn, Mrs. May Freeland, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Naomi Weaver, Mrs. Shambaugh, Mrs. Larrick, Mrs. Nell Radcliffe and Mrs. Edna Mae Cox.

The next meeting will be May 19.

Piney Plains PTA To Meet Monday

Owing to a change of plans the Piney Plains Parent-Teacher Association will meet May 10, at which time officers will be installed by a former president.

Plans are to be completed for the May Carnival to be held May 26.

Monday will be the last night for a prize to be won by the class having the largest parent attendance.

Pre-NuptialPartyBeingGiven For Mrs. Robinson, Fiance

Mrs. Vera L. Robinson and her fiance, Dr. Lawrence Ralph McKenzie are being entertained by members of the office staff of the Western Maryland Hospital and Surgical Association tonight.

The marriage of Mrs. Robinson to Dr. McKenzie will be solemnized May 15 at 3:30 o'clock in St. Mark's Reformed Church, by Rev. Carl Clapp.

Tonight's pre-nuptial party is being held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rider, 532 Fairview Avenue, and is in the form of an office get-together.

The bridal motif is being carried out in the flowers and white candles in crystal candelabra, and repeated in the shower cake, topped with a miniature umbrella. The usual party games will be played.

Besides the honor guests others attending are Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Griffith Sr., Mr. and Mrs. James E. Mellon, Mr. and Mrs. Herman M. Heller, Mr. and Mrs. W. Perry Shaffer, and Mrs. Catherine Barnard.

Social Chart

A bake sale will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 10 a. m. tomorrow by the Willing Workers Bible Class. It will be in the Sunday School room.

LaSalle Mothers Club will elect officers and have yearly reports at the meeting at 8 tonight in St. Patrick's Social Center.

Festival To Be May 21

Mt. Royal PTA is having its Spring Festival May 21 at the school. Each room is having a special project. The festival will begin at 7:30.

William R. Carscaden was elected president of the association at the meeting recently. Other officers are Dr. William Fridinger, vice president; Mrs. Ronald Underdonk, secretary, and Robert Gerson, treasurer.

At the meeting Mrs. William Johnson was named chairman for the Patrol parade and a plaque was unveiled in memory of Miss Althea Fuller.

New members introduced by Mrs. Carolyn Dunlap, Membership chairman, were Mrs. Frederick J. Eckert, Miss Pauline Fisher, Mrs. Georgia Wolford, Mrs. Fred Sloan, Mrs. Ray Carroll, Mrs. James Sullivan and Mrs. John J. Long.

Mrs. Everstine read an invitation from the Frostburg-Georges Creek AAUW to attend its first anniversary luncheon at Anton's Big Savage Inn, May 15 at 1. Members attending are to call Mrs. William H. Blake.

Announcement was made of the executive board meeting at 11:30 May 15 at Happy Hills Restaurant, Baltimore Avenue. Luncheon will follow. The branch's booth at the Community Flower Show was discussed. Mrs. Gilbert Miller is chairman.

Miss Carolyn Hill, the branch's scholarship student at Frostburg State Teachers College, was guest vocalist. She sang, "Summertime," and "Beautiful Dreamer," with Mrs. Marian Charles at the piano.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, was guest speaker. He spoke of juvenile delinquency, its causes and the methods of helping the delinquent choose a better way of life. He said there is an equation for every individual delinquent that will show the factor that will lead to the crime. He mentioned among others, loitering in pool rooms, bad company, unsatisfactory parental care, broken homes, as factors that lead to crime.

On the other hand, he said, the Boy Scouts, a good student, the churchgoing boy, the athletic type have factors that lead to good citizenship. Lilya also said it is the record of human experience that juvenile behavior generally follows the pattern of adult behavior as found in the home environment. There are, of course, some exceptions to this rule. The speaker complimented the schools on the job they are doing with youth by calling on parents of delinquents and making these parents realize their responsibilities. He said the system has brought good results.

Beauticians Meet Monday

Allegany Unit, Maryland Hairdressers and Cosmetologists will receive a report on the state laws at the monthly meeting Monday. The meeting is being held at Central YMCA.

Mrs. Esther Smith and Mrs. Alberta Lindner will report on the regional meeting held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore, May 1 and 2.

Demonstrations on tinting and permanent waving will be given Tuesday at 7:30 and Wednesday at 10 a. m., 2 and 6 p. m. at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. There is no charge and beauticians are urged to attend.

Troop 20 To Celebrate Anniversary

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 20 of Mt. Royal School is celebrating its first anniversary with a ceremony and program today. The troop will be guests of Nancy Ebert and Catherine Shaffer, at the former's home, Mt. Royal Avenue.

Virginia Holzshu is to be master of ceremonies for the first part of the program and Shelia Umberger, for the second part. Joann Carscaden is leading the group singing of "America."

An explanation of the second class activities on which the troop was working during the year will be given. Shelia Umberger is to discuss the field of agriculture; Janet Shanholtz, the Girl Scout promise; Joann Carscaden, arts and crafts; Joyce Hammer, community life; Susan McNeil and Sue Taylor, health and safety; Susan Gephart, homemaking; Sally Gerson, international friendship; Marie Naughton, literature and dramatics; Catherine Shaffer, nature; Betsy White, sports and games; and Diana Petty, music and dancing.

The troop is doing a dance, "O Susanna," directed by Marie Naughton.

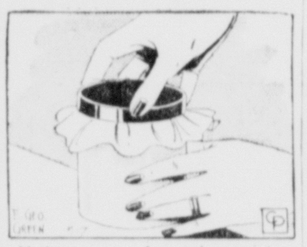
Camp slides will be shown by Mrs. Elizabeth Williams and Mrs. Patrick Hogan, after which a period for questions on camp is to be held.

Attendance stars and registration cards will be presented during a special ceremony, conducted by Mrs. J. Henry Holzshu, Mrs. Paul Umberger and Mrs. Ross Petty. During the ceremony there also will be the lighting of the birthday candles on individual cakes and singing of the "Happy Birthday" song. The program will close with the singing of "Girl Scouts Together" and "Taps."

Mrs. Holzshu, Mrs. Umberger and Mrs. Petty are leaders of the troop; Mrs. Max Shaffer, Mrs. John McNeil, Mrs. Umberger and Mrs. Holzshu, committeewomen.

WSCS of Zion Methodist Church will install officers at 7:30 tonight at the church. Rev. Arden Beck will officiate. Hostesses are Mrs. Jane Mertens and Mrs. Genevieve Wotring.

WIFE PRESERVERS



If the covers of metal canisters or plastic boxes fit too tightly, "wax" them with waxed paper. Place the paper over the top and set the lid on. Move the lid back and forth until enough wax transfers itself from the paper to the metal or plastic and you can remove the cover easily next time you wish to open the box.

Memorial Students To Give Circus

Sponsor Party

The Memorial Hospital Student Government is sponsoring two events this month. The first is a circus to entertain members of the Memorial Auxiliary. The second is a fashion show and dance.

The circus will be given May 19 in back of Memorial Hospital. There will be the usual animal acts and concessions.

Chairmen of arrangements are Miss Mildred Ann Hyde, Refreshments; Miss Froena Blamble, Invitations; Miss Barbara Johnson, Decorations; Miss Alice Hornig, Entertainment; Miss Marjorie Glessner, Music and Miss Nancy Murphy, Costumes and Make-Up.

May 28 the fashion show and dance is being held at the Cumberland Country Club for the benefit of the Student Nurse Scholarship fund. The fashion show is by Lazarus and will be presented around the swimming pool from 9 until 10 p. m.

Dancing will be in the patio with music by Peck Mills Orchestra from 10 until 1 o'clock.

Group 117 To Entertain Circuit Oct. 6

Four members of the C. L. Betz Division 117, Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers attended the Potomac Circuit meeting and extended an invitation to the Martinsburg auxiliary for October.

Officers of the Martinsburg auxiliary put on the ritual work at the Circuit meeting Tuesday in Martinsburg. Mrs. Carrie Hosier, Mrs. Olivia Shambaugh, Mrs. Ella Rafter and Mrs. Geraldine Larrick, of the Cumberland auxiliary, observed the work and gave instructions.

A social hour followed and an invitation extended to attend the fall Circuit meeting here October 6, when the Cumberland auxiliary will put on the initiation.

Church Women Complete Fellowship Day Plans

Cumberland Council of United Church Women made final plans for the May Fellowship luncheon and received announcements at the meeting yesterday in First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. L. G. Bridgers presided at the last bimonthly meeting before the summer recess.

"The Christian Woman's Trusteeship" is the theme for the Fellowship luncheon May 14 at 1 o'clock at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Dr. Willis Ford, Baltimore, executive secretary of the Council of Churches in Maryland and Delaware, is to be guest speaker. Dr. Ford will speak on "Women and Economic Citizenship, Women in the Home." The entire program centers around the Christian Woman, her place in everyday living and as a good neighbor. Mrs. Eugene C. Bittner, guest soloist, will sing, "I Walked Today where Jesus Walked," and the "Lord's Prayer," with Mrs. E. F. Avers at the piano. Mrs. Herbert Nesbitt has charge of table decorations; Mrs. E. F. Phillips, reservations, which are to be made by May 12; and Mrs. M. H. Burgess, programs and publicity.

Secretaries and chairmen will be installed. Mrs. Raymond Faulds Jr., as secretary of Leadership Education, will have the planning of the worship programs at regular meetings. Mrs. Frederick J. Eckert, of Christian World Missions, is to plan the World Day of Prayer services, February 25, 1955. Mrs. Ross C. Decker, of Church World Relations, known formerly as Church World Service, promotes World Community Day, November 5, and oversees the New Windsor collections at the First Presbyterian center. Mrs. Robert Young of Christian Social Relations will be general chairman of the May Fellowship Day, May 6, 1955, and through this work, also legislation, citizenship and the general status of women.

Mrs. J. A. Leader continues to serve as chairman of the National Council magazine, "Church Women." She announced 17 new subscribers and 22 renewals. Mrs. Jack Means, treasurer, serves as chairman of the Finance committee. Mrs. Logan H. Carpenter is pianist for the meetings. Mrs. John S. Cook, of Public Relations, will bring before the public the work of the council by film, radio, TV and newspapers.

Announcement was made of the Maryland Council of Church Women's annual meeting and leadership education institute at Claggett Center, Buckeystown, May 25, 26. Mrs. Arthur Scrogum is delegate and Mrs. Bridgers, alternate. Others interested in attending are to call Mrs. R. J. Shepherd, 593, or Mrs. John S. Cook, 1520-R.

An invitation from Grace Baptist Church for council meetings there next year, was accepted.

Mrs. Cook reported $113.21 collected at the World Day of Prayer observance of which $95 was sent to the national council. There was an attendances of 350 women. Mrs. John Wolverton reported 13,963 pounds sent to New Windsor. The truck will be here again June 7, September 8, December 6 and March 8. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Shepherd and Mrs. Means.

Devotionals were read by Mrs. A. E. Kesecker, using as her theme, "Tribute to Mother." She also offered prayer and the group sang, "Faith of Our Mothers." A Radio committee was appointed and consists of Mrs. Cook, chairman; Mrs. Eckert, Mrs. James Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Burgess. The Welcome Wagon list was distributed by Mrs. Leader. Twelve churches were represented by 22 members.

The next meeting will be September 2 at 10 a. m., in Grace Baptist Church, Greene Street.

Due to conflicting dates the Cumberland Choral Society has cancelled its concert for Piedmont this year. No more rehearsals will be held until fall. Members will be notified by card of the annual meeting.

Mrs. Harold Bishop, Keyser, formerly of Cumberland is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital.

McCarthy Isn't "Buttering Up" Investigators

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—This can be said for sure about Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis):

He hasn't wasted any time buttering up the committee members who are hearing the Army-McCarthy dispute.

Previously he told Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho) to his face that he was sorry he ever became a member of the committee.

And today he passed around the same dubious compliment to Sens. Symington (D-Mo) and Jackson (D-Wash).

That leaves only four committee members who haven't—as yet—received a minus report from McCarthy.

Yesterday's hearing opened with some of the inevitable palaver about hurrying along, so that it was 30 minutes after the scheduled starting time before the committee got to the witness, Secretary of the Army Stevens.

When they got to him, Stevens said he would like to make a statement.

"I see no reason why you shouldn't," Chairman Mundt (R-SD) said. "Since everyone else has this morning, we may as well include you in it."

There have been many descriptions given these hearings during the elven days they have been going on—and some of them have not been printable.

But an official description came today from Sen. Potter (R-Mich).

"A treadmill," he called it. And he sadly pointed out it is no further along than it was a week ago.

Frederick P. Bryan, counsel for H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defense, has had little to say during the hearings so far since his client rarely has been brought into the proceedings.

But today Bryan said he would like to ask some questions, too, if he were permitted to Mundt said he had that permission, but he wished he wouldn't because he (Mundt) was trying to hurry the hearings along.

Whereupon Bryan withdrew his request. McCarthy then said he would be happy to let Bryan use some of his 10-minute question period.

"That isn't going to help much," said Mundt, "because you have an unlimited number of periods."

Ban On TV-Radio At Hearings Get Mass. House OK

BOSTON, May 6 (AP)—The Massachusetts House voted yesterday to ban television, radio broadcasting or motion picture cameras from any public hearing in which testimony is being taken under oath.

The bill passed on a voice vote despite an assertion by Rep. Gardner Campbell (R-Wakefield) — a newspaper editor for many years—that the ban would infringe on freedom of the press.

"Many newspapers own radio stations," Campbell said. "They are bound to have TV stations in years to come."

"A person who has nothing to hide has nothing to fear," Campbell added.

Rep. John P. McMorrow (D-Boston) charged that the bill "is a violation of the Constitution of Massachusetts and the Constitution of the United States."

"It is discriminatory to say that newspaper reporters and cameraman can come in to a hearing, but that TV can't."

Rep. Louis H. Glaser (D-Malden) said that the intention of the bill is to guard the citizens' right of privacy.

Lawmakers Move In With Crowd At M'Carthy Inquiry

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP) — Everything happens at the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Two men squeezed through the jammed aisles to the front of the room, and finally sat on the edge of the platform on which the television cameras are perched.

There, it turned out, they were in the way of the messenger motorcyclists who rush the photographic film downtown to be processed. A jostling for position inevitably began, and it wound up with one of the motorcycle jockeys calling a cop.

When the policeman arrived to referee the fight, one of the men said plaintively:

"We got just as much right to be here as they have. We're members of Congress!"

Unfortunately, the two members can't be identified. But the policeman who interviewed them volunteered some information on congressmen and hearings in general.

He said that in the past he's had to find seats for various representatives and senators, but that this is the first time in seven years congressmen have moved in with the crowd and asked no favors.

"I'll bet you there are 10 of 'em in there right now," he said, and added in a tone of awe:

"And they're standing up."

The estimates on how long this hearing will last get progressively more frightening. Eleven long days ago, the committee counsel, Ray Jenkins, figured 10 days would be about right.

Since then there have been such guesses as "all summer," "until Labor Day," and "many months," the last guess being tossed in by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today.

But Jenkins, in asking that the field of inquiry not be broadened, came up with most scary prediction of all.

If the field were widened, he said, "we'll be here til Doomsday."

Everybody is ready to make a speech at the drop of a point of order, even when the speech isn't necessary.

Chairman Mundt (R-SD) granted a request by Roy Cohn, counsel for the McCarthy committee, but Cohn kept right on talking to him.

Mundt finally broke in to say: "The chair already has held that you have 10 minutes. I wish you would use it to interrogate the witness and not the chair."

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) probably summed up the impressions of everyone who has sat through the long proceedings.

"I feel," Potter said, "that I've been brain washed."

Russia Reimposes Death Penalty For Murderers

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—The Kremlin today reimposed the death penalty for murderers in the Soviet Union.

Moscow radio said the move was taken "at the request of citizens and public organizations . . . and in order to increase the protection of the lives of citizens."

The death penalty for all but traitors, spies and "diversionist agents" was abolished in the Soviet Union in January 1950. Today's ruling adds to those classes "persons who commit murder under incriminating circumstances."

Construction Firm Sued For Half Million

BALTIMORE, May 6 (AP)—Richard A. Wood of Baltimore filed a half million dollar damage suit in Federal Court today against the Stanbern Construction Co. of Oxon Hill, Md., for injuries he said he received at a housing project at Oxon Hill in 1951.

Wood contended that his arms and legs were permanently paralyzed as a result of fall while working for the construction firm.

W. German Bundestag Okays Defense Fund

BONN, Germany, May 6 (AP) — The West German Bundestag (Lower House), today approved a contribution of 9.4 billion marks $2,237,000,000) for European defense in the financial year 1954-55.

This sum represents more than 33 per cent of the new federal budget of $27,173,000,000 marks ($6,466,000,000) for the year started April 1.

This contribution will be made only if the European Defense Community is created. West Germany has agreed to contribute a half million men to this six-nation defense force.

GI Says Farewell To Army In Style

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—When Cpl. Richard P. Dutot, 23, said goodbye to the Army today, he left in style — in a low-slung sports car once owned by German Field Marshal Herman Goering.

Dutot, of New Hyde Park, N. Y., was discharged at Camp Kilmer, N. J., and stopped by the Army base on Staten Island to pick up the car he had brought back from overseas.

The black Mercedes-Benz, for which Dutot said he had paid about $2,500 in Germany, was kept in Army storage, until the corporal's discharge.

The first manufactured product to be exported from the United States was sent by Capt. John Smith of Jamestown, Va. It consisted of wood made into panels for wainscoting.

McCarthy Isn't "Buttering Up" Investigators

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—This can be said for sure about Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis):

He hasn't wasted any time buttering up the committee members who are hearing the Army-McCarthy dispute.

Previously he told Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho) to his face that he was sorry he ever became a member of the committee.

And today he passed around the same dubious compliment to Sens. Symington (D-Mo) and Jackson (D-Wash).

That leaves only four committee members who haven't—as yet—received a minus report from McCarthy.

Yesterday's hearing opened with some of the inevitable palaver about hurrying along, so that it was 30 minutes after the scheduled starting time before the committee got to the witness, Secretary of the Army Stevens.

When they got to him, Stevens said he would like to make a statement.

"I see no reason why you shouldn't," Chairman Mundt (R-SD) said. "Since everyone else has this morning, we may as well include you in it."

There have been many descriptions given these hearings during the elven days they have been going on—and some of them have not been printable.

But an official description came today from Sen. Potter (R-Mich).

"A treadmill," he called it. And he sadly pointed out it is no further along than it was a week ago.

Frederick P. Bryan, counsel for H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defense, has had little to say during the hearings so far since his client rarely has been brought into the proceedings.

But today Bryan said he would like to ask some questions, too, if he were permitted to. Mundt said he had that permission, but he wished he wouldn't because he (Mundt) was trying to hurry the hearings along.

Whereupon Bryan withdrew his request. McCarthy then said he would be happy to let Bryan use some of his 10-minute question period.

"That isn't going to help much," said Mundt, "because you have an unlimited number of periods."

Ban On TV-Radio At Hearings Get Mass. House OK

BOSTON, May 6 (AP)—The Massachusetts House voted yesterday to ban television, radio broadcasting or motion picture cameras from any public hearing in which testimony is being taken under oath.

The bill passed on a voice vote despite an assertion by Rep. Gardner Campbell (R-Wakefield) — a newspaper editor for many years—that the ban would infringe on freedom of the press.

"Many newspapers own radio stations," Campbell said. "They are bound to have TV stations in years to come."

"A person who has nothing to hide has nothing to fear," Campbell added.

Rep. John P. McMorrow (D-Boston) charged that the bill "is a violation of the Constitution of Massachusetts and the Constitution of the United States."

State, County Health Officials Air Chronic Disease Problem

BALTIMORE, May 6 (AP)—State and county health officers today agreed Maryland's new chronic disease hospitals must not be loaded down with patients simply waiting there to die.

They agreed there must be no return to the county almshouse, the elimination of which was a selling point for the expensive plan for building State chronic disease hospitals.

They agreed money is wasted by keeping a patient in an expensive hospital when all he needs is simple nursing care.

They agreed it was the No. 1 problem facing them.

"We have simply got to spell out the State's responsibility, and the local responsibilities in relation to the State's," said Dr. Perry F. Prather, deputy director of the State Health Department.

He was moderator of a long discussion among health department administrative officers throughout the state. It was part of the department's annual conference, two days of shop talk for those working in Maryland's public health program.

The State embarked on a chronic disease program in 1939 for the benefit of those whose lives and finances are wrecked by cancer, diabetes, arthritis, rheumatism and other disabling illnesses which may continue for months and years.

The first of three projected hospitals for such cases was not finished until after World War II, at Salisbury. Montebello Hospital in Baltimore, bought from the city and remodeled, is just coming into full use. Construction of the third at Hagerstown is scheduled to start late this year.

"You can be sure the Legislature is not going on indefinitely building hospitals," said Dr. Robert H. Riley, director of the State Health Department.

What, then, is to be done in face of the fact the buildings so far authorized will provide no more than a fourth of the beds apparently needed?

"Should we open up the county home again?" asked Dr. W. Ross Cameron, Washington County's health officer.

"We have been told not to ask admission for a patient unless there is a good chance of rehabilitating him to at least the point where he could be taken care of at home, or in a nursing home.

"What we need now is some place to send people just to die."

"Maybe we should have retained and improved the almshouse," put in Dr. John M. Byers, Cecil County's health officer.

Dr. James A. McCallum, superintendent at Montebello now after heading the first hospital and directing the whole chronic disease program through its early stages, said one big problem is getting patients out of the hospital once it has done all it can for them.

Many have no place to go, he explained, and no money to live on. Welfare boards are reluctant to take them back on relief rolls. Families are reluctant to take them for fear they will get sick again and can't get back in the hospital.

Dr. V. L. Ellicott, Montgomery County health officer recently designated to take over as directing head of the chronic disease program, suggested maybe the answer is county nursing homes. These would be for patients unable to take care of themselves or without adequate care at home who still do not need full hospital services. The homes would handle a two-way traffic, both to and from the hospitals.

There was another suggestion some system should be worked out so a family would pay for part of a patient's care in a nursing home, with the State making up the difference.

Not many families can afford $160 a week or $200 a month for a nursing home, it was pointed out. Nor can private nursing homes make ends meet on the $90 allowed them by the State for relief patients.

"Rehabilitation" was a key word throughout the discussion. It's goal is to teach patients to live with their illness, taking care of themselves and perhaps even earning at least part of their living.

"This is the field where we have the big new challenge for the county health department," Dr. Riley said.

"I believe we're making progress. We haven't solved any problems, we haven't made any decisions. But we're turning these problems over in our minds and I think we'll get out of it a better program than we've heard of in any other state."

Auto Mishaps Fatal To Three

[By The Associated Press]

Another series of auto accidents in Maryland has claimed three lives, including those of a Chestertown couple returning home from a third wedding anniversary celebration.

James Bruce Massey, 39, and his wife, Roberta, 32, died in the wreckage of a station wagon which hit a guard rail on Maryland 213 near Galena early Thursday, rolled down an embankment and burst into flames. Both were burned beyond recognition.

The third victim was William A. Connolly, 63, of Washington, who died in a three-vehicle crash at an intersection near Edgewater, in Anne Arundel County, on Wednesday. One of the vehicles involved was a school bus.

Relatives said the Masseys had been to Georgetown for a celegration of their anniversary and were en route home at the time of their fatal accident. Two children survive them.

In the Anne Arundel accident, Connolly's car collided with a truck and then crashed into the school bus. One of the children in the bus and a passenger in the truck were injured.

Fulton Lewis, Jr., Hearing Delayed

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., May 6 (AP)—Postponed until May 14 is a hearing that had been set for tomorrow on preliminary motions in the perjury and criminal libel charges against radio commentator Fulton Lewis Jr.

The cases were transferred to Howard County Circuit Court on a charge of venue from St. Mary's County, where Lewis was indicted as a result of broadcasts alleging violations of liquor laws in the county.

No Canadian Comment

OTTAWA, May 6 (AP)—Canadian federal government officials today had no immediate comment on passage of St. Lawrence Seaway legislation in the House of Representatives in Washington.

Adoption of the House bill, however, was regarded here as a major step toward clearing the way for building of the seaway.

Paper Signed By Charles Carroll Turns Up In University Library

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 6 (AP)—A business document signed by Charles Carroll of Carrollton, signer of the Declaration of Independence, has been found among papers on file at the University of Maryland library.

Miss Virginia Phillips, head of the library's Maryland Room, said she came upon the document while processing documents dealing with the early history of Prince georges County.

The paper is a memorandum signed by "Carroll of Carrollton" and "Ridgely of Hampton" dated April 30, 1827, at Baltimore.

It is addressed to a Columbus O'Donnell and authorizes O'Donnell to vote at all elections for director of the Union Machine Co. of Maryland.

Miss Phillips said she was satisfied the "Carroll of Carrollton" was the same man who signed the Declaration of Independence but was less sure of the "Ridgely of Hampton." She said, however, that the Ridgelys were a prominent Maryland family.

How the document came into possession of the University library could not be determined immediately. Library spokesmen would not attempt an estimate of its monetary value.

Protestant Bishop Defies German Reds

BERLIN, May 5 (AP)—Protestant Bishop Otto Dibelius today ordered the clergy of his Berlin-Brandenburg diocese not to sign any Communist appeals and notified the Communist East German government of his action.

Church authorities said Dibelius issued the order after he himself was "virtually forced" last Sunday to sign an appeal for banning the atom bomb when he consecrated a new church in Seilerhof in the Soviet zone.

The churchmen said Dibelius signed the appeal after two women, waving petitions, had blocked his entrance into the church. They said he signed "in order to put an end to the unworthy disturbance."

Northrup Found Guilty Of First Degree Murder

CAMBRIDGE, May 6 (AP) — A Dorchester County jury returned a verdict of first degree murder without capital punishment today against Harvey Lee Northrup, charged with the pistol slaying of Howard Lee Coleman Jr. last Nov. 19.

The jury also returned a specific finding that Northrup was sane at the time of the shooting and is sane now. Northrup had entered a plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

Imposition of sentence—life imprisonment is mandatory under the verdict—was delayed at the request of defense attorneys pending study of possible appeal.

The jury of four women and eight men considered the verdict for nearly five hours. It received the case at 11:01 a.m. and announced its decision at 3:58 p.m.

The state had asked for a first degree verdict. Defense attorneys argued that the killing was not premeditated.

Northrup was accused of shooting Coleman, a Cambridge hardware firm employe and the father of two children, after the two men had spent the night of Nov. 19 in a round of taverns and bootleg joints.

Northrup, a 31-year-old ex-convict from Federalsburg and one-time inmate of mental institutions, testified Coleman fired the first shot after Northrup asked Coleman to let him out of the car. He said the gun went off "I don't know how many times," during a struggle.

Coleman lived long enough to identify his slayer as a man named "Blackie." Northrup was picked up later in Florida.

Judge Grants Delay

BALTIMORE, May 6 (AP)—Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut today granted a delay in hearing a motion for transferring the income tax evasion trial of Washington gambler Emmitt Warring to the District of Columbia.

The delay was requested by James S. Morrow Jr., counsel for Warring who also is a defense attorney in a conspiracy trial now underway in connection with Baltimore's off-street parking garage program.

No new date was set for the hearing.

Man And Wife Die In Murder, Suicide At Westminster

WESTMINSTER, Md., May 6 (AP)—A Westminster insurance agent and his wife died of stab wounds in the throat early today in what was officially described as murder and suicide.

Police who were summoned to the blood-splattered home of William G. H. Schwinn and his wife, Dorothy, early today found the woman dead and the man dying of throat wounds. Both were 46.

The police had been there earlier—about 3 a.m.—to settle a loud quarrel between Schwinn, whom relatives described as being in a highly "nervous condition," and his wife. They left after Schwinn gave them an empty revolver. Officers were called again after a relative who called after daylight could not arouse anyone in the house.

Dr. James Marsh, Carroll County medical examiner, said an autopsy would not be necessary and returned a verdict of murder and suicide.

State, County Health Officials Air Chronic Disease Problem

BALTIMORE, May 6 (AP)—State and county health officers today agreed Maryland's new chronic disease hospitals must not be loaded down with patients simply waiting there to die.

They agreed there must be no return to the county almshouse, the elimination of which was a selling point for the expensive plan for building State chronic disease hospitals.

They agreed money is wasted by keeping a patient in an expensive hospital when all he needs is simple nursing care.

They agreed it was the No. 1 problem facing them.

"We have simply got to spell out the State's responsibility, and the local responsibilities in relation to the State's," said Dr. Perry F. Prather, deputy director of the State Health Department.

He was moderator of a long discussion among health department administrative officers throughout the state. It was part of the department's annual conference, two days of shop talk for those working in Maryland's public health program.

The State embarked on a chronic disease program in 1939 for the benefit of those whose lives and finances are wrecked by cancer, diabetes, arthritis, rheumatism and other disabling illnesses which may continue for months and years.

The first of three projected hospitals for such cases was not finished until after World War II, at Salisbury. Montebello Hospital in Baltimore, bought from the city and remodeled, is just coming into full use. Construction of the third at Hagerstown is scheduled to start late this year.

"You can be sure the Legislature is not going on indefinitely building hospitals," said Dr. Robert H. Riley, director of the State Health Department.

What, then, is to be done in face of the fact the buildings so far authorized will provide no more than a fourth of the beds apparently needed?

"Should we open up the county home again?" asked Dr. W. Ross Cameron, Washington County's health officer.

"We have been told not to ask admission for a patient unless there is a good chance of rehabilitating him to at least the point where he could be taken care of at home, or in a nursing home.

"What we need now is some place to send people just to die."

"Maybe we should have retained and improved the almshouse," put in Dr. John M. Byers, Cecil County's health officer.

Dr. James A. McCallum, superintendent at Montebello now after heading the first hospital and directing the whole chronic disease program through its early stages, said one big problem is getting patients out of the hospital once it has done all it can for them.

Many have no place to go, he explained, and no money to live on. Welfare boards are reluctant to take them back on relief rolls. Families are reluctant to take them for fear they will get sick again and can't get back in the hospital.

Dr. V. L. Ellicott, Montgomery County health officer recently designated to take over as directing head of the chronic disease program, suggested maybe the answer is county nursing homes. These would be for patients unable to take care of themselves or without adequate care at home who still do not need full hospital services. The homes would handle a two-way traffic, both to and from the hospitals.

There was another suggestion some system should be worked out so a family would pay for part of a patient's care in a nursing home, with the State making up the difference.

Not many families can afford $160 a week or $200 a month for a nursing home, it was pointed out. Nor can private nursing homes make ends meet on the $90 allowed them by the State for relief patients.

"Rehabilitation" was a key word throughout the discussion. It's goal is to teach patients to live with their illness, taking care of themselves and perhaps even earning at least part of their living.

"This is the field where we have the big new challenge for the county health department," Dr. Riley said.

"I believe we're making progress. We haven't solved any problems, we haven't made any decisions. But we're turning these problems over in our minds and I think we'll get out of it a better program than we've heard of in any other state."

Auto Mishaps Fatal To Three

[By The Associated Press]

Another series of auto accidents in Maryland has claimed three lives, including those of a Chestertown couple returning home from a third wedding anniversary celebration.

James Bruce Massey, 39, and his wife, Roberta, 32, died in the wreckage of a station wagon which hit a guard rail on Maryland 213 near Galena early Thursday, rolled down an embankment and burst into flames. Both were burned beyond recognition.

The third victim was William A. Connolly, 63, of Washington, who died in a three-vehicle crash at an intersection near Edgewater, in Anne Arundel County, on Wednesday. One of the vehicles involved was a school bus.

Relatives said the Masseys had been to Georgetown for a celegration of their anniversary and were en route home at the time of their fatal accident. Two children survive them.

In the Anne Arundel accident, Connolly's car collided with a truck and then crashed into the school bus. One of the children in the bus and a passenger in the truck were injured.

Fulton Lewis, Jr., Hearing Delayed

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., May 6 (AP)—Postponed until May 14 is a hearing that had been set for tomorrow on preliminary motions in the perjury and criminal libel charges against radio commentator Fulton Lewis Jr.

The cases were transferred to Howard County Circuit Court on a charge of venue from St. Mary's County, where Lewis was indicted as a result of broadcasts alleging violations of liquor laws in the county.

No Canadian Comment

OTTAWA, May 6 (AP)—Canadian federal government officials today had no immediate comment on passage of St. Lawrence Seaway legislation in the House of Representatives in Washington.

Adoption of the House bill, however, was regarded here as a major step toward clearing the way for building of the seaway.

Paper Signed By Charles Carroll Turns Up In University Library

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 6 (AP)—A business document signed by Charles Carroll of Carrollton, signer of the Declaration of Independence, has been found among papers on file at the University of Maryland library.

Miss Virginia Phillips, head of the library's Maryland Room, said she came upon the document while processing documents dealing with the early history of Prince georges County.

The paper is a memorandum signed by "Carroll of Carrollton" and "Ridgely of Hampton" dated April 30, 1827, at Baltimore.

It is addressed to a Columbus O'Donnell and authorizes O'Donnell to vote at all elections for director of the Union Machine Co. of Maryland.

Miss Phillips said she was satisfied the "Carroll of Carrollton" was the same man who signed the Declaration of Independence but was less sure of the "Ridgely of Hampton." She said, however, that the Ridgelys were a prominent Maryland family.

How the document came into possession of the University library could not be determined immediately. Library spokesmen would not attempt an estimate of its monetary value.

Protestant Bishop Defies German Reds

BERLIN, May 5 (AP)—Protestant Bishop Otto Dibelius today ordered the clergy of his Berlin-Brandenburg diocese not to sign any Communist appeals and notified the Communist East German government of his action.

Church authorities said Dibelius issued the order after he himself was "virtually forced" last Sunday to sign an appeal for banning the atom bomb when he consecrated a new church in Seilerhof in the Soviet zone.

The churchmen said Dibelius signed the appeal after two women, waving petitions, had blocked his entrance into the church. They said he signed "in order to put an end to the unworthy disturbance."

Northrup Found Guilty Of First Degree Murder

CAMBRIDGE, May 6 (AP) — A Dorchester County jury returned a verdict of first degree murder without capital punishment today against Harvey Lee Northrup, charged with the pistol slaying of Howard Lee Coleman Jr. last Nov. 19.

The jury also returned a specific finding that Northrup was sane at the time of the shooting and is sane now. Northrup had entered a plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

Imposition of sentence—life imprisonment is mandatory under the verdict—was delayed at the request of defense attorneys pending study of possible appeal.

The jury of four women and eight men considered the verdict for nearly five hours. It received the case at 11:01 a.m. and announced its decision at 3:58 p.m.

The state had asked for a first degree verdict. Defense attorneys argued that the killing was not premeditated.

Northrup was accused of shooting Coleman, a Cambridge hardware firm employe and the father of two children, after the two men had spent the night of Nov. 19 in a round of taverns and bootleg joints.

Northrup, a 31-year-old ex-convict from Federalsburg and one-time inmate of mental institutions, testified Coleman fired the first shot after Northrup asked Coleman to let him out of the car. He said the gun went off "I don't know how many times," during a struggle.

Coleman lived long enough to identify his slayer as a man named "Blackie." Northrup was picked up later in Florida.

Judge Grants Delay

BALTIMORE, May 6 (AP)—Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut today granted a delay in hearing a motion for transferring the income tax evasion trial of Washington gambler Emmitt Warring to the District of Columbia.

The delay was requested by James S. Morrow Jr., counsel for Warring who also is a defense attorney in a conspiracy trial now underway in connection with Baltimore's off-street parking garage program.

No new date was set for the hearing.

Man And Wife Die In Murder, Suicide At Westminster

WESTMINSTER, Md., May 6 (AP)—A Westminster insurance agent and his wife died of stab wounds in the throat early today in what was officially described as murder and suicide.

Police who were summoned to the blood-splattered home of William G. H. Schwinn and his wife, Dorothy, early today found the woman dead and the man dying of throat wounds. Both were 46.

The police had been there earlier—about 3 a.m.—to settle a loud quarrel between Schwinn, whom relatives described as being in a highly "nervous condition," and his wife. They left after Schwinn gave them an empty revolver. Officers were called again after a relative who called after daylight could not arouse anyone in the house.

Dr. James Marsh, Carroll County medical examiner, said an autopsy would not be necessary and returned a verdict of murder and suicide.

New, Simple Test Developed To Furnish Check On Polio Vaccine's Effectiveness

By FRANK CAREY
AP SCIENCE REPORTER

PITTSBURGH, May 6 (AP) — The developers of the new polio vaccine now under test or about to be tested in 45 states, announced today they have also developed a new and "simple" test — employing color changes — to furnish a rapid check on the vaccine's possible effectiveness.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk and Dr. J. S. Youngner of the University of Pittsburgh said the new technique made possible "many more tests" than previously possible in a given time and allowed a great saving of laboratory work.

They said the test is designed to determine in a given case whether the vaccine is acting in a way theoretically thought to be protective.

And Dr. Salk told a reporter it was aimed at determining "how many inoculations are required and the optimal interval between injections so that, if indicated, changes in the spacing of inoculations will be made in future studies, although not during this year's field trials."

Salk said information concerning the new technique has already been made available through the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to the cooperating evaluating laboratories taking part in the nationwide field trial of the vaccine.

In brief, the test consists of mixing a sample of a vaccinated child's blood serum with viruses and certain other materials in a test tube which originally shows a red color. The test tube is then placed in an incubator for seven days.

If the tube is still colored red, it means that the child hasn't sufficient theoretically protective antibodies against polio virus. If, on the other hand, the color of the mixture turns yellow, that means that theoretically at least, the child has a protective level of immunity.

Key substances in the test tube are monkey kidney tissues cells, and a known quantity of polio virus.

The idea is this:

If the child's blood serum doesn't contain "antibodies" at a sufficient level, the virus in the test tube will kill the kidney cells.

And the red-colored material which is part of the so-called "culture" medium will remain unchanged.

If, on the other hand, the child's blood serum does contain antibodies, these will prevent the virus in the tube from killing the kidney cells. These will then grow and in so doing will release an acid which will change red color to yellow.

Dr. Salk explained that the new technique is somewhat of a reverse of the old technique wherein the kidney cells were first allowed to grow, and then virus and blood serum were added later.

In that test, it was necessary to employ a microscope for detailed study to determine whether kidney cells had been killed.

NEW HEART OPERATION—The University of Minnesota reported that corrective operations have been performed on three children with crippling heart defects by cross-transfusing their blood into the fathers' lungs during the surgery. Two of the children are alive, with their hearts in good condition. The third died of pneumonia eleven days after the operation. None of the fathers showed any ill effects from the procedure. At top, the patient, Pamela Schmidt, 5, lies on the right table, while her father, Ronald, lies on the left table, as the surgical team in the Variety Club Hospital, Minneapolis, operates. Pamela's heart is disconnected from her circulation system and joined through a simple pump to her father's. Both blood systems are made to function as one. Pamela's heart was disconnected from her circulation for 13½ minutes. In center, the pump used in the "impossible" operation. Below, Pamela is shown with her mother; Dr. C. Walton Lillehei, head of the operating team (which included Drs. Morley Cohen and Herbert E. Warden), and Ronald Schmidt (right), her father.

70 Suffer Mild Doses Of Deadly Nerve Gas

DENVER, May 6 (AP)—About 70 persons have suffered mild doses of the deadly GB nerve gas at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal near Denver, it was disclosed today.

Officials said none of the 70 suffered permanent ill effects.

Lt. Col. Jacob Werne, arsenal medical officer, and Lt. Col. Roy E. Clausen of Fitzsimons Army Hospital made the statement in talks at the Army-Navy-Air Force medical conference here.

Werne said the workers involved at the arsenal have had "only mild exposures." He said he was sent to Denver to study the effects of the gas on the skin, but technical safeguards at the plant have not given him much opportunity.

The heating of wood in order to convert it into carbon or charcoal may have been the first chemical process discovered by man.

Court Says 1953 Law Made Cecil Co. Bookmaking Illegal

ANNAPOLIS, May 6 (AP) — The Court of Appeals declared yesterday a 1953 law eliminated any doubt that bookmaking is illegal in Cecil County.

Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune, writing the decision in the first case he heard last March as head of the state's highest court, went step by step through a maze of laws on the subject and emerged with this conclusion:

"At least on and after June 1, 1953, bookmaking in Cecil County was not exempt from the prohibitions and penalties" of a statewide measure against off-track betting.

The court wasn't as clear on the status of bookmaking in Cecil between 1945, when a local law was repealed, and 1953, when what may have been an exemption was scrapped in company with a batch of other provisions termed "obsolete and no longer necessary."

But Brune did say that wording of the 1945 repealer made it difficult to find any reason for excluding Cecil from the general anti-bookmaking law.

Brune and Judge Edward S. Delaplaine filed separate opinions upholding the convictions of Merrill George Gibson and Robert Roy White, two of the men picked up in a series of raids last August.

Louis A. Alagia, also found guilty in the same police action, appealed on grounds similar to those adopted by Gibson and White. The court hasn't announced a decision yet in Alagia's case, but the scope of yesterday's opinions gave him scant hope for a reversal.

New, Simple Test Developed To Furnish Check On Polio Vaccine's Effectiveness

By FRANK CAREY
AP SCIENCE REPORTER

PITTSBURGH, May 6 (AP) — The developers of the new polio vaccine now under test or about to be tested in 45 states, announced today they have also developed a new and "simple" test — employing color changes — to furnish a rapid check on the vaccine's possible effectiveness.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk and Dr. J. S. Youngner of the University of Pittsburgh said the new technique made possible "many more tests" than previously possible in a given time and allowed a great saving of laboratory work.

They said the test is designed to determine in a given case whether the vaccine is acting in a way theoretically thought to be protective.

And Dr. Salk told a reporter it was aimed at determining "how many inoculations are required and the optimal interval between injections so that, if indicated, changes in the spacing of inoculations will be made in future studies, although not during this year's field trials."

Salk said information concerning the new technique has already been made available through the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to the cooperating evaluating laboratories taking part in the nationwide field trial of the vaccine.

In brief, the test consists of mixing a sample of a vaccinated child's blood serum with viruses and certain other materials in a test tube which originally shows a red color. The test tube is then placed in an incubator for seven days.

If the tube is still colored red, it means that the child hasn't sufficient theoretically protective antibodies against polio virus. If, on the other hand, the color of the mixture turns yellow, that means that theoretically at least, the child has a protective level of immunity.

Key substances in the test tube are monkey kidney tissues cells, and a known quantity of polio virus.

The idea is this:

If the child's blood serum doesn't contain "antibodies" at a sufficient level, the virus in the test tube will kill the kidney cells.

And the red-colored material which is part of the so-called "culture" medium will remain unchanged.

If, on the other hand, the child's blood serum does contain antibodies, these will prevent the virus in the tube from killing the kidney cells. These will then grow and in so doing will release an acid which will change red color to yellow.

Dr. Salk explained that the new technique is somewhat of a reverse of the old technique wherein the kidney cells were first allowed to grow, and then virus and blood serum were added later.

In that test, it was necessary to employ a microscope for detailed study to determine whether kidney cells had been killed.

NEW HEART OPERATION—The University of Minnesota reported that corrective operations have been performed on three children with crippling heart defects by cross-transfusing their blood into the fathers' lungs during the surgery. Two of the children are alive, with their hearts in good condition. The third died of pneumonia eleven days after the operation. None of the fathers showed any ill effects from the procedure. At top, the patient, Pamela Schmidt, 5, lies on the right table, while her father, Ronald, lies on the left table, as the surgical team in the Variety Club Hospital, Minneapolis, operates. Pamela's heart is disconnected from her circulation system and joined through a simple pump to her father's. Both blood systems are made to function as one. Pamela's heart was disconnected from her circulation for 13½ minutes. In center, the pump used in the "impossible" operation. Below, Pamela is shown with her mother; Dr. C. Walton Lillehei, head of the operating team (which included Drs. Morley Cohen and Herbert E. Warden), and Ronald Schmidt (right), her father.

70 Suffer Mild Doses Of Deadly Nerve Gas

DENVER, May 6 (AP)—About 70 persons have suffered mild doses of the deadly GB nerve gas at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal near Denver, it was disclosed today.

Officials said none of the 70 suffered permanent ill effects.

Lt. Col. Jacob Werne, arsenal medical officer, and Lt. Col. Roy E. Clausen of Fitzsimons Army Hospital made the statement in talks at the Army-Navy-Air Force medical conference here.

Werne said the workers involved at the arsenal have had "only mild exposures." He said he was sent to Denver to study the effects of the gas on the skin, but technical safeguards at the plant have not given him much opportunity.

The heating of wood in order to convert it into carbon or charcoal may have been the first chemical process discovered by man.

Court Says 1953 Law Made Cecil Co. Bookmaking Illegal

ANNAPOLIS, May 6 (AP) — The Court of Appeals declared yesterday a 1953 law eliminated any doubt that bookmaking is illegal in Cecil County.

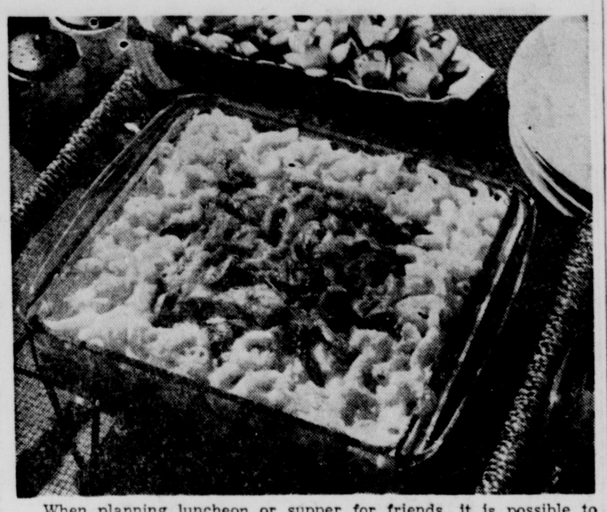
Budget Meal For Company



When planning luncheon or supper for friends, it is possible to keep within your budget. The use of expensive or out of season foods is not necessary. Often by combining simple, inexpensive foods and serving them attractively, you may achieve results that are worthy of any guest.

Chicken-Macaroni en Casserole is a combination of cheese, chicken, and macaroni, blended with a well seasoned cream sauce. The resulting flavor and appearance are most attractive. Cheese and milk are two of our most economical and versatile foods. They blend well with many foods and provide valuable food nutrients as well. Serve Chicken-Macaroni en Casserole with buttered asparagus, a molded apple and celery salad, small crisp rolls, with butter and perhaps melon rind pickles. For dessert, try a delicately flavored floating island or small pecan tarts.

Chicken-Macaroni en Casserole

3 cups cooked elbow macaroni
2 cups grated American Cheddar cheese
1 12-ounce can chicken, diced or 1½ cups cooked chicken, diced
1 cup sliced canned mushrooms
¼ cup diced pimiento
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
2 cups milk

Arrange macaroni and cheese in alternate layers in buttered 2 quart casserole. Combine chicken, mushrooms and pimiento. Make a well in center of macaroni and fill with chicken mixture. Melt butter, blend in flour, salt and pepper, gradually add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Pour over mixture in casserole. Bake in moderate oven 350° F., 60 minutes. Serves 6.

Famed Beef Kidney Pie

Beef and kidney pie is an old English favorite. Here is a recipe for this famed dish. Either beef, pork, lamb or veal kidney may be cooked with the beef cubes. When the meat is tender it's slipped in a biscuit lined casserole, topped with a biscuit crust and baked.

Beef and Kidney Pie

1 pound beef, pork, lamb or veal kidney
1 pound boneless beef for stew, cut in 1-inch cubes
1½ cups water
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons flour
Water
Biscuit dough

Wash kidney, remove tubes and cut in pieces. Place in saucepan and add 1 cup water. Cover and cook slowly about 45 minutes or until tender. Brown beef cubes in lard or drippings. Add ½ cup water, cover and simmer 30 minutes. Combine beef and kidney. Season. Thicken gravy with flour mixed with water to form a smooth paste. Line a baking dish with biscuit dough. Pour in cooked meat and gravy. Cover with additional biscuit dough. Bake in hot oven (425° F.), about 30 minutes or until brown. 8 to 10 servings.

Biscuit Dough

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
4 to 6 tablespoons lard
⅓ to ½ cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard until mixture has fine even crumb. Add enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn onto a lightly floured surface and knead gently for ½ minute. Pat or roll ½ inch thick.

Good Foods For Good Health

Our children are our nation's future, and that future will be sounder if our children are strong and healthy. Good health is closely related to good foods, and milk ranks high as a health builder. This delicious pudding shows how a child may be tempted to take more milk.

Tapioca Fruit Whip

1 egg white
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg yolk
2 cups milk
2 or 3 tablespoons sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup strained or chopped prunes, apricot-apple sauce, or pear and pineapple*

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Set aside.

Mix egg yolk with about 1/4 cup of the milk in saucepan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, tapioca and remaining milk. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a full boil, stirring constantly—this takes 5 to 8 minutes.

Pour small amount of hot tapioca mixture gradually on beaten egg white, blending well. Then quickly add remaining mixture, stirring constantly. (The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker and fluffier the pudding will be.) Add vanilla. Fold in strained fruit. Cool, stirring once after 15 to 20 minutes. Chill. Serve plain or with cream. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

*Or use any other fruit permitted in child's diet.

Figs' Historical Background For Health, Flavor, Goodness

May is Fig Festival Time—time to serve California Dried Figs and fig cookies. There is a certain deep satisfaction in using food that has come down the centuries to us as an inheritance in flavor, healthfulness and just plain goodness. The excellence of rich, creamy milk and tender sweet dried figs, now grown best in Sunny California, cannot be disputed and these wonderful foods are as much a part of family enjoyment today as they were in the days of ancient Greece and Palestine or Egypt. And, boy, are they good!

Fig cookies,made with California Dried Figs, and a glass of milk are a wonderful combination . . . or snip California Dried Figs into your favorite breakfast cereal. For health and a treat, what could be better. Put fig cookies in school lunches . . . and keep a supply on hand for ravenous after-school appetites with planty of rich milk—also a good snack for bedtime.

Here are four excellent recipes just prepared for the annuad Fig Festival. And when you serve these modern, easily prepared dishes, remind your family of the historical background of creamy milk and California Dried Figs that are today so much a part of modern living.

Figs and Oats, Hawaiian Style

1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
20 Fig Cookies, about
¼ cup sugar
2 cups quick-cooking oats
½ cup sugar
½ cup butter
1 cup heavy cream

Butter a rather flat baking dish. Empty can of crushed pineapple into the dish. Crumble the Fig Cookies into the pineapple. Add the sugar and mix together slightly. Place the uncooked oats in a bowl with the second measure of sugar and the butter. Pinch together until thoroughly mixed and crumbly. Spread evenly over the mixture in the baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 25 mnuites or until the oats are lightly brown. Serve in squares on dessert plates. Lift out of baking dish with a pancake turner while still slightly warm. Pass sweetened whipped cream or unwhipped heavy cream, in a bowl with a small ladle. Serves 6-8.

Chocolate Fig Fantasy

3 cups rich milk
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
2 eggs, lightly beaten
20 Fig Cookies, about
½ package chocolate bits
2 small size milk chocolate bars
Light cream

Add the milk, sugar and the vanilla to the lightly beaten eggs. Butter a rather flat baking dish. Crumble the Fig Cookies into the dish. Scatter the chocolate bits over the Fig Cookies. Add the milk, sugar and eggs. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 25 minutes or until the custard is just "set." Break the milk chocolate bars into squares and place neatly on the hot pudding. Return to the oven for only one minute. Serve warm with light cream or top milk. Serves 6-8.

Fresno Mystery Dessert

4 cups milk
1 package vanilla - flavored pudding
20 Fig Cookies, about
½ cup ground almonds (do not blanch)
½ tsp. almond extract
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ tsp. almond extract
¼ cup sugar

Combine the 4 cups milk with the packaged pudding mix. Stir over heat until bubbly. Remove from fire. Add the Fig Cookies crumbled into small bits. Also add the ground almonds and the almond extract. Stir together and cool. Place in dessert glasses. Chill until ready to serve. Top with the whipped cream, to which the second measure of almond extract and the sugar have been added. Serves 6-8.

1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup strained or chopped prunes, apricot-apple sauce, or pear and pineapple*

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Set aside.

Mix egg yolk with about 1/4 cup of the milk in saucepan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, tapioca and remaining milk. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a full boil, stirring constantly—this takes 5 to 8 minutes.

Pour small amount of hot tapioca mixture gradually on beaten egg white, blending well. Then quickly add remaining mixture, stirring constantly. (The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker and fluffier the pudding will be.) Add vanilla. Fold in strained fruit. Cool, stirring once after 15 to 20 minutes. Chill. Serve plain or with cream. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

*Or use any other fruit permitted in child's diet.

Figs' Historical Background For Health, Flavor, Goodness

May is Fig Festival Time—time to serve California Dried Figs and fig cookies. There is a certain deep satisfaction in using food that has come down the centuries to us as an inheritance in flavor, healthfulness and just plain goodness. The excellence of rich, creamy milk and tender sweet dried figs, now grown best in Sunny California, cannot be disputed and these wonderful foods are as much a part of family enjoyment today as they were in the days of ancient Greece and Palestine or Egypt. And, boy, are they good!

Fig cookies,made with California Dried Figs, and a glass of milk are a wonderful combination . . . or snip California Dried Figs into your favorite breakfast cereal. For health and a treat, what could be better. Put fig cookies in school lunches . . . and keep a supply on hand for ravenous after-school appetites with planty of rich milk—also a good snack for bedtime.

Here are four excellent recipes just prepared for the annuad Fig Festival. And when you serve these modern, easily prepared dishes, remind your family of the historical background of creamy milk and California Dried Figs that are today so much a part of modern living.

Figs and Oats, Hawaiian Style

1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
20 Fig Cookies, about
¼ cup sugar
2 cups quick-cooking oats
½ cup sugar
½ cup butter
1 cup heavy cream

Butter a rather flat baking dish. Empty can of crushed pineapple into the dish. Crumble the Fig Cookies into the pineapple. Add the sugar and mix together slightly. Place the uncooked oats in a bowl with the second measure of sugar and the butter. Pinch together until thoroughly mixed and crumbly. Spread evenly over the mixture in the baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 25 mnuites or until the oats are lightly brown. Serve in squares on dessert plates. Lift out of baking dish with a pancake turner while still slightly warm. Pass sweetened whipped cream or unwhipped heavy cream, in a bowl with a small ladle. Serves 6-8.

Chocolate Fig Fantasy

3 cups rich milk
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
2 eggs lightly beaten
20 Fig Cookies, about
½ package chocolate bits
2 small size milk chocolate bars
Light cream

Add the milk, sugar and the vanilla to the lightly beaten eggs. Butter a rather flat baking dish. Crumble the Fig Cookies into the dish. Scatter the chocolate bits over the Fig Cookies. Add the milk, sugar and eggs. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 25 minutes or until the custard is just "set." Break the milk chocolate bars into squares and place neatly on the hot pudding. Return to the oven for only one minute. Serve warm with light cream or top milk. Serves -8.

Fresno Mystery Dessert

4 cups milk
1 package vanilla - flavored pudding
20 Fig Cookies, about
½ cup ground almonds (do not blanch)
½ tsp. almond extract
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ tsp. almond extract
¼ cup sugar

Combine the 4 cups milk with the packaged pudding mix. Stir over heat until bubbly. Remove from fire. Add the Fig Cookies crumbled into small bits. Also add the ground almonds and the almond extract. Stir together and cool. Place in dessert glasses. Chill until ready to serve. Top with the whipped cream, to which the second measure of almond extract and the sugar have been added. Serves 6-8.

Flavor And Color For Dessert

Ice cream, the always available, always enjoyable dessert, comes to the aid of many homemakers when planning meals. Ice cream as you know is no longer considered a "party only" food, but has been placed sensibly on the essential food list, along with other fine dairy foods. Ice cream can do much for a meal. It adds eating enjoyment for the youngest to the oldest member of the family, and it provides the same fine food nutrients as does milk. It is another dairy food to help round out the family dietary requirements for the day.

A simple sauce like the one given here, adds sweet-tart flavor and will contrast very well with the creamy smoothness of ice cream. The soft green color of the sauce also makes it just right for spring and summer. If you wish to serve Emerald Sundae for a special meal, it will help to create a party effect because of the color. Try it soon.

EMERALD SUNDAE

1 quart vanilla ice cream
Sundae sauce

SAUCE

⅓ cup sugar
2½ teaspoons cornstarch
⅓ cup water
⅛ cup fresh or canned lime juice
3 drops green coloring
2½ tablespoons honey

Combine sugar and cornstarch. Then add water and lime juice and mix until smooth. Place over heat and bring to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil slowly for one minute or until clear and transparent. Remove from heat, add coloring and honey. Stir well and cool. Makes 1 cup enough for 6 servings. When ready to serve, pour 2 tablespoons sauce over individual serving of ice cream, sprinkle top with slivered, toasted almonds.

Show-Off Rhubarb Pie

Feature tart spring rhubarb in this elegant Show-Off Rhubarb Pie.

The season's best-liked fruits attain even greater reputation when served in crisply tender pastry shells. Pies have been favorite desserts for ages. Your family will sing new praises when you bring on a generous wedge of this mellow rhubarb pie as the finale for a spring luncheon. If you choose, top the cuts of pie with a fluff of whipped cream. Let everyone—in turn—man the nutmeg grinder. Freshly ground nutmeg atop the whipped cream tastes grand.

To make your pies a real production, perfect your art of making flaky pastry. You'll want to follow your favorite recipe for pastry to the letter. Work quickly with the pastry, but do not overmix. Use ice-cold water to sprinkle over the flour-shortening mixture. Chilling the dough before you roll it out is another aid for flaky pastry.

You'll appreciate the fact that when you bake with enriched flour, your family is getting three essential B-vitamins and food iron at no extra cost. Enriched flour is also a low-cost source of plant protein.

When spring days are filled to the hour and baking time is short, select a golden-crusted fruit pie from the bake shop. They are tempting fare when served with cups of steaming hot coffee.

SHOW-OFF RHUBARB PIE

Pastry

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
3 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Turn out on floured pastry cloth and press dough together. Cover or wrap in waxed paper and let stand while preparing Rhubarb Filling. Cut off about ⅓ of pastry. Roll out larger portion of pastry to circle ⅛-inch thick and line pie pan with it. Fill with Rhubarb Filling. Roll out remaining pastry ⅛-inch thick and cut into strips about 1 inch wide. Arrange over filling to form star design. Trim and flute edges. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 15 minutes. Reduce to a moderate oven (350°F.) and bake 30 minutes longer.

Rhubarb Filling

2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups sugar (about)
⅛ cup enriched flour
¼ teaspoon salt
4 cups sliced rhubarb
Butter or margarine

Combine eggs, sugar, flour and salt. Add rhubarb and mix well. Arrange in pie shell. Dot with butter or margarine. Top with pastry design. Makes 1 9-inch pie.

A Canned Food Idea Shelf Helps In Planning Meals

Ever think of making yourself a canned food idea shelf? More and more people are discovering it's an easy way of meal planning and a handy point of reference for surprise entertaining, hurry-up dinners, quick lunch ideas and many other eating occasions.

The idea is, of course, to make a list of the basic canned foods preferred in your family, with an idea to their use as ingredients or in menus. Then you organize a shelf in your pantry to hold them conveniently and legibly. If you do this, you can scan your cupboard at a glance and come up with an elegant idea to take care of the situation at hand.

One more important part of your canned food idea shelf planning . . . that's the matter of replacement, or how to avoid the "when she got there, the cupboard was bare" dilemma. The electric light industry has made it a social error to be a bulb snatcher, but being a can snatcher is even more destructive! It could leave you with out the main ingredient of your guest menu! Making sure an item used goes on the shopping list immediately will eliminate the problem.

In planning your canned food idea shelf, you may want to group your stocks by products or maybe by menu ideas. Either one is good. Considering stocks by products you will want a selection of juices, fruits, vegetables, soups, meats, peas, corn, tomatoes, tomato paste, soups of several varieties, peaches, applesauce, cherries, citrus juices and tomato juice . . . and the products which come in so handy for garnishes, like pimientos, mushrooms and olives.

Once you've started your canned food idea shelf, you'll wonder how you ever got along without it.

Stuffed Leg Of Lamb

There comes a time in all families when only a good roast will satisfy. One of the best of roasts is Boneless Stuffed Leg of Lamb, particularly when you add crushed pineapple to your favorite bread crumb stuffing. Season with a small amount of chopped mint.

What a flavor! What a woman!

Billy McGuire eats 33 pieces of bread and Mrs. Filbert's a week. What a stack! He just loves Mrs. Filbert's Margarine.

"My margarine is my own recipe. I make sure it always tastes fresh and sweet. Your kids will pile it on, too."
Mrs. M. V. Filbert, Pres.

● Fresh. Fresh. Fresh. So delicious folks say it tastes better—yes, better!—than the most expensive spread. "It's my own recipe," says Mrs. Filbert, "and I'm mighty fussy about it." So tender it spreads smooth even ice-cold—won't tear holes in freshest bread. 15,000 units of Vitamin A in every pound. And what a taste! Eat some today.

Once you've started your canned food idea shelf, you'll wonder how you ever got along without it.

Stuffed Leg Of Lamb

There comes a time in all families when only a good roast will satisfy. One of the best of roasts is Boneless Stuffed Leg of Lamb, particularly when you add crushed pineapple to your favorite bread crumb stuffing. Season with a small amount of chopped mint.

What a flavor! What a woman!

Billy McGuire eats 33 pieces of bread and Mrs. Filbert's a week. What a stack! He just loves Mrs. Filbert's Margarine.

"My margarine is my own recipe. I make sure it always tastes fresh and sweet. Your kids will pile it on, too."
Mrs. M. V. Filbert, Pres.

● Fresh. Fresh. Fresh. So delicious folks say it tastes better—yes, better!—than the most expensive spread. "It's my own recipe," says Mrs. Filbert, "and I'm mighty fussy about it." So tender it spreads smooth even ice-cold—won't tear holes in freshest bread. 15,000 units of Vitamin A in every pound. And what a taste! Eat some today.

Arrange Your Kitchen To Save Steps

MORGANTOWN—Make your kitchen work for you. It can and it will if you store utensils at or near the place you'll use them first.

Follow the rule of storing each item so that it is "easy to see, easy to reach, and easy to grasp." Gladys Wasmuth, Extension home management specialist at West Virginia University, advised here today.

Analyze your own kitchen and organize centers of work for each of the main activities—food preparation, cooking, and serving, Miss Wasmuth suggested. A little rearranging, perhaps a well-placed shelf or two, may be all it takes to save countless steps.

Your sink is an important center for cleaning fruits and vegetables and for dishwashing. Plan for foods that need soaking. Keep knives, brushes, and a chopping board here, as well as sauce pans and coffee pots. Remember to allow room for dishwashing supplies.

Doughs and batters call for a mixing center, which should be placed near the refrigerator. Flour, sugar, and your spice collection should be within easy reach of this counter. This is also a good location for casseroles, measuring utensils, and baking tins.

You may want to combine your range and serving center. Utensils used in frying and serving dishes for hot food are logically centered here. Ready-to-serve foods also may be stored near the serving center.

Dishes and silverware may be placed near either the sink or the table, Miss Wasmuth explained. Try using dividers for silverware drawers. Your silverware will then be easier to find as well as better protected.

Cut your shortening bill by frying pototoes on a griddle rubbed with a raw potato instead of shortening.

Champion Cherry Pie Baker

An 18 year old high school senior, Beverly Jones of Ogden, Utah, displays her prize winning pie. Beverly entered and won the 22nd Annual Cherry Pie Baking Contest held in Chicago over other champion cherry pie bakers representing every state in the Union.

Filling For Two Pies

1½ cup sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup cherry juice
½ cup cornstarch
½ cup cherry juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 tablespoons butter
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
4⅓ cups red sour cherries
Red coloring if needed

Heat in a saucepan the sugar, salt, and one cup juice. Mix together cornstarch and remaining juice and stir into the first mixture. Cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add lemon juice, butter, nutmeg and coloring, if needed. Carefully mix in the well-drained cherries. Pour into two pastry-line pie pans (recipe below). Moisten the pastry around the edge with water before placing the top pastry on pies. Trim off any surplus pastry and crimp. Bake at 425°F for 30 minutes.

Crust For Two Pies

3 cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon soda
1 cup Swift's Silverleaf Lard
1 egg
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 tablespoons water (about)

Sift into mixing bowl, flour, salt, sugar, and soda. Add lard and cut with a pastry blender until the mixture is in even bits no larger than peas. Beat together in a bowl, egg, lemon juice, and water and add a small amount at a time, to the flour mixture. Toss lightly with a fork after each addition of liquid. Continue the procedure until the pastry mixture is moist enough to form a ball when patted together. Divide the dough into 4 parts. Roll each part on a floured canvas to ⅛ inch thickness. Line two pie pans with two of the circles. Cut remaining circles in ½" strips for lattice-top.

Consumers Can Solve Dairy Products Surplus

By EZRA TAFT BENSON
Secretary of Agriculture

One of agriculture's biggest problems is also one of the easiest to solve.

The solution lies not with government or its officials but with millions of Americans who can and should drink an extra glass or two of milk each week and eat a few additional pieces of butter.

At present the dairy industry is confronted with production and marketing problems that stem from increasing output, declining exports and a reduction in per capita consumption. It is important to see that these troubles are not perpetuated.

The government now has more than 1,320,000,000 pounds of dairy products in storage. These surpluses were acquired by supporting dairy prices at 90 percent of parity. They are products that should have gone to consumers but instead went into government ware houses.

To make dairying a strong and independent part of our agricultural economy these surpluses must be disposed of and a proper adjustment made between production and consumption. The easiest way to do this is to increase consumption.

Since 1945 the annual per capita consumption of fluid milk and cream has declined 47 pounds. For the same period of consumption of butter dropped the equivalent of an additional 45 pounds of milk.

Our people need to eat more dairy products. If the full dietary needs of the nation are being met, there would actually be a shortage of these products. Milk is good. It is the most nearly perfect of all foods for children, young people and adults. Milk is cheap. A recent study shows that the nutrients contained in a quart of milk would cost 42 cents if obtained from other sources.

In an effort to encourage the use of dairy products and in compliance with the law, I recently reduced the dairy price support level from 90 to 75 percent of parity It is my belief that more realistic prices, coupled with a vigorous educational and promotion program stressing the value of dairy products, will go a long way toward reestablishing the industry on a firm and profitable basis.

I am required by law to fix dairy supports at a point between 75 and 90 percent of parity that will assure an adequate supply In view of both the large surpluses and a production rate exceeding consumption, the Solicitor of the Department of Agriculture ruled I would have to set the supports for the coming year at 75 percent.

There has been come complaint that under the President's new farm program the reduction in dairy supports should have been gradual. Actually the President proposed gradual changes in moving basic commodities from a rigid to flexible support program and from old to modernized parity. There was no such recommendation on dairy products, which were already on a flexible basis.

There is considerable difference between the basic commodities and dairy products. The basics are storable and they are subject to production control. Dairy products are perishable. In fact they are the only perishable commodity on which price supports are mandatory. In addition, there is no control of production.

While it would appear that the dairy supports were cut 15 points, the actual reduction is 12 and 9 points. Because of wider marketing margins last year, 90 percent supports reflected 87 percent of parity to the farmer on butterfat and only 84 percent on manufactured milk.

As I understand the law, the full 7 percent of parity must now be passed on to the farmer. I will see that this is done.

"Here Comes The Bride"--To The Kitchen

After the honeymoon, sooner or later, every June bride finds herself facing the stove. Her aim . . . to cook a meal her husband will enjoy and she'll be proud to serve.

Whether a freshman or graduate cook, you'll be glad for the many modern foods that help during newlywed days. It's a good idea to browse through your grocery store and note the many cooking helps already for you. Then stock up. Canned meats and fish, condensed soups, precooked-rice, biscuit mix, frozen main dishes, etc.

Next step is to stock up with tempting, easy recipes. Casseroles, naturally, are one of your best bets. Reach to your shelf of convenience foods for a can of mushroom soup and one of tuna—plus a package of noodles. What a heavenly combination you can create with these three. And the variations possible are dazzling. It can be cream of chicken soup with a can of chicken, or cream of celery soup with salmon. Each comes forth as a knock-out noodle casserole. Memorize this prize recipe pattern; then you'll be well on the way to the title of "Best Bride Cook."

Mushroom Tuna Triumph

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup
½ cup milk
1 cup drained flaked tuna (7-ounce can)
1½ cups unsalted cooked noodles (⅔ ounces uncooked)
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
¼ cup buttered bread crumbs

Blend soup and milk, then remaining ingredients (except crumbs) in a 1½-quart casserole; sprinkle crumbs on top. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) about 25 minutes. 4 generous servings.

For CELERY SALMON CASSEROLE, follow recipe with tuna; but use salmon instead of tuna. And use cream of celery soup instead of cream of mushroom.

Tuna Spaghetti With Cheese, Bacon

Fix spaghetti with a topping of melted cheese and crisp bacon; and watch the family race to the table. You can prepare it in no time. Put 8 slices of bacon on to fry. Meanwhile open 2 cans of spaghetti in tomato sauce. When bacon is crisp and brown, remove from skillet, and pour off all but 2 tablespoons of drippings. Pour in the spaghetti and mix gently with the drippings. Place slices of cheese (¼ to ½ pound) over top of spaghetti; cover and heat slowly about 10 minutes or until cheese is partially melted. Serve each portion with strips of bacon criss-crossed on top. Pass a cold-crisp salad of lettuce, curly spinach and tiny carrot strips. Sweet finish is strawberries and cream; coconut cookies.

THAT long-time favorite Casserole of Tuna-Noodles comes to the rescue of new brides and other beginning cooks. Because it's so easy, so good. Use condensed cream of mushroom or celery soup for the sauce to go with tuna-noodles.

Keep Supply Of Beef Gravy

A can or two of beef gravy is a handy item on the kitchen shelf, particularly with warm weather here. You can use it often on days you don't want to be long in the kitchen. Serve gravy over little new potatoes or hot fluffy rice to accompany cold sliced roast or meat loaf. Always good with hamburgers too.

Vegetable Juices Appease Appetites

Now comes the season for backyard suppers and picnics, happy get-togethers where everyone "gets in the act" of cooking. Better have a large can of vegetable juice chilled and ready to offer around. While the gang waits for the franks to fry, serve them the ice cold vegetable juices, and appease the appetites enjoyably.

Baked Spareribs With Apricot Breadstuffing

You'll please your family two ways with Baked Spareribs with Apricot Breadstuffing. Ribs and stuffing are always favorites with men and the flavor of apricots is for those who like the unusual. For the stuffing, combine 1½ cups chopped, cooked apricots and ⅓ cup raisins with 2¼ quarts of bread cubes. Place between two one-pound strips of ribs, tie, and bake at (375° F.) for 1¼ hours.

Help Yourself To A Bonus!

Upside Down Ham Loaf

1 pound ground lean smoked ham or leftover cooked ham
½ pound ground lean fresh pork
¼ cup chopped parsley
2½ cups wheat flakes
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg
¾ cup milk
¼ cup pineapple syrup
1 cup diced canned pineapple
2 tablespoons brown sugar

Combine ham, pork, parsley, slightly crushed wheat flakes, salt, and pepper with egg, milk, and pineapple syrup; mix well. Place pineapple in bottom of 9x5x3 inch loaf pan and sprinkle with brown sugar. Pack pork mixture on top. Bake in moderate oven (350°-375°F.) about one hour. Remove from pan, turning upside down onto platter to serve. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Homemakers of the nation can do a great service to the farmers by serving milk more often and in different ways. A bowl of cereal and milk for breakfast is not only a nutritional bonus but a way of solving the milk surplus problem.

PENNY for penny, here's a food value team you can't beat—cereal and milk. Whether you start the day with a bowl of cereal and milk, munch on a handful of presweetened cereal, enjoy cereal-made cookies along with a tall glass of cold milk, or use the pair to stretch leftovers into a main dish, few foods can make such a contribution to the satisfaction of daily nutritional needs at such a low cost as does this well-liked combination.

Used together, cereal and milk offer 10 important nutrients—high-quality protein, carbohydrate, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin; iron, phosphorus, calcium, fat, Vitamin A. The calcium is especially important in view of recent studies which show that calcium deficiency in teen-age and adult diets is greater than any other nutritional deficiency . . . You never outgrow your need for cereal and milk.

Upside Down Ham Loaf is designed to use up leftover ham in a glamourous fashion, and it's as much fun to make as that kind of cake. Pretty isn't it? What you can't see is the cereal and milk goodness which makes it such Good Eating in more ways than one.

"Here Comes The Bride"--To The Kitchen

After the honeymoon, sooner or later, every June bride finds herself facing the stove. Her aim . . . to cook a meal her husband will enjoy and she'll be proud to serve.

Whether a freshman or graduate cook, you'll be glad for the many modern foods that help during newlywed days. It's a good idea to browse through your grocery store and note the many cooking helps already for you. Then stock up. Canned meats and fish, condensed soups, precooked-rice, biscuit mix, frozen main dishes, etc.

Next step is to stock up with tempting, easy recipes. Casseroles, naturally, are one of your best bets. Reach to your shelf of convenience foods for a can of mushroom soup and one of tuna—plus a package of noodles. What a heavenly combination you can create with these three. And the variations possible are dazzling. It can be cream of chicken soup with a can of chicken, or cream of celery soup with salmon. Each comes forth as a knock-out noodle casserole. Memorize this prize recipe pattern; then you'll be well on the way to the title of "Best Bride Cook."

Mushroom Tuna Triumph

- 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- ½ cup milk
- 1 cup drained flaked tuna (7-ounce can)
- 1½ cups unsalted cooked noodles (2⅔ ounces uncooked)
- 2 tablespoons diced pimiento
- ¼ cup buttered bread crumbs

Blend soup and milk, then remaining ingredients (except crumbs) in a 1½-quart casserole; sprinkle crumbs on top. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) about 25 minutes. 4 generous servings.

For CELERY SALMON CASSEROLE, follow recipe with tuna; but use salmon instead of tuna. And use cream of celery soup instead of cream of mushroom.

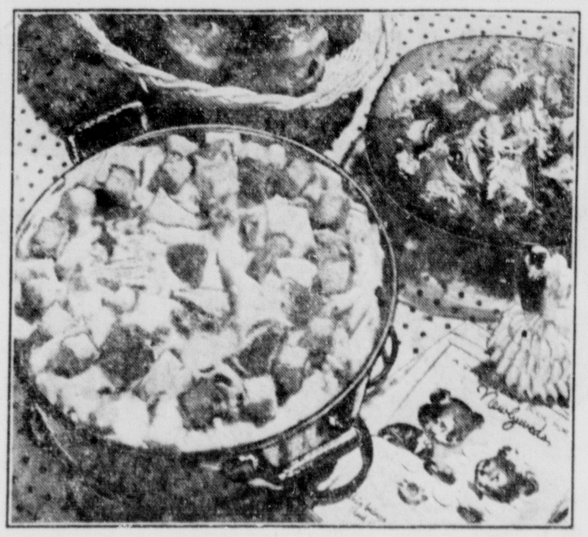
Try Spaghetti With Cheese, Bacon

Fix spaghetti with a topping of melted cheese and crisp bacon; and watch the family race to the table. You can prepare it in no time. Put 8 slices of bacon on to fry. Meanwhile open 2 cans of spaghetti in tomato sauce. When bacon is crisp and brown, remove from skillet, and pour off all but 2 tablespoons of drippings. Pour in the spaghetti and mix gently with the drippings. Place slices of cheese (¼ to ½ pound) over top of spaghetti; cover and heat slowly about 10 minutes or until cheese is partially melted. Serve each portion with strips of bacon criss-crossed on top. Pass a cold-crisp salad of lettuce, curly spinach and tiny carrot strips. Sweet finish is strawberries and cream; coconut cookies.



THAT long-time favorite Casserole of Tuna-Noodles comes to the rescue of new brides and other beginning cooks. Because it's so easy, so good. Use condensed cream of mushroom or celery soup for the sauce to go with tuna-noodles.

Quick Meal Tips For The Busy Homemaker

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — How quickly can you get a meal together? That will depend upon how well you plan it, says nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service.

Whatever the situation may be, it's necessary to do some planning—whether it's ahead of time or at the last minute — in order to save time. Stop and think before you begin to prepare a quick meal. Have in mind a meal pattern to include a protein food, a starch vegetable, plus a green or yellow vegetable, a salad, bread, beverage and perhaps a dessert.

Then figure out what will take the longest time to cook, and go on down to the least time consuming item. Once you have a mental schedule worked out, you can make the most of your time — relying, of course, on some of the home-made and commercial mixes and canned foods.

Look for foods that take little preparation and require little watching so you can attend to other things while they're cooking. Miss Coblentz gives quick-tips to help you get a tasty, nutritious meal together in a hurry:

Use condensed soups in place of cream sauce in casserole dishes made with canned or leftover meat, for scalloped potatoes or souffles. Condensed soups make quick sauces for all kinds of meat dishes. Try cream of celery, cream of mushroom, cream of chicken or cream of tomato soups.

In a hurry and little time to cook vegetables? Serve a relish tray — full of vitamins and minerals so necessary in the everyday diet. Just cut strips of green and yellow raw vegetables; arrange on a tray and serve with cottage cheese dip. Or for a quick hot vegetable, shred cabbage and steam in a small amount of water for seven minutes. Or cook a frozen vegetable.

Canned or fresh fruits are naturals for a quick dessert. Or for a special dessert when unexpected guests come, glamorize cake with the new pudding that requires no cooking.

Breakfast for a bright spring morning: For a starter, a glass of chilled apple juice; then dry cereal with strawberries served with cream; toast and beverage.

Curried Rice-And-Apple Sauce Goes With Lamb Stew

One cheery thought about Curried Rice-and-Apple Sauce is that it can partner a variety of dishes, for a variety of occasions.

You can flash it as a party dish—serve it with a "rich-gravy" lamb stew, as the hot dish that's the "conversation piece" of a buffet supper. Or, for family meals, for guest luncheons or company dinners it's bright and zesty with chicken fricassee, shrimps, lamb chops, beef patties or veal. To go with it, glasses of chilled apple juice are suggested, as a welcome cool contrast to the curry. And either the clarified or non-clarified apple juice is equally refreshing—it's a matter of preference.

You'll discover that this curried dish is sheer joy to make, too. It calls for no complicated doin's, no rare ingredients. You just take two familiar and popular foods—rice and time saving canned apple sauce—add seasonings, and there you are with a triumph of good flavor and good eating.

Curried Rice-And-Apple Sauce

1 cup sliced onions
⅛ cup butter or margaine
1½ cups cooked rice
2 cups canned apple sauce
1 teaspoon curry powder
Few grains salt

Saute onion in butter or margarine until tender and golden brown. Add rice and apple sauce. Mix curry powder with a little cold water; add with salt. Heat thoroughly. Yields 4-6 servings. Serve as an accompaniment to lamb stew, lamb chops and chicken fricassee.

(This is an original recipe kitchen tested by Gertrude Lynn, nationally known Home Economist.)

Chilled canned apple slices mixed with chopped raw prunes is a delicious and wholesome dessert for children and grown-ups alike. Sweeten to taste and serve with milk or light cream.

Thirst quencher pick-up for warm spring day: Apple juice, ice cold from the refrigerator—spiked with lemon juice . . . . a drink for all ages, from the young chick to wise old owl.

When you boil a ham slice, five minutes before it is done, place canned apple slices in the broiler pan and brush with melted butter or margarine. Serve the ham slice flanked by the sizzling hot apple slices. Very good, indeed.

Play up the taste of baked apple by pouring over it apple juice and cream mixed half and half. It's good, too, added to sliced bananas, that is, a half and half blend of cream and apple juice.

Apple juice is of two delicious types—clarified and non-clarified. The non-clarified contains some of the apple pulp. Some families prefer the one and some the other. It's all a matter of choice . . . just another example of how modern processors pack to suit a variety of tastes among consumers. So in buying apple juice you'll find it processed to your taste, clarified or non-clarified . . . in your style, canned or in bottles . . . for your convenience, always handy when you want a quick refreshing drink.

Unique Mixing Bowl

A pouring lip and handle are great conveniences on a mixing bowl. One type is flexible and squeezeable, which aids in emptying it and scraping the sides clean. It's shaped to keep contents gravitating to the middle. Also, it's ruggedly made of polyethylene that won't scuff.

NOW 2 NEW RINSOS!

Rinso White or Rinso Blue

Soap or Detergent? It's up to you!

RINSO WHITE
Now richer than ever!

THIS is the song of Rinso White,
The soap we've made for your delight.
It washes whiter and brighter than new
And saves you barrels of money too.
It's extra rich and it's extra kind

RINSO BLUE
Blues as it washes!

THIS is the song of Rinso Blue,
Complete detergent—completely new.
It blues your wash as it gets it clean
And it's wonderful in your washing machine.
It's swell for dishes and glasses too
This highly remarkable Rinso Blue.

Whether it rhymes or not, every word in these two songs is guaranteed by Lever Brothers Company to be true. And don't forget, when it's got to be really white, use Rinso with Solium—either Rinso, Soap or Detergent.

New York, Chicago And Columbus Lead Race For Site Of New Protestant Center

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — The East and Midwest today appeared to be running a close race to provide the site of a new Protestant center in America.

"It's shaping up for an early decision," said Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, a St. Louis Baptist pastor who heads a key national "Committee of 10" assigned to scout the course.

Three cities — New York, Chicago and Columbus, Ohio — hold the lead. Cleveland is in the running. And others, such as St. Louis, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Pittsburgh and Dayton, can't be counted out entirely.

The 30-denomination National Council of Churches, along with half a dozen individual denominations, are directly concerned with the choice.

"There's been a widely felt need for a more centralized headquarters," Dr. Dahlberg said. "It will greatly facilitate Protestant cooperation."

A major factor that has tipped the scales toward New York, Chicago or Columbus is that offers of land or money for the site of the center have been made in each of the cities.

In New York, a million-dollar contribution has been offered for a downtown or suburban location. The would-be donor hasn't been made public.

The University of Chicago has offered to provide the site on its vast campus.

In Columbus, the newly formed "Temple of Good Will Corp.," launched by the Ohio Council of Churches, has tendered its seven acres of land in the city's civic center and offered to pay moving expenses of the National Council.

The corporation has drawn up tentative architectural plans for a 20-million-dollar, cathedral - like structure, with chapels, conference rooms, huge auditorium and offices for 5,000 workers.

Cleveland's Chamber of Commerce also has sought to bring the project there and suggested available sites. Other propositions may come from other cities before the choice is made.

Main mover in the project is the National Council. Its "Committee of 10," each from a different major denomination and from various parts of the country, holds its next meeting in Chicago May 18.

Out of the meeting may come a recommendation for action by the council's 125-general board when it meets there next day.

Meanwhile, two subcommittees—one championing New York as the site and the other advocating Chicago — are drawing up their cases for the May meetings.

Conceivably, however, the decision could be put off until the council's 800-member general assembly, its supreme governing body, meets in November.

The council's choice, as directed by representatives of the various denominations, will also influence individual denominations planning to relocate.

Dr. Roy G. Ross, council executive secretary, said these denominations have "indicated a deep interest" in the "possibility for a common headquarters" but don't know how to achieve it without council action.

Some church leaders, on the other hand, oppose the idea of locating individual denominational headquarters at the same place with the National Council, and many denominations do not plan to do so. Some are interested only in locating part of their offices at a common center.

Another factor is that the council itself, with its operations now scattered in eight buildings in New York and one in Chicago, is handicapped by this dispersion in coordinating its work.

Adenauer Is Honored By World Brotherhood

BONN, Germany, May 6 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer yesterday became the first German to be honored by a citation from the World Brotherhood, a group that combats religious, racial and national prejudice.

The citation lauded Adenauer's "political courage and Christian faith" and praised his work in setting up the West German Republic and for European unity.

Navy Nurses Stand Better Chance To Wed, Boss Says

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Navy nurses — in the opinion of their new boss — stand a better chance to marry than nurses in civilian hospital.

This has nothing to do with the gold braid on their officer's uniform, says Capt. Wilma Leona Jackson, the newly appointed director of the Navy Nurse Corps.

"It's simply because they are surrounded by more men," she told reporters yesterday.

A smiling petite, fortiesh woman who still calls Union, Ohio—near Dayton — her home, Capt. Jackson expressed her views in the office of her longtime friend and enthusiastic champion of nursing, Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio).

Miss Jackson was sworn in Tuesday to replace Capt. Winnie Gibson.

But the long trek of Navy nurses to the marriage license bureau also poses a difficult problem for Capt. Jackson.

"We have almost 2,500 nurses in the Navy," she explained, "but we need 1,000 more to replace those retiring to get married and for other reasons."

Miss Jackson herself has spent 18 years in the Navy, a career that was briefly interrupted in the early part of the last war when she was captured by the Japanese during the fall of Guam.

She was released in 1942 in an exchange of prisoners.

New York, Chicago And Columbus Lead Race For Site Of New Protestant Center

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — The East and Midwest today appeared to be running a close race to provide the site of a new Protestant center in America.

"It's shaping up for an early decision," said Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, a St. Louis Baptist pastor who heads a key national "Committee of 10" assigned to scout the course.

Three cities — New York, Chicago and Columbus, Ohio — hold the lead. Cleveland is in the running. And others, such as St. Louis, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Pittsburgh and Dayton, can't be counted out entirely.

On the outcome hinges the location of the nation's first centrally planned headquarters for work of Orthodox and Protestant churches.

The 30-denomination National Council of Churches, along with half a dozen individual denominations, are directly concerned with the choice.

"There's been a widely felt need for a more centralized headquarters," Dr. Dahlberg said. "It will greatly facilitate Protestant cooperation."

A major factor that has tipped the scales toward New York, Chicago or Columbus is that offers of land or money for the site of the center have been made in each of the cities.

In New York, a million-dollar contribution has been offered for a downtown or suburban location. The would-be donor hasn't been made public.

The University of Chicago has offered to provide the site on its vast campus.

In Columbus, the newly formed "Temple of Good Will Corp.," launched by the Ohio Council of Churches, has tendered its seven acres of land in the city's civic center and offered to pay moving expenses of the National Council.

The corporation has drawn up tentative architectural plans for a 20-million-dollar, cathedral - like structure, with chapels, conference rooms, huge auditorium and offices for 5,000 workers.

Cleveland's Chamber of Commerce also has sought to bring the project there and suggested available sites. Other propositions may come from other cities before the choice is made.

Main mover in the project is the National Council. Its "Committee of 10," each from a different major denomination and from various parts of the country, holds its next meeting in Chicago May 18.

Out of the meeting may come a recommendation for action by the council's 125-general board when it meets there next day.

Meanwhile, two subcommittees—one championing New York as the site and the other advocating Chicago — are drawing up their cases for the May meetings.

Conceivably, however, the decision could be put off until the council's 800-member general assembly, its supreme governing body, meets in November.

The council's choice, as directed by representatives of the various denominations, will also influence individual denominations planning to relocate.

Dr. Roy G. Ross, council executive secretary, said these denominations have "indicated a deep interest" in the "possibility for a common headquarters" but don't know how to achieve it without council action.

Some church leaders, on the other hand, oppose the idea of locating individual denominational headquarters at the same place with the National Council, and many denominations do not plan to do so. Some are interested only in locating part of their offices at a common center.

Another factor is that the council itself, with its operations now scattered in eight buildings in New York and one in Chicago, is handicapped by this dispersion in coordinating its work.

Adenauer Is Honored By World Brotherhood

BONN, Germany, May 6 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer yesterday became the first German to be honored by a citation from the World Brotherhood, a group that combats religious, racial and national prejudice.

The citation lauded Adenauer's "political courage and Christian faith" and praised his work in setting up the West German Republic and for European unity.

By 1956 there will be an estimated 25 million teen-agers in the United States compared with the 15 million in this age group now.

Navy Nurses Stand Better Chance To Wed, Boss Says

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Navy nurses — in the opinion of their new boss — stand a better chance to marry than nurses in civilian hospital.

This has nothing to do with the gold braid on their officer's uniform, says Capt. Wilma Leona Jackson, the newly appointed director of the Navy Nurse Corps.

"It's simply because they are surrounded by more men," she told reporters yesterday.

A smiling petite, fortiesh woman who still calls Union, Ohio—near Dayton — her home, Capt. Jackson expressed her views in the office of her longtime friend and enthusiastic champion of nursing, Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio).

Miss Jackson was sworn in Tuesday to replace Capt. Winnie Gibson.

But the long trek of Navy nurses to the marriage license bureau also poses a difficult problem for Capt. Jackson.

"We have almost 2,500 nurses in the Navy," she explained, "but we need 1,000 more to replace those retiring to get married and for other reasons."

Miss Jackson herself has spent 18 years in the Navy, a career that was briefly interrupted in the early part of the last war when she was captured by the Japanese during the fall of Guam.

She was released in 1942 in an exchange of prisoners.

Trapping Power From The Sun

Human beings use the energy of the sun when they drive the family car, broil a steak or turn on a radiator. This energy the sun released millions of years ago and vegetation on earth stored it up in the form of oil, gas and coal. Recently-released energy from the sun is reflected in power dams and three square meals a day.

Yet all but a tiny fraction of the solar energy that reaches the earth goes to waste.

This is because man has never been able to devise a very efficient method of harnessing the sun's power directly. He has been trying to do this for perhaps a century, but progress has been held back by the fact that stored-up solar energy has been plentiful and cheap.

It was easier to build a steam engine or a motor truck or an electric power plant than to put the sun's rays to work directly.

Man has kept trying, though, and now it appears that he has a solar engine of practical value. Bell Telephone Company laboratories have announced a "solar battery," which can turn the light rays of the sun into electricity and do it efficiently

When the light falls on thin strips of silicon, treated so that minute traces of impurities are introduced into the atomic structure of their surfaces, electric current is produced.

These strips can be linked together in such a way that a square yard of them will produce 50 watts of electricity. Bell scientists envision such batteries used to power telephones, but it appears that they might also light a house and operate all the household appliances. Whether they could be built at a cost low enough to make them economical remains to be demonstrated, but there are no moving parts to wear out.

There should be a great future in the exploitation of solar energy. The atomic battery recently announced develops only a millionth of a watt and the atomic materials available on earth are limited in quantity. Silicon is everywhere to be found in sand and the sun each day pours forth more than a quadrillion kilowatt hours of energy—which is more than all the energy resources of the earth.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

They Have Troubles Too

Apparently the Russians have their troubles too. Comrades P. Plotnikov and A. Lipatov wrote in "Pravda:"

"Comrade Stalin teaches that is is necessary: 'To remember and never forget that as long as there is capitalist encirclement there will be saboteurs, wreckers, spies and terrorists sent to the Soviet Union's home front by intelligence agencies of foreign states, to remember this and to wage a struggle against comrades who underestimate the importance of the fact of capitalist encirclement, who underestimate the forces and significance of sabotage.' "

The reason for all this is that somebody is stealing documents. Plotnikov and A. Lipatov warn against the spies and saboteurs who steal documents and give them to Americans.

To quote them further:

"With these aims, the imperialists expend tremendous sums on intensifying subversive activity in the USSR and the people's democracies. As is known, the American government officially allocated $100,000,000 in 1951 to finance the operations of spies, saboteurs and wreckers in the USSR and the people's democracies . . ."

The Russians do not have congressional committees and there is nobody like Joe McCarthy around to arouse the workers and peasants, but the Russians do arouse the populace to spy on the spies. This is not a new approach to the subject because even in old Czarist days, many people spied on their neighbors and were well rewarded in the early Bolshevik days, children were encouraged to spy on the bourgeois or kulak parents. But this passage of Plotnikov and Lipatov does sound almost like something that one of us of the anti-Communist movement might have written:

"Each Soviet patriot — worker, collective farmer, member of the intelligentsia—considers it his duty, if he sees an enemy, to help the workers of state security to catch that enemy. Thanks to the vigilance of Soviet patriots in the years of the great patriotic war and in the postwar period, many spies, saboteurs and murderers who made their way into our country were exposed and disarmed."

It appears that G. L. Zaslavky, assistant chief of the Geology Ministry's department of records of reserves, which is a big name for stockpiling, took home a wad of records and permitted them to pass through his hands. No apparatus is named similar to the Fuchs-Rosenberg operation at Los Alamos or the Rosenberg operation at Fort Monmouth, but the nation is warned about security risks.

Look at what they say about the scientists:

"Some comrades who are engaged in scientific research are thoughtless in utilizing secret information and try to show off with it in their writings, thereby harming the cause of preservation of state secrets. That is what N. G. Kazhleyev, formerly assistant chief of a chief administration of the Ministry of the Oil Industry, did. He used secret data without the knowledge of the ministry officials and published them in his dissertation.

"It must be borne in mind that the enemy may use the slightest loophole, any bit of carelessness, to cause harm and to do his dirty work. Talkativeness, criminal carelessness in safeguarding secret documents, tolerance of instances of moral corruption — the infuriated and cunning enemy tries to utilize everything."

This might be a suggestion to Senator McCarthy, when he resumes his investigations. Are they subversive or just showing off? That is altogether a novel explanation—a scientist likes to write dissertations as a columnist likes to write columns. It is a way of telling the world that he is also among the living. Is showing off a criminal offense? Instead of pleading the Fifth Amendment, a scientist might say: "When I gave away the secrets of the hydrogen bomb, I wasn't subversive; I was only showing off."

I just can't help quoting one more bit of this Plotnikov and Lipatov article. It reads so like here at home:

"We have another enemy besides the enemy's agents—the gullibility of our people. We have developed many gullible and careless people. It is the gullibility and carelessness of our people which constitutes nourishing soil for spies and saboteurs. As long as we have gullible and careless people there will be wrecking. That means that to liquidate sabotage it is necessary to put an end to gullibility and carelessness in our ranks."

They have fellow travelers and innocents, too. But somehow they win all the conferences in spite of all that.

Looking Back Over Some Of Our Other Deals

Geneva Conference Is Termed "Worst" Diplomatic Defeat For U. S. In Years

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Unless the Russians pull some unforeseen boner at Geneva, that conference seems slated to be the worst diplomatic defeat for the United States in 20 years.

What Geneva has done is show up the fact that the U.S.A. no longer holds the world's initiative, the balance of power, the trump cards, in the cold war. In Geneva, other diplomats did not come knocking at Dulles' door to find out what the United States wanted. They knocked at Molotov's instead.

For the first time, at Geneva, the United States went back to the days of Hoover and Roosevelt when we could not call the tunes at international conferences. Time after time in those days, we inspired important diplomatic gatherings, only to have them end in failure. This was not because either a Democratic or a Republican administration was in power, or because we didn't try hard. It was because Nazi-Fascist leadership was too strong and because we were too divided at home. So we coasted . . . downhill . . . into war.

Today strong Communist leadership has replaced Nazi-Fascist leadership—at a time when the United States has become woefully divided at home. A nation divided against itself cannot lead, and our European allies know it. That's why we have lost world initiative.

Herbert Hoover lost leadership abroad because of the isolationist split in his own Republican party. Roosevelt couldn't gain leadership —until after Pearl Harbor—because of increasing isolation, especially from some of the same crowd that has come back with such vigor to support McCarthy.

Today the Kremlin obviously reads the newspapers. So do our allies. They know that, regardless of what Mr. Dulles may say at Geneva or Paris or London, he can't carry out what he says without certain Republican senators; without the American people—now confused by McCarthy; and without the morale-shot American Army.

In other words, John Foster Dulles went to Geneva with almost no trump cards in his hand. And when he got there he proceeded to throw away the one card that Molotov thought was a trump.

Will Dulles Resign?

All this was why Dulles left Geneva amid reports that he would resign.

While the reports were denied, it is no secret that the harassed and beleaguered secretary of state has felt terribly depressed.

Once, when heckled before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by the leader of his own party, Knowland of California, Dulles seemed almost on the verge of tears.

"I can't seem to please you gentlemen," he said. "It looks as if there's just no way we can conduct foreign affairs to your liking."

And, as he departed for Geneva, Dulles told advisers that the Republican party's Senate leader, Mr. Knowland, seemed to be the biggest obstacle to Dulles' policies. The Senate leader should lead in supporting Republican policies, not try to block them, he complained.

Dulles Boner

Because of these worries, plus the fact that he was extremely tired and had not enjoyed four weeks of golf, Dulles pulled a boner at Geneva. He held a background press meeting in his Geneva hotel room the night before the conference opened at which he flatly reversed Vice President Nixon and his own statements about U.S. intervention in Indochina. Categorically he stated that we had no intention of doing anything in Indochina. Three weeks before, Nixon had told newspaper editors we might even send troops. But Dulles said we would do no such thing at all.

But more important, Molotov knew within 30 minutes who the author of the nonintervention statement was.

Immediately, Molotov called Communist satellite diplomats together, told them to adopt a hard-fast policy of unconditional surrender in Indochina. Previously, U.S. and Indian observers had picked up what seemed to be reliable reports that Molotov had planned a conciliatory policy. He had been afraid the United States really meant business and might enter Indochina. Now he wasn't afraid. So Communist policy went into reverse overnight.

Eisenhower Vacillation

Dulles of course committed a tragic error when he held that press conference—even though he told the truth. He could have avoided meeting the press. Or he could have said nothing. He should have kept Molotov guessing.

But the basic fault was not actually Dulles'. Momentarily unwise and indiscreet, the real fault goes back to the fact that Dulles was hamstrung by elements of his own political party; also by his own allies; and by administration failure to do anything about Indochina until it was almost too late.

Eisenhower inherited a difficult situation in Indochina not of his own making, but which did not become serious until a truce was signed in Korea. Then, as Moscow shifted Russian arms southward, Indochina became explosive.

Teamwork Results Despite Geneva Discouragement

By David Lawrence

GENEVA — Teamwork between our allies — always difficult to achieve but absolutely essential if we are to checkmate Communist tactics — is slowly emerging here despite earlier discouragements.

Nobody who has not been on the ground at one of these very complex affairs can possibly imagine the plight of the delegation representing the United States of America at the Geneva Conference.

This correspondent has just read a summary of headlines and dispatches in several American newspapers for the last few days, as cabled to officials here, and could not but wonder how it feels to be an American delegate with a carping, faultfinding set of interpretations in many of the articles being printed back home which, when reproduced in Europe, tend to discredit the American delegation and weaken its hand here.

Trend Toward Unity

The facts are simple to state. The American delegation had a broad plan. It was torpedoed in London by the British cabinet before it was launched. Out of deference to our allies and with characteristic poise, Secretary Dulles kept silent. Someone with a more sensitive nature would have blown his top at the outright reversal by the British cabinet on a pledge that had been given. But the British have their troubles, too, and their reasons for moving cautiously. When, however, they saw the criticism of their tactics mounting in official Washington, they took steps to repair the breach. The trend now is toward unity, but it is a difficult course to maintain because the British have interests far different from ours and they are apparently not as ready to accept the responsibilities of collective action in Asia as many Americans had been led to believe.

Unfortunately, also, internal politics in every country, including our own, plays a damaging role and makes negotiating a precarious task. If it isn't a threatened overthrow of the cabinet in France, it's a general election in Australia and, of course, a constant effort by the British Labor party to unseat the Churchill-Eden government.

Battle Of Publicity

None of this, however, handicaps the Communist side. Indeed, the Communists get an abundance of news space not only in Europe but in America. The obsolete propaganda statements of Chou En Lai got equal if not better news treatment in some of the large newspapers in America than the remarkable address by Secretary of State Dulles on the same day. This is a battle of publicity to influence public opinion, and it is tragic that the American press has in some instances been giving the impression that the chief of the American delegation was discredited back home. In fact, one headline from an American newspaper that made a deep impression at Geneva said that Secretary Dulles on his return faced in Washington the stormiest criticism of his career, and there were references to "defeat" and "failure," all of which is utterly at variance with the facts of what actually happened.

This conference hasn't really gotten started. There have been the usual propaganda statements and some informal discussions of ideas and proposals. Any impression that the United States doesn't want to stop the blood-letting in Indochina is false. Any impression that the United States want to intervene militarily is also false. Any impression that America wanted to go into Indochina with the British alone is also wrong. There was from the start a basic plan to line up the allies on a policy that would confront the Communists with an alternative if they didn't make peace in Indochina. That policy was conceived as a means of getting strength at the negotiating table. Great Britain approved the policy and then backed out just on the eve of the Geneva Conference, but since then there has been a reconsideration and some of the original plans have been given sympathetic support once more.

One thing need to be made clear: The United States was given a pledge at Berlin that France would not consent to any plan that meant surrender to the Communists in Indochina. America wants a peaceful settlement there but not by a phony "partition" plan or by the "coalition government" trick that wrecked Poland and Czechoslovakia.

So far as Korea is concerned, there also have been some misleading impressions given. The Red Chinese leader called for a "general election" in Korea without supervision by the U. N. Some of the allies looked with favor on the idea in principle. But there is a lot more to the problem.

Delicate Handling Needed

Thus, how can there be any free election in North Korea if Communist troops are there? How can there be any campaigning throughout the northern part of the country before the voting takes place if coercion prevails? And what happens to the government at Seoul which has been formally recognized by the United Nations and is operating under a constitution adopted by the people in a free election supervised by the U. N.? Is a constitutional government wiped out just because the aggressors want that done? South Korea will have its regular election for its National Assembly on May 20. Must it have another election later on, and does anybody think the central government at Seoul can maintain the morale of its army—the most powerful in Asia outside of the Communist orbit—if the constituted government is to be decapitated by order of the Communist delegations at Geneva?

These are not easy questions to determine and require a lot of delicate handling if the unification of Korea is to be accomplished. Certainly the one million Chinese Communist troops now occuying North Korea will have to be withdrawn before any free election can be held there. Nobody should envy the American negotiators in Geneva.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

All that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh asks about the new Iranian oil line is they put the main valve in his cell.

Five big American tame-catters have mushroomed over Mossy's head like a Yucca Flats cloud.

Way back in 1951 Mossy nationalized the oil industry in Iran. He wanted to be known as the oil khan.

That marked the finish of the Anglo-Iranian concessions in the Close East. Mossy had rubbed the goldplate off Aladdin's wonderful flashlight.

One more turkey shoot like that an Iran was down the drain. Not a wheel turned in the whirling dervish district. Mossy was looking for a toe-hold on a prayer rug.

The shah and Churchill suggested importing a panel of Texans to referee. But cooler heads prevailed.

The Texans are in there now with Shell, Standard Oil, Gulf, Anglo-Iran, Compagnie de Petroles, Socony Vacuum and proxies. You had better study up your piastres, ducats and rimbos. They might start a price war.

That's the end of Mossadegh's Iran-for the Iranians movement. Too many Iranians joined it.

Add Up The Tab In Asia

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON:

The place was "King's House," the Victorian mansion of the governor general of Malaya. The time was less than six months ago. The speaker was Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, the brilliant leader who turned the tide in the struggle against Malaya's Communist guerillas.

"You want to know how a Communist victory in Indochina will affect the situation here," said Sir Gerald with a certain grimness. "Well, I can tell you that very easily. Within a short time after a Communist victory in Indochina, I shall have a major war on my hands here in Malaya."

"But just what do you mean by that?" he was asked.

"I can easily tell you that, too," he replied, with still greater grimness. "All the doubters here will doubt no longer. The support for the jungle guerillas, which we have managed to cut almost to nothing, will immediately and very greatly increase. We shan't be able to stop it.

"By the same token, the morale of the Communists, both guerillas and the underground, is now at rock bottom, but it will immediately go to a new high. After all, their slogan is, 'Father Mao is coming to give us the victory.' Even last year, at the time of the Communist invasion of Laos, we could see the reaction to a Communist success in Indochina on a small scale but very plainly. But you talk of a real victory — of Indochina being actually surrendered to the Communists.

Practical Outlook Clear

"Well, my best estimate is that before very long I would need three additional British divisions to prevent the Malayan situation from getting thoroughly out of control. I think it's justifiable to call that a major war—especially as the British divisions don't exist."

So spoke Sir Gerald, biting off the last words with visible distaste. When he talked last November to one of these reporters, his forecast was hypothetical and remote. Today this Templer forecast has assumed the highest, most immediate and the hardest practical importance. For a surrender of Indochina to the Communists is clearly in the making. The practical outlook is plain.

Nothing can prevent a surrender, any longer, except direct American intervention in the Indochinese fight. It will not be called a surrender, of course, any more than the Munich agreement was called the surrender of Czechoslovakia to Hitler. But it will amount to a surrender all the time; and it is time to count its cost.

The desperate danger in Malaya that Templer so succinctly described is only one item in the price that will have to be paid.

In Indonesia, for example, the Communists are a small minority, yet they have deeply penetrated the ruling party of Indonesia, the Nationalists. In recent months, a most hopeful tendency has developed, for the wiser Nationalists to rebel against the Communist alliance. A function of these anti-Communist Nationalists with the powerful Moslem party, the Masjumi, has become a very likely prospect. By this new line-up, disordered, troubled Indonesia can be saved from the threat of communism.

But the hopeful Indonesian trend will be reversed if the forces of freedom in Asia submit to a decisive defeat in Indochina. Surrender in Indochina, which is one key to southern Asia, will give Indonesia to the Communists in the end.

Opposed Nehru's Proposals

Again, in Burma, the struggle is close-balanced. The courageous leaders of the present Burmese government are stoutly anti-Communist, but they are also personally closer than any other Asian leaders to Jawaharlal Nehru. These Burmese leaders have just shown how they estimated the effects of a surrender in Indochina. At the recent Colombo Conference, they boldly took the lead in opposing their friend Nehru's proposals for Indochinese appeasement.

Burma, too, can hardly survive the shock of the great disaster that is probably in store; and Burma is South Asia's other key.

One other remembered conversation will be enough to complete the computation of this price that will have to be paid. The place, this time, was the Tokyo equivalent of the head office of the National Association of Manufacturers. The speaker, small, shrewd and vigorous, was Ichiro Ishikawa, the leader of this anything but leftist organization of Japan's biggest businessmen. He had been discussing how to prevent the Chinese from using the trade lever to promote communism in Japan. But what would happen in Japan, he was asked, if Indochina and South Asia fell to communism?

"Oh then," he said, with an apologetic smile, "oh then all of us, all Japan will really have to turn Communist. If South Asia is Communist, how else can we live?"

Malaya, Burma, Indonesia, with them Thailand, and after that Japan—they make an ugly bill of loss. Yet this is only the first installment of the tab that history will present to us. No such upset in the world balance of power can possibly occur without forcing upon the free world that same choice that was finally forced upon Neville Chamberlain, because he too did not dare to stop a chain reaction of disaster before it got started.

One can understand, then, why a few wise men, like Secretary of State Dulles and Admiral Radford, are still struggling so desperately to prevent the Indochinese surrender, even after it has begun to seem all but inevitable.

Scientists Probing Origin Of Hardening Of Arteries

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Scientists are trying to find the answers to a multitude of questions on hardening of the arteries. As an example, we do not know whether arteriosclerosis is a disease or a normal process that goes hand in hand with aging. If it is a disease, we may be able to find a preventive to prolong life, but if it is part of aging, all we can hope to do is delay the process and learn how to overcome its bad effects.

Those who believe it is a disease implicate fats and cholesterol because related chemicals are found in the deposits that lead to hardening of the arterial wall. These compounds are present in the food we eat and also are produced by most of our body tissues. It is here that controversy enters the picture because those who point the finger of guilt to diet are reminded that no matter what we eat, cholesterol is manufactured within the body.

Regardless of this argument, our scientists are able to bring on arteriosclerosis in animals by feeding them a diet rich in cholesterol. Whether this is applicable to man is not known. In addition, when the blood of persons with arteriosclerosis contains giant, fatty molecules (lipoproteins), it is possible to decrease the number of these molecules by a diet low in fat and cholesterol.

A recent report tends to refute these findings. Drs. E. B. Man and J. P. Peters studied a group of seven men and nine women on whom the blood was analyzed for fatty acids, cholesterol, and lipid phosphorus. The initial analyses were made when these individuals were 20 to 48 years old. The tests were repeated many years later, and there was no increase in the number of these chemicals as might be expected if they played a role in the development of arteriosclerosis.

Controversies of this nature stimulate research, and there is reason to believe that the answer will be found. As it stands today, the avoidance of fat probably is one of our best defenses against the aging process. A wholesale reduction in dairy products and eggs is not warranted in the light of our present knowledge. To eliminate such items from our menus means a decrease in the intake of protective foods that our nutritional experts have been stressing for years as essential.

The use of eggs and milk products in adult nutrition is a recent innovation; they seldom are taken by native races in whom the incidence of arteriosclerosis is low. The same can be said of animals. Perhaps we are discovering that humans have individual tolerance for foods high in cholesterol and fat, which explains why some are bothered and others escape.

REPLY

Angina may last several years but it can be kept under control through the use of vasodilating drugs and the avoidance of overexertion. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on angina pectoris.

INHALED STONE DUST

F. J. writes: I have a bad case of silicosis and have been unable to work for two years because of shortness of breath. Isn't there some way I could be operated on in order to be a well man again?

REPLY

Surgery seldom is helpful because irritation is not confined to a single lobe; it is scattered throughout both lungs.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Trapping Power From The Sun

Human beings use the energy of the sun when they drive the family car, broil a steak or turn on a radiator. This energy the sun released millions of years ago and vegetation on earth stored it up in the form of oil, gas and coal. Recently-released energy from the sun is reflected in power dams and three square meals a day.

Yet all but a tiny fraction of the solar energy that reaches the earth goes to waste.

This is because man has never been able to devise a very efficient method of harnessing the sun's power directly. He has been trying to do this for perhaps a century, but progress has been held back by the fact that stored-up solar energy has been plentiful and cheap.

It was easier to build a steam engine or a motor truck or an electric power plant than to put the sun's rays to work directly.

Man has kept trying, though, and now it appears that he has a solar engine of practical value. Bell Telephone Company laboratories have announced a "solar battery," which can turn the light rays of the sun into electricity and do it efficiently.

When the light falls on thin strips of silicon, treated so that minute traces of impurities are introduced into the atomic structure of their surfaces, electric current is produced.

These strips can be linked together in such a way that a square yard of them will produce 50 watts of electricity. Bell scientists envision such batteries used to power telephones, but it appears that they might also light a house and operate all the household appliances. Whether they could be built at a cost low enough to make them economical remains to be demonstrated, but there are no moving parts to wear out.

There should be a great future in the exploitation of solar energy. The atomic battery recently announced develops only a millionth of a watt and the atomic materials available on earth are limited in quantity. Silicon is everywhere to be found in sand and the sun each day pours forth more than a quadrillion kilowatt hours of energy—which is more than all the energy resources of the earth.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

They Have Troubles Too

Apparently the Russians have their troubles too. Comrades P. Plotnikov and A. Lipatov wrote in "Pravda:"

"Comrade Stalin teaches that is is necessary: 'To remember and never forget that as long as there is capitalist encirclement there will be saboteurs, wreckers, spies and terrorists sent to the Soviet Union's home front by intelligence agencies of foreign states, to remember this and to wage a struggle against comrades who underestimate the importance of the fact of capitalist encirclement, who underestimate the forces and significance of sabotage.'"

The reason for all this is that somebody is stealing documents. Plotnikov and A. Lipatov warn against the spies and saboteurs who steal documents and give them to Americans.

To quote them further:

"With these aims, the imperialists expend tremendous sums on intensifying subversive activity in the USSR and the people's democracies. As is known, the American government officially allocated $100,000,000 in 1951 to finance the operations of spies, saboteurs and wreckers in the USSR and the people's democracies . . ."

The Russians do not have congressional committees and there is nobody like Joe McCarthy around to arouse the workers and peasants, but the Russians do arouse the populace to spy on the spies. This is not a new approach to the subject because even in old Czarist days, many people spied on their neighbors and were well rewarded in the early Bolshevik days, children were encouraged to spy on the bourgeois or kulak parents. But this passage of Plotnikov and Lipatov does sound almost like something that one of us of the anti-Communist movement might have written:

"Each Soviet patriot — worker, collective farmer, member of the intelligentsia—considers it his duty, if he sees an enemy, to help the workers of state security to catch that enemy. Thanks to the vigilance of Soviet patriots in the years of the great patriotic war and in the postwar period, many spies, saboteurs and murderers who made their way into our country were exposed and disarmed."

It appears that G. L. Zaslavky, assistant chief of the Geology Ministry's department of records of reserves, which is a big name for stockpiling, took home a wad of records and permitted them to pass through his hands. No apparatus is named similar to the Fuchs-Rosenberg operation at Los Alamos or the Rosenberg operation at Fort Monmouth, but the nation is warned about security risks.

Look at what they say about the scientists:

"Some comrades who are engaged in scientific research are thoughtless in utilizing secret information and try to show off with it in their writings, thereby harming the cause of preservation of state secrets. That is what N. G. Kazhleyev, formerly assistant chief of a chief administration of the Ministry of the Oil Industry, did. He used secret data without the knowledge of the ministry officials and published them in his dissertation.

"It must be borne in mind that the enemy may use the slightest loophole, any bit of carelessness, to cause harm and to do his dirty work. Talkativeness, criminal carelessness in safeguarding secret documents, tolerance of instances of moral corruption — the infuriated and cunning enemy tries to utilize everything."

This might be a suggestion to Senator McCarthy, when he resumes his investigations. Are they subversive or just showing off? That is altogether a novel explanation—a scientist likes to write dissertations as a columnist likes to write columns. It is a way of telling the world that he is also among the living. Is showing off a criminal offense? Instead of pleading the Fifth Amendment, a scientist might say: "When I gave away the secrets of the hydrogen bomb, I wasn't subversive; I was only showing off."

I just can't help quoting one more bit of this Plotnikov and Lipatov article. It reads so like here at home:

"We have another enemy besides the enemy's agents—the gullibility of our people. We have developed many gullible and careless people. It is the gullibility and carelessness of our people which constitutes nourishing soil for spies and saboteurs. As long as we have gullible and careless people there will be wrecking. That means that to liquidate sabotage it is necessary to put an end to gullibility and carelessness in our ranks."

They have fellow travelers and innocents, too. But somehow they win all the conferences in spite of all that.

Looking Back Over Some Of Our Other Deals

Geneva Conference Is Termed "Worst" Diplomatic Defeat For U. S. In Years

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Unless the Russians pull some unforeseen boner at Geneva, that conference seems slated to be the worst diplomatic defeat for the United States in 20 years.

What Geneva has done is show up the fact that the U.S.A. no longer holds the world's initiative, the balance of power, the trump cards, in the cold war. In Geneva, other diplomats did not come knocking at Dulles' door to find out what the United States wanted. They knocked at Molotov's instead.

For the first time, at Geneva, the United States went back to the days of Hoover and Roosevelt when we could not call the tunes at international conferences. Time after time in those days, we inspired important diplomatic gatherings, only to have them end in failure. This was not because either a Democratic or a Republican administration was in power, or because we didn't try hard. It was because Nazi-Fascist leadership was too strong and because we were too divided at home. So we coasted . . . downhill . . . into war.

Today strong Communist leadership has replaced Nazi-Fascist leadership—at a time when the United States has become woefully divided at home. A nation divided against itself cannot lead, and our European allies know it. That's why we have lost world initiative.

Herbert Hoover lost leadership abroad because of the isolationist split in his own Republican party. Roosevelt couldn't gain leadership —until after Pearl Harbor—because of increasing isolation, especially from some of the same crowd that has come back with such vigor to support McCarthy.

Today the Kremlin obviously reads the newspapers. So do our allies. They know that, regardless of what Mr. Dulles may say at Geneva or Paris or London, he can't carry out what he says without certain Republican senators; without the American people—now confused by McCarthy; and without the morale-shot American Army.

In other words, John Foster Dulles went to Geneva with almost no trump cards in his hand. And when he got there he proceeded to throw away the one card that Molotov thought was a trump.

Will Dulles Resign?

All this was why Dulles left Geneva amid reports that he would resign.

While the reports were denied, it is no secret that the harassed and beleaguered secretary of state has felt terribly depressed.

Once, when heckled before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by the leader of his own party, Knowland of California, Dulles seemed almost on the verge of tears.

"I can't seem to please you gentlemen," he said. "It looks as if there's just no way we can conduct foreign affairs to your liking."

And, as he departed for Geneva, Dulles told advisers that the Republican party's Senate leader, Mr. Knowland, seemed to be the biggest obstacle to Dulles' policies. The Senate leader should lead in supporting Republican policies, not try to block them, he complained.

Dulles Boner

Because of these worries, plus the fact that he was extremely tired and had not enjoyed four weeks of golf, Dulles pulled a boner at Geneva. He held a background press meeting in his Geneva hotel room the night before the conference opened at which he flatly reversed Vice President Nixon and his own statements about U.S. intervention in Indochina. Categorically he stated that we had no intention of doing anything in Indochina. Three weeks before, Nixon had told newspaper editors we might even send troops. But Dulles said we would do no such thing at all.

But more important, Molotov knew within 30 minutes who the author of the nonintervention statement was.

Immediately, Molotov called Communist satellite diplomats together, told them to adopt a hard-fast policy of unconditional surrender in Indochina. Previously, U.S. and Indian observers had picked up what seemed to be reliable reports that Molotov had planned a conciliatory policy. He had been afraid the United States really meant business and might enter Indochina. Now he wasn't afraid. So Communist policy went into reverse overnight.

Eisenhower Vacillation

Dulles of course committed a tragic error when he held that press conference—even though he told the truth. He could have avoided meeting the press. Or he could have said nothing. He should have kept Molotov guessing.

But the basic fault was not actually Dulles'. Momentarily unwise and indiscreet, the real fault goes back to the fact that Dulles was hamstrung by elements of his own political party; also by his own allies; and by administration failure to do anything about Indochina until it was almost too late.

Eisenhower inherited a difficult situation in Indochina not of his own making, but which did not become serious until a truce was signed in Korea. Then, as Moscow shifted Russian arms southward, Indochina became explosive.

Teamwork Results Despite Geneva Discouragement

By David Lawrence

GENEVA — Teamwork between our allies — always difficult to achieve but absolutely essential if we are to checkmate Communist tactics — is slowly emerging here despite earlier discouragements.

Nobody who has not been on the ground at one of these very complex affairs can possibly imagine the plight of the delegation representing the United States of America at the Geneva Conference.

This correspondent has just read a summary of headlines and dispatches in several American newspapers for the last few days, as cabled to officials here, and could not but wonder how it feels to be an American delegate with a carping, faultfinding set of interpretations in many of the articles being printed back home which, when reproduced in Europe, tend to discredit the American delegation and weaken its hand here.

Trend Toward Unity

The facts are simple to state. The American delegation had a broad plan. It was torpedoed in London by the British cabinet before it was launched. Out of deference to our allies and with characteristic poise, Secretary Dulles kept silent. Someone with a more sensitive nature would have blown his top at the outright reversal by the British cabinet on a pledge that had been given. But the British have their troubles, too, and their reasons for moving cautiously. When, however, they saw the criticism of their tactics mounting in official Washington, they took steps to repair the breach. The trend now is toward unity, but it is a difficult course to maintain because the British have interests far different from ours and they are apparently not as ready to accept the responsibilities of collective action in Asia as many Americans had been led to believe.

Unfortunately, also, internal politics in every country, including our own, plays a damaging role and makes negotiating a precarious task. If it isn't a threatened overthrow of the cabinet in France, it's a general election in Australia and, of course, a constant effort by the British Labor party to unseat the Churchill-Eden government.

Battle Of Publicity

None of this, however, handicaps the Communist side. Indeed, the Communists get an abundance of news space not only in Europe but in America. The obsolete propaganda statements of Chou En Lai got equal if not better news treatment in some of the large newspapers in America than the remarkable address by Secretary of State Dulles on the same day. This is a battle of publicity to influence public opinion, and it is tragic that the American press has in some instances been giving the impression that the chief of the American delegation was discredited back home. In fact, one headline from an American newspaper that made a deep impression at Geneva said that Secretary Dulles on his return faced in Washington the stormiest criticism of his career, and there were references to "defeat" and "failure," all of which is utterly at variance with the facts of what actually happened.

This conference hasn't really gotten started. There have been the usual propaganda statements and some informal discussions of ideas and proposals. Any impression that the United States doesn't want to stop the blood-letting in Indochina is false. Any impression that the United States want to intervene militarily is also false. Any impression that America wanted to go into Indochina with the British alone is also wrong. There was from the start a basic plan to line up the allies on a policy that would confront the Communists with an alternative if they didn't make peace in Indochina. That policy was conceived as a means of getting strength at the negotiating table. Great Britain approved the policy and then backed out just on the eve of the Geneva Conference, but since then there has been a reconsideration and some of the original plans have been given sympathetic support once more.

One thing need to be made clear: The United States was given a pledge at Berlin that France would not consent to any plan that meant surrender to the Communists in Indochina. America wants a peaceful settlement there but not by a phony "partition" plan or by the "coalition government" trick that wrecked Poland and Czechoslovakia.

So far as Korea is concerned, there also have been some misleading impressions given. The Red Chinese leader called for a "general election" in Korea without supervision by the U. N. Some of the allies looked with favor on the idea in principle. But there is a lot more to the problem.

Delicate Handling Needed

Thus, how can there be any free election in North Korea if Communist troops are there? How can there be any campaigning throughout the northern part of the country before the voting takes place if coercion prevails? And what happens to the government at Seoul which has been formally recognized by the United Nations and is operating under a constitution adopted by the people in a free election supervised by the U. N.? Is a constitutional government wiped out just because the aggressors want that done? South Korea will have its regular election for its National Assembly on May 20. Must it have another election later on, and does anybody think the central government at Seoul can maintain the morale of its army—the most powerful in Asia outside of the Communist orbit—if the constituted government is to be decapitated by order of the Communist delegations at Geneva?

These are not easy questions to determine and require a lot of delicate handling if the unification of Korea is to be accomplished. Certainly the one million Chinese Communist troops now occuying North Korea will have to be withdrawn before any free election can be held there. Nobody should envy the American negotiators in Geneva.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

All that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh asks about the new Iranian oil line is they put the main valve in his cell.

Five big American tame-catters have mushroomed over Mossy's head like a Yucca Flats cloud.

Way back in 1951 Mossy nationalized the oil industry in Iran. He wanted to be known as the oil khan.

That marked the finish of the Anglo-Iranian concessions in the Close East. Mossy had rubbed the goldplate off Aladdin's wonderful flashlight.

One more turkey shoot like that an Iran was down the drain. Not a wheel turned in the whirling dervish district. Mossy was looking for a toe-hold on a prayer rug.

The shah and Churchill suggested importing a panel of Texans to referee. But cooler heads prevailed.

The Texans are in there now with Shell, Standard Oil, Gulf, Anglo-Iran, Compagnie de Petroles, Socony Vacuum and proxies. You had better study up your piastres, ducats and rimbos. They might start a price war.

That's the end of Mossadegh's Iran-for the Iranians movement. Too many Iranians joined it.

Add Up The Tab In Asia

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON:

The place was "King's House," the Victorian mansion of the governor general of Malaya. The time was less than six months ago. The speaker was Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, the brilliant leader who turned the tide in the struggle against Malaya's Communist guerillas.

"You want to know how a Communist victory in Indochina will affect the situation here," said Sir Gerald with a certain grimness. "Well, I can tell you that very easily. Within a short time after a Communist victory in Indochina, I shall have a major war on my hands here in Malaya."

"But just what do you mean by that?" he was asked.

"I can easily tell you that, too," he replied, with still greater grimness. "All the doubters here will doubt no longer. The support for the jungle guerillas, which we have managed to cut almost to nothing, will immediately and very greatly increase. We shan't be able to stop it.

"By the same token, the morale of the Communists, both guerillas and the underground, is now at rock bottom, but it will immediately go to a new high. After all, their slogan is, 'Father Mao is coming to give us the victory.' Even last year, at the time of the Communist invasion of Laos, we could see the reaction to a Communist success in Indochina on a small scale but very plainly. But you talk of a real victory — of Indochina being actually surrendered to the Communists.

Practical Outlook Clear

"Well, my best estimate is that before very long I would need three additional British divisions to prevent the Malayan situation from getting thoroughly out of control. I think it's justifiable to call that a major war—especially as the British divisions don't exist."

So spoke Sir Gerald, biting off the last words with visible distaste. When he talked last November to one of these reporters, his forecast was hypothetical and remote. Today this Templer forecast has assumed the highest, most immediate and the hardest practical importance. For a surrender of Indochina to the Communists is clearly in the making. The practical outlook is plain.

Nothing can prevent a surrender, any longer, except direct American intervention in the Indochinese fight. It will not be called a surrender, of course, any more than the Munich agreement was called the surrender of Czechoslovakia to Hitler. But it will amount to a surrender all the time; and it is time to count its cost.

The desperate danger in Malaya that Templer so succinctly described is only one item in the price that will have to be paid.

In Indonesia, for example, the Communists are a small minority, yet they have deeply penetrated the ruling party of Indonesia, the Nationalists. In recent months, a most hopeful tendency has developed, for the wiser Nationalists to rebel against the Communist alliance. A function of these anti-Communist Nationalists with the powerful Moslem party, the Masjumi, has become a very likely prospect. By this new line-up, disordered, troubled Indonesia can be saved from the threat of communism.

But the hopeful Indonesian trend will be reversed if the forces of freedom in Asia submit to a decisive defeat in Indochina. Surrender in Indochina, which is one key to southern Asia, will give Indonesia to the Communists in the end.

Opposed Nehru's Proposals

Again, in Burma, the struggle is close-balanced. The courageous leaders of the present Burmese government are stoutly anti-Communist, but they are also personally closer than any other Asian leaders to Jawaharlal Nehru. These Burmese leaders have just shown how they estimated the effects of a surrender in Indochina. At the recent Colombo Conference, they boldly took the lead in opposing their friend Nehru's proposals for Indochinese appeasement.

Burma, too, can hardly survive the shock of the great disaster that is probably in store; and Burma is South Asia's other key.

One other remembered conversation will be enough to complete the computation of this price that will have to be paid. The place, this time, was the Tokyo equivalent of the head office of the National Association of Manufacturers. The speaker, small, shrewd and vigorous, was Ichiro Ishikawa, the leader of this anything but leftist organization of Japan's biggest businessmen. He had been discussing how to prevent the Chinese from using the trade lever to promote communism in Japan. But what would happen in Japan, he was asked, if Indochina and South Asia fell to communism?

"Oh then," he said, with an apologetic smile, "oh then all of us, all Japan will really have to turn Communist. If South Asia is Communist, how else can we live?"

Malaya, Burma, Indonesia, with them Thailand, and after that Japan—they make an ugly bill of loss. Yet this is only the first installment of the tab that history will present to us. No such upset in the world balance of power can possibly occur without forcing upon the free world that same choice that was finally forced upon Neville Chamberlain, because he too did not dare to stop a chain reaction of disaster before it got started.

One can understand, then, why a few wise men, like Secretary of State Dulles and Admiral Radford, are still struggling so desperately to prevent the Indochinese surrender, even after it has begun to seem all but inevitable.

Scientists Probing Origin Of Hardening Of Arteries

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Scientists are trying to find the answers to a multitude of questions on hardening of the arteries. As an example, we do not know whether arteriosclerosis is a disease or a normal process that goes hand in hand with aging. If it is a disease, we may be able to find a preventive to prolong life, but if it is part of aging, all we can hope to do is delay the process and learn how to overcome its bad effects.

Those who believe it is a disease implicate fats and cholesterol because related chemicals are found in the deposits that lead to hardening of the arterial wall. These compounds are present in the food we eat and also are produced by most of our body tissues. It is here that controversy enters the picture because those who point the finger of guilt to diet are reminded that no matter what we eat, cholesterol is manufactured within the body.

Regardless of this argument, our scientists are able to bring on arteriosclerosis in animals by feeding them a diet rich in cholesterol. Whether this is applicable to man is not known. In addition, when the blood of persons with arteriosclerosis contains giant, fatty molecules (lipoproteins), it is possible to decrease the number of these molecules by a diet low in fat and cholesterol.

A recent report tends to refute these findings. Drs. E. B. Man and J. P. Peters studied a group of seven men and nine women on whom the blood was analyzed for fatty acids, cholesterol, and lipid phosphorus. The initial analyses were made when these individuals were 20 to 48 years old. The tests were repeated many years later, and there was no increase in the number of these chemicals as might be expected if they played a role in the development of arteriosclerosis.

Controversies of this nature stimulate research, and there is reason to believe that the answer will be found. As it stands today, the avoidance of fat probably is one of our best defenses against the aging process. A wholesale reduction in dairy products and eggs is not warranted in the light of our present knowledge. To eliminate such items from our menus means a decrease in the intake of protective foods that our nutritional experts have been stressing for years as essential.

The use of eggs and milk products in adult nutrition is a recent innovation; they seldom are taken by native races in whom the incidence of arteriosclerosis is low. The same can be said of animals. Perhaps we are discovering that humans have individual tolerance for foods high in cholesterol and fat, which explains why some are bothered and others escape.

"Our State Department has called Jaycee International the best non-governmental force to bring about world peace," Kenelm L. Shirk Jr., new president of the Pennsylvania Jaycees, told the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

A 31-year-old Lancaster, Pa., attorney who has served as parliamentarian of the U. S. The world needs leadership and the growth of young men for leadership through Jaycee activities is an important step in the right direction, Shirk said. In Jaycee affairs young men learn not to quit if they don't get their way. They think up new arguments for their case, and if these are not convincing they are willing to compromise.

In closing, Shirk pointed out that the Jaycee Creed states that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to life.

"We have been placed here to develop our talents," Shirk asserted. "During the coming year you new Cumberland Jaycee officers, elected here tonight, must be dedicated to the fuller development of your talents. If you do that Cumberland will be a better community and Maryland a better state."

Forestry Report Stresses Public Relation Setup

105 Groups Visited In 1953 Program

The Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, in its public relations program last year, contacted 105,953 persons through Allegany County meetings.

William H. oJhnson, district forester, yesterday said members of his office conducted programs before 105 different groups. Discussed at the various meetings were such subjects as scientific forestry research, conservation policies, fire prevention and control, promotion of wildlife, state recreation facilities, preservation of historical sites, care of shade trees and methods of cutting and marketing timber.

Among the various groups visited during 1953 and the number of persons contacted by the local forester's office staff include:

Fifty-six schools, 15,364 persons; 3 farm youth groups, 68 persons; four Boy Scout meetings, 3,235 persons; three Girl Scout gatherings, 245 in attendance.

Three parent-teacher association meetings, 146 persons; five civic and service clubs, 124 persons; 12 adult social and sportsmen organizations, 75,629 persons; 11 volunteer fire departments with 741 firemen in attendance; a teachers meeting with 25 persons present and seven miscellaneous meetings with a total of 10,376 persons present.

In Garrett County 61 groups were contacted including 4,048 persons while in Frederick County 23 groups and 1,866 persons were contacted. In Washington County 15 groups with 15,326 persons in attendance were contacted. In charge of much of the public relation program for this District is Brook Bodkin, forest supervisor.

37 More Citizens Register To Vote

Some 37 more Allegany County residents were registered yesterday so they can vote in the state and county primary election Monday, June 28.

The Democrats got the edge, 19 to 18. At Rawlings yesterday 13 were signed, seven Democrats and six Republicans. The Cresaptown registration last night was equally divided, 12 Democrats and the same number of Republicans.

These were the last special visits of the substitute registrars, Mrs. Zena J. Davis and John R. Kelly, until Wednesday, May 26. The office of the Board of Election Supervisors at the Court House is open for registration Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1 until 4 p. m. and from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays.

Campaign Against Pigeons Is Being Conducted In City

An active campaign has been started against pigeons and starlings in Cumberland as a part of Clean-Up Week, according to Anthony J. Saeli, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Saeli and representatives of an extermination company met Wednesday in the Chamber's office to discuss the eradication of the pestiforous birds.

The Footer Building is being cleaned up of pigeon filth, and yesterday the extermination company announced that it had been awarded a contract by the Holly Stores, Inc., to treat the building at the corner of Baltimore and North Centre Streets.

Prepared To Act

Saeli said these two projects are a direct outgrowth of a meeting in February of businessmen and building owners of the business section with Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer.

At that time, the Department of Health and the businessmen decided to do something about pigeon and starling damage.

The Baltimore Street building job will be started next week, during Clean-Up Week sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Bird repellant will be applied to the roof of the three-story structure. It is a chemical paste preparation and the metal roof has to be cleaned by the use of mineral oil and a steel brush. This paste is good for a year. The compound resembles a light grease when applied, but later it becomes hard and invisible. While there is no odor apparent to humans, birds cannot stand its smell.

The dirt inside the loft, between the roof and third floor ceiling, will be removed. The pigeons have been entering the loft through crevices beneath the eves and have deposited hundreds of pounds of filth.

Disease Traced

The acid in the excrement has damaged the metal roof and this will be repaired before the repellant is applied.

The repellant will also be placed on ledges, window sills, wires and any other place where the birds roost. Unused wires on the east side of the building will be torn down.

A company spokesman pointed out that the Indiana Health Department has declared that several cases of psittacosis (parrot fever) have been traced to pigeon filth deposits that have dried and carried by the wind over a wide area.

Scientists also suspect pigeons as principal carriers of a tiny parasite which causes toxoplasmosis, a highly fatal disease.

Jaycees Hear Pa. President

"Our State Department has called Jaycee International the best non-governmental force to bring about world peace," Kenelm L. Shirk Jr., new president of the Pennsylvania Jaycees, told the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

A 31-year-old Lancaster, Pa., attorney who has served as parliamentarian of the U. S. Jaycees ever since 1949, Shirk madeh is first appearance at a Jaycee function since his election last Saturday as Pennsylvania president, when he addressed the Cumberland Jaycees Wednesday night at Ali Ghan Country Club.

The world needs leadership and the growth of young men for leadership through Jaycee activities is an important step in the right direction, Shirk said. In Jaycee affairs young men learn not to quit if they don't get their way. They think up new arguments for their case, and if these are not convincing they are willing to compromise.

In closing, Shirk pointed out that the Jaycee Creed states that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to life.

"We have been placed here to develop our talents," Shirk asserted. "During the coming year you new Cumberland Jaycee officers, elected here tonight, must be dedicated to the fuller development of your talents. If you do that Cumberland will be a better community and Maryland a better state."

Nazarene Church Holding Revival

Evangelistic meetings are being held each evening at 7:30 at the Church of the Nazarene, Bowman's Addition, and will continue through May 16.

Guest evangelists are Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Lewis, of Dunkirk, N. Y. In addition to Rev. Lewis' preaching, the yoffer a program of music.

Rev. Lewis plays the marimba and his wife the piano and accordion. Rev. Joseph L. Hoopengardner, pastor of the church, said Rev. Lewis and his wife have been conducting evangelistic services in the Eastern part of the United States.

Rev. Lewis received his education at Eastern Nazarene College, Woolaston, Mass. He has served as pastor in churches in Canada, Rhode Island, New York and Maine.

The public is invited to attend the evening services.

Forestry Report Stresses Public Relation Setup

105 Groups Visited In 1953 Program

The Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, in its public relations program last year, contacted 105,953 persons through Allegany County meetings.

William H. oJhnson, district forester, yesterday said members of his office conducted programs before 105 different groups. Discussed at the various meetings were such subjects as scientific forestry research, conservation policies, fire prevention and control, promotion of wildlife, state recreation facilities, preservation of historical sites, care of shade trees and methods of cutting and marketing timber.

Among the various groups visited during 1953 and the number of persons contacted by the local forester's office staff include:

Fifty-six schools, 15,364 persons; 3 farm youth groups, 68 persons; four Boy Scout meetings, 3,235 persons; three Girl Scout gatherings, 245 in attendance.

Three parent-teacher association meetings, 146 persons; five civic and service clubs, 124 persons; 12 adult social and sportsmen organizations, 75,629 persons; 11 volunteer fire departments with 741 firemen in attendance; a teachers meeting with 25 persons present and seven miscellaneous meetings with a total of 10,376 persons present.

In Garrett County 61 groups were contacted including 4,048 persons while in Frederick County 23 groups and 1,866 persons were contacted. In Washington County 15 groups with 15,326 persons in attendance were contacted. In charge of much of the public relation program for this District is Brook Bodkin, forest supervisor.

Elks, Legion To Perform At VA Center

Portions of the "Minstrelks of 1954" will be presented at the Baker VA Center, Martinsburg, Sunday, May 23, at 7 p. m. (EDT), according to French Sensbaugh, director of the production presented here to l rge crowds in March.

Arrangements for the performance at the VA Center by Cumberland Lodge 63, B.P.O. Elks, are being made by Mrs. Effie Vogel, chairman of the sponsoring group, the Auxiliary Unit of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and R. S. Marnocha, special service director at the Center.

The invitation to entertain veterans at t e VA hospital was accepted by members of the cast at a recent party tendered them by Cumberland Lodge, and Director Sensabaugh yesterday called a "get-together" rehearsal of the entire cast for this Sunday at 2 p. m. (EDT) at the Elks Club.

The rehearsal is necessary, Sensabaugh added, so that certain numbers can be polished and changes made to fit numbers to stage facilities at the Center, and also to outline transportation arrangements and other details.

The entire project is on the basis of voluntary contributions of time, talent and transportation.

May Procession Set At St. Anthony's

St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley, will hold its annual May procession Sunday at 3 p. m., according to Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor.

The children of the parish will meet in the church basement at 2:30 p. m., he added.

Miss Patricia Simmons will be crowned queen and Miss Joan Wilt will be crown bearer. Miss Inez Sirna will read the act of consecration.

Rev. Kenneth M. Rizer, pastor of the Catholic Church of Assumption, Keyser, will preach the sermon. Miss Angela Long will be in charge of the music.

Services Being Held At Davis Memorial

Rev. Charles S. Thompson Jr., of Morgantown, W. Va., will be the leader for a series of evangelistic services at Davis Memorial Church on Oldtown Road which opened last night at 7:30 o'clock.

Sponsored by the Young Peoples League the services will include a program of music by Mrs. Thompson on the piano. Rev. and Mrs. Thompson will sing several numbers at each of the services scheduled to continue to May 16.

Both Rev. Mr. Thompson and his wife are graduates of Asbury College. The minister served with the Air Force during World War II and preached his first sermon while in uniform.

Four Area Youths Enlist In Marines

Four area men have enlisted in the Marine Corps at the local recruiting station and have been assigned to Parris Island, S. C., for basic training, according to Sgt. Donald Coleman, recruiter.

They are Lue Berkeley Lease, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Lease, 20 South Paw Paw Way; Robert Edward King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward King, Oakland; Grant Dorn Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Davis, Flintstone; and Donald Arwood Weatherholt, son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Weatherholt, Moorefield. The first two enlistees mentioned signed up for three years while the other two are four-year enlistees.

AWOL Man's Family Reported Destitute

A 33-year-old father of four was taken into custody early yesterday after "several Allegany High School teachers" complained he was keeping his 15-year-old daughter out of classes due to mistreatment and hunger.

Detective Lt. James E. Van said the prisoner, Russell L. Hanlon, 600-block North Centre Street, has been AWOL from Fort Meade since March 24. He was held for military authorities.

Following interrogation of Hanlon, Lt. Van contacted the Allegany County Welfare Board for assistance.

Police were told that Hanlon's wife, Leona, 33, and the children ranging from 18 months to 15 "ave not had a good meal for three or four days."

Hanlon, a soldier for more than seven years, said his destitute family had adequate clothing but needed shoes.

The home was in a state of disbevelment when officers investigated. Broken furniture was found in the living quarters.

Hanlon stated he "fished a little" and worked around the house but did not have employment.

Elks, Legion To Perform At VA Center

Portions of the "Minstrelks of 1954" will be presented at the Baker VA Center, Martinsburg, Sunday, May 23, at 7 p. m. (EDT), according to French Sensbaugh, director of the production presented here to large crowds in March.

Arrangements for the performance at the VA Center by Cumberland Lodge 63, B.P.O. Elks, are being made by Mrs. Effie Vogel, chairman of the sponsoring group, the Auxiliary Unit of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and R. S. Marnocha, special service director at the Center.

The invitation to entertain veterans at the VA hospital was accepted by members of the cast at a recent party tendered them by Cumberland Lodge, and Director Sensabaugh yesterday called a "get-together" rehearsal of the entire cast for this Sunday at 2 p. m. (EDT) at the Elks Club.

The rehearsal is necessary, Sensabaugh added, so that certain numbers can be polished and changes made to fit numbers to stage facilities at the Center, and also to outline transportation arrangements and other details.

The entire project is on the basis of voluntary contributions of time, talent and transportation.

May Procession Set At St. Anthony's

St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley, will hold its annual May procession Sunday at 3 p. m., according to Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor.

The children of the parish will meet in the church basement at 2:30 p. m., he added.

Miss Patricia Simmons will be crowned queen and Miss Joan Wilt will be crown bearer. Miss Inez Sirna will read the act of consecration.

Rev. Kenneth M. Rizer, pastor of the Catholic Church of Assumption, Keyser, will preach the sermon. Miss Angela Long will be in charge of the music.

Services Being Held At Davis Memorial

Rev. Charles S. Thompson Jr., of Morgantown, W. Va., will be the leader for a series of evangelistic services at Davis Memorial Church on Oldtown Road which opened last night at 7:30 o'clock.

Sponsored by the Young Peoples League the services will include a program of music by Mrs. Thompson on the piano. Rev. and Mrs. Thompson will sing several numbers at each of the services scheduled to continue to May 16.

Both Rev. Mr. Thompson and his wife are graduates of Asbury College. The minister served with the Air Force during World War II and preached his first sermon while in uniform.

Cows perspire very little and barns must be constructed so that cows will not suffer under high temperatures and humidity.

Four Area Youths Enlist In Marines

Four area men have enlisted in the Marine Corps at the local recruiting station and have been assigned to Parris Island, S. C., for basic training, according to Sgt. Donald Coleman, recruiter.

They are Lue Berkeley Lease, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Lease, 20 South Paw Paw Way; Robert Edward King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward King, Oakland; Grant Dorn Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Davis, Flintstone; and Donald Arwood Weatherholt, son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Weatherholt, Moorefield. The first two enlistees mentioned signed up for three years while the other two are four-year enlistees.

AWOL Man's Family Reported Destitute

A 33-year-old father of four was taken into custody early yesterday after "several Allegany High School teachers" complained he was keeping his 15-year-old daughter out of classes due to mistreatment and hunger.

Detective Lt. James E. Van said the prisoner, Russell L. Hanlon, 600-block North Centre Street, has been AWOL from Fort Meade since March 24. He was held for military authorities.

Following interrogation of Hanlon, Lt. Van contacted the Allegany County Welfare Board for assistance.

Police were told that Hanlon's wife, Leona, 33, and the children ranging from 18 months to 15 have not had a good meal for three or four days."

Hanlon, a soldier for more than seven years, said his destitute family had adequate clothing but needed shoes.

The home was in a state of disbevelment when officers investigated. Broken furniture was found in the living quarters.

Hanlon stated he "fished a little" and worked around the house but did not have employment.

Her husband was the late Joshua L. Howsare. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Harry A. Robinette, Flintstone, and Mrs. I. H. Smith, city.

The body is at Stein's Chapel where a funeral service will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Sunday with Rev. Howard Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

CHARLES W. McCULLEY

A requiem mass for Charles W. McCulley, 82, who died Wednesday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John J. Murphy, 7 Potomac Street, will be celebrated tomorrow at 9 a. m. in St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Interment will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery. The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where the rosary will be recited today at 7 p. m.

NOAH R. RADER

KEYSER—Noah Rudolph Rader, 77, a retired farmer, died Wednesday night in the Weston State Hospital Medical Center where he had been a patient two weeks.

Born at Sugar Grove, he was a son of the late Henry P. and Katheryn (Hoover) Rader. His wife, Mrs. Nancy E. Rader, preceded him in death.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Bertha Hartman, Ruddle; Mrs. Beulah Rader, RD 2, and Mrs. Mabel Iman, Keyser, 22 grandchildren and 27 great grandchildren.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home where services will be conducted tomorrow at 1 p. m. (EST), Rev. Robert L. Bridgers, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, will officiate and interment will be in the Brick Church Cemetery, Upper Tract.

MARY C. JOHNSON

Mrs. Mary C. Johnson, 11 Frederick Street, died yesterday in Baltimore at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Lucy Gibbs, with whom she was visiting.

Surviving besides Mrs. Gibbs are another daughter, Mrs. Helen McKern, 11 Frederick Street; a sister, Mrs. Sarah Johnson, city, and a brother, Upton L. Rummer, city.

The body will be brought to the Stein's Funeral Home this afternoon.

CAREY FUNERAL

FROSTBURG—Services for Roger Lee Carey, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Carey, who drowned Wednesday at his parent's home on Star Route, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Mt. Zion Methodist Church, Garrett County. Rev. John B. Jones, pastor of First Methodist Church here, will officiate and interment will be in the Blocher Cemetery.

The body is at the residence.

MRS. ELIZABETH BROWNING

BEDFORD — Mrs. Elizabeth (Trail) Browning, 82, died yesterday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Mattie Snyder, near Uniontown.

She was the widow of Grant Browning and held membership in Mt. Zion Christian Church, Chaneysville.

Surviving besides Mrs. Snyder, are two sons, Fred Browning, Akron, and Ford Browning, Somerset; another daughter, Mrs. Hulda McKinley, Bedford, 33 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

The body is at the Barefoot Funeral Home. Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at Mt. Zion Church and interment will be in the church cemetery.

JOHN T. WILT

LUKE—John Thomas Wilt, 84, was found dead yesterday morning at the home of a nephew, David Reel, 93 Mullen Avenue, with whom he resided a year.

Dr. Paul R. Wilson, who said Mr. Wilt had been in ill health for some time, set the time of death at approximately 2 a. m. Mr. Wilt's body was discovered when his nephew went to call him for breakfast.

Born near Swanton, Garrett County, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wilt, he had resided in the Tri-Towns area 35 years. Mr. Wilt had retired from the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company 15 years ago after completing 40 years of employment with the firm. He held membership in the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Westernport, and Black Hawk Tribe 131, Improved Order of Red Men, at Westernport.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport, where services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. Interment will be in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

HARRY M. STAHL

KEYSER—Harry Milton Stahl, 58, of 112 A Street, died Wednesday night in Potomac Valley Hospital where he had been a patient 10 days.

Born at Sunnyside, Md., a son of the late George D. and Edith (Wagner) Stahl, he was a retired Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company employe. Mr. Stahl held membership in the Lutheran Church, the Moose and the Maintenance of Way Brotherhood.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Roberta Stahl, and a sister, Mrs. Mazie McDade, Keyser.

The body will remain at the residence until 1 p. m. tomorrow when it will be taken to Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church for services at 2 p. m. Rev. Donald Anderson, pastor, will officiate and interment will be in the Lutheran Church Cemteery, Red House.

CHARLES C. PAUGH

KITZMILLER—Charles Clayton Paugh, 64, of West Main Street, died Wednesday night after suffering a stroke.

He was a retired coal miner. A native of Deer Park, he was born October 25, 1889 and was a son of the late Perry and Ellen (Tasker) Paugh. Mr. Paugh had resided here for the past 13 years. He was a member of Local 2204, UMWA.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Anna Beulah (Hinebaugh) Paugh; five daughters, Mrs. Mildred Becker, New Creek, W. Va.; Mrs. Isabella Elliott, Blaine, W. Va.; Mrs. Gladys Paugh, Mrs. Nellie Jean Junkins, Herndon, Va.; Miss Joann Paugh, at home.

A son, Harland Paugh, Shallmar; two sisters, Mrs. Alta Uphold, Mrs. Elsie Collins, Deer Park; three brothers, Harper Paugh, Bert Paugh, Deer Park; Jesse Paugh, Kentucky; and 11 grandchildren.

A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in Mt. Bethel Methodist Church, with Rev. George W. Burkhart, retired minister of the Pentecostal Church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Charles Keller, pastor of Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church. Burial will be in the IOOF Cemetery in Elk Garden.

The body is at the residence.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Our national security remains the first and primary consideration of the Congress and the Eisenhower administration.

There are threats of wars and rumors of war, and one can almost hear at times the ghostly, anguished cry of Patrick Henry's "peace, peace, but there is no peace."

The Senate has now received a bill appropriating $28,684,251,484 for the operation of the air, ground and sea forces for the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

Secretary Dulles has been in Geneva attending the Asian conference endeavoring to maintain at least a semblance of Western unity against the determined onslaught of Communist aggression by diplomacy.

President Eisenhower has pointed out repeatedly the importance of Indochina to the free world, and this beleagured country is now referred to as the cork in the bottle—which, if removed, would permit the forces of communism to pour through the rest of Asia.

The President recently explained that the United States at this time is steering a course between two extremes — the one unattainable and the other unacceptable.

As the President put it, to arrive at a completely satisfactory answer to problems with the Communists would be unattainable; and it would not be acceptable to this country to see the whole anti-Communist defense of Southeast Asia collapse.

The line between war and peace is at this time a fine and devious one, and the President and the secretary of state must make use of all their skills and abilities in order to lead this nation through the dangers and risks of war.

The President has given renewed assurances that the United States will not go into any war except through constitutional processes, involving a declaration of war by Congress.

If it becomes necessary to defend the free world by force, then we must be prepared and that accounts for the huge peace-time defense budget which the Senate has received. However, the defense appropriation now in Congress is $5,632,614,500 less than last year's, and $1,206,348,500 below the original budget estimates.

Our military strength is very great, and growing; and as Representative Dewey Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, stated, "If a possible enemy attacked us today, God pity them."

In concluding, I believe the American people will attach particular significance to President Eisenhower's statement that this country will not become involved in any war except through the constitutional process of a declaration by Congress—which means that both the House and Senate would formally act on a declaration of war.

Progress Reported In Highway Project

The spring and summer construction season will find many State Roads Commission projects under way or being completed this year, G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, reported yesterday.

The district offices and garages on Braddock Road will be completed by September and Chaires will move his staff to the new quarters by late September.

Chaires said he has been informed by the contractor, the George F. Hazelwood Company, that all work will be able to be done by fall.

To Accept Segment

Chaires will direct the road work of Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties from this central point. The present offices are on the second and third floors of 305 Decatur Street.

Today, the State Roads Commission will accept the final of three segments of the modernization of State Route 55 between Claryville and Midland.

The 1.6 miles that were resurfaced between Miller and Midland cost approximately $75,000.

Slated to get underway this week is work on the 2.6 miles State Route 135 near Swanton. The Cumberland Contracting Company which has the contract on the quarter-million dollar project has been held up during the relocation of utility lines along the highway.

Work Takes Time

Chaires said the AT&T Company has along this road one of its most important lines in the United States and its relocation has taken some time.

The State Roads Commission has let the contract for the Potomac River Bridge at Kitzmiller to the Hazelwood firm at a cost of $312,000.

Another contract ready for this construction season is 4.6 miles of the Westernport-McCoole Road. The Hazelwood Company was low bidder with a $825,598.65 figure.

The Hazelwood Company has completed 46 per cent of the relocation and widening of Winchester Road between the Six-Mile House on Route 40 and Cresaptown on Route 220, Chaires said. This will be completed by fall, the district engineer said.

Other Bids Asked

Two other projects have been advertised for bids, Chaires noted, —the road to the Mt. Savage School and the relocation of a bad curve on Little Savage Mountain on Route 40.

Bids will be received in Baltimore on May 25 by the SRC on the Little Savage project. This job calls for the elimination of the bad curve and narrow bridge at the eastern foot of the mountain and also will eliminate a dangerous intersection where State Route 546, the Finzel Road, and Route 40 meet at the top of the mountain.

The road will be straightened out to bypass the old bridge and a deep cut will be made across the top of the mountain.

Provide For Bridge

This will allow a bridge to be constructed to carry the Finzel Road across the National Highway. Entrances will be made on the southern side of Route 40 instead of the northern side as it is now.

At the foot of the mountain, a ten-foot pipe will be placed to handle Little Savage River. A long fill will be made on either side of it.

The project, with one steel bridge over Route 40, and the milti-plate bridge at Little Savage River, will cover .884 of a mile.

CSMC Rally Will Be Held At St. Mary's On Sunday

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Antonio Scarpati, P. A., pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Westernport, will officiate at the presentation of awards which will be a feature of the pilgrimage rally of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade, Sunday at 3 p. m. at St. Mary's Church.

Msgr. Scarpati will substitute for Rt. Rev. Msgr. Louis C. Vaeth, Baltimore, archdiocesan director of the CSMC, who will be unable to attend due to a previous commitment.

Rev. Robert F. Hopkins, assistant pastor of the host church and director of the Western Maryland CSMC, who is in charge of arrangements, said the principal speaker at the rally will be Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's.

A solemn benediction will close the rally, Father Hopkins said, with the following clergy presiding:

Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM, Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, celebrant; Rev. John U. Lyness, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, deacon, and Rev. Diego Jose Pedraja, OFM, Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's, sub-deacon. Father Hopkins will serve as master of ceremonies at the exposition.

A guard of honor will be formed during the benediction by the color guard of Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, and the male students of St. Mary's High School will serve as altar boys. Marian Year prayers will be recited following the benediction.

Approximately 500 students are expected to participate in the ceremonies, Father Hopkins stated adding that the program will be open to the parents and friends of the CSMC members.

Attending will be the units from St. Mary's, Catholic Girls Central and LaSalle High schools and Ursuline Academy. Although there is no unit at St. Peter's High in Westernport, Father Hopkins said that school is also expected to send a delegation of students.

Members of the Lurana Veterans Unit, CSMC, and the student nurses of Sacred Heart Hospital will also participate, according to Father Hopkins.

A large attendance of adults is expected, Father Hopkins said, in noting that the pilgrimage rally will fall on the observance of both Mother's Day and World Sodality Day.

Plans call for the students to assemble on the grounds in the rear of the church and march into the church by way of Grand Avenue and Oldtown Road.

890 County Seniors To Graduate In June

A total of 890 seniors are scheduled to be graduated from Allegany County's ten public high schools in June, Ralph R. Webster, county superintendent of schools announced yesterday.

Graduation exercises are to be held Thursday, June 3, Friday June 4, and Saturday, June 5.

Allegany High School has the next largest class—189, an increase of three from last year's total of 186.

Beall High School will have 133 graduates as compared to 141 last year.

The last class to be graduated from Central High School contained 74 seniors, while the last class from Barton High School had 24. These two schools were consolidated at Valley High last September.

Bruce High School, Westernport, will have 86 graduates. In 1953 there were 84 seniors completing their high school education there.

Increase At Flintstone

Flintstone High School has an increase in the number to be graduated, from 35 last year to 40 this year.

Oldtown High School's senior class has 20 members as compared to 20 in 1953.

Mt. Savage shows the greatest jump, from 39 in 1953 to 61 this June.

Those schools having graduation exercises on Thursday, June 4, at 8 p. m. are Fort Hill, Bruce, Carver, and Mt. Savage.

Friday, June 4 at 8 p. m. will see senior classes from Allegany, Beall, Valley and Oldtown being graduated.

Saturday at 8 p. m. will be the time for Flintstone's exercises.

Cresaptown Junior High School will have its service Thursday, June 10, at 8 p. m.

Progress Reported In Highway Project

The spring and summer construction season will find many State Roads Commission projects under way or being completed this year, G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, reported yesterday.

The district offices and garages on Braddock Road will be completed by September and Chaires will move his staff to the new quarters by late September.

Chaires said he has been informed by the contractor, the George F. Hazelwood Company, that all work will be able to be done by fall.

To Accept Segment

Chaires will direct the road work of Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties from this central point. The present offices are on the second and third floors of 305 Decatur Street.

Today, the State Roads Commission will accept the final of three segments of the modernization of State Route 55 between Claryville and Midland.

The 1.6 miles that were resurfaced between Miller and Midland cost approximately $75,000.

Slated to get underway this week is work on the 2.6 miles State Route 135 near Swanton. The Cumberland Contracting Company which has the contract on the quarter-million dollar project has been held up during the relocation of utility lines along the highway.

Work Takes Time

Chaires said the AT&T Company has along this road one of its most important lines in the United States and its relocation has taken some time.

The State Roads Commission has let the contract for the Potomac River Bridge at Kitzmiller to the Hazelwood firm at a cost of $312,000.

Another contract ready for this construction season is 4.6 miles of the Westernport-McCoole Road. The Hazelwood Company was low bidder with a $825,598.65 figure.

The Hazelwood Company has completed 46 per cent of the relocation and widening of Winchester Road between the Six-Mile House on Route 40 and Cresaptown on Route 220, Chaires said. This will be completed by fall, the district engineer said.

Other Bids Asked

Two other projects have been advertised for bids, Chaires noted, —the road to the Mt. Savage School and the relocation of a bad curve on Little Savage Mountain on Route 40.

Bids will be received in Baltimore on May 25 by the SRC on the Little Savage project. This job calls for the elimination of the bad curve and narrow bridge at the eastern foot of the mountain and also will eliminate a dangerous intersection where State Route 546, the Finzel Road, and Route 40 meet at the top of the mountain.

The road will be straightened out to bypass the old bridge and a deep cut will be made across the top of the mountain.

Provide For Bridge

This will allow a bridge to be constructed to carry the Finzel Road across the National Highway. Entrances will be made on the southern side of Route 40 instead of the northern side as it is now.

At the foot of the mountain, a ten-foot pipe will be placed to handle Little Savage River. A long fill will be made on either side of it.

The project, with one steel bridge over Route 40, and the milti-plate bridge at Little Savage River, will cover .884 of a mile.

890 County Seniors To Graduate In June

A total of 890 seniors are scheduled to be graduated from Allegany County's ten public high schools in June, Ralph R. Webster, county superintendent of schools announced yesterday.

Graduation exercises are to be held Thursday, June 3, Friday June 4, and Saturday, June 5.

Allegany High School has the next largest class—189, an increase of three from last year's total of 186.

Beall High School will have 135 graduates as compared to 141 last year.

The first graduating class of Valley High School in Lonaconing will have 88 boys and girls receiving diplomas.

The last class to be graduated from Central High School contained 74 seniors, while the last class from Barton High School had 24. These two schools were consolidated at Valley High last September.

Bruce High School, Westernport, will have 86 graduates. In 1953 there were 84 seniors completing their high school education there.

Increase At Flintstone

Flintstone High School has an increase in the number to be graduated, from 35 last year to 40 this year.

Oldtown High School's senior class has 20 members as compared to 20 in 1953.

Mt. Savage shows the greatest jump, from 39 in 1953 to 61 this June.

Those schools having graduation exercises on Thursday, June 4, at 8 p. m. are Fort Hill, Bruce, Carver, and Mt. Savage.

Friday, June 4 at 8 p. m. will see senior classes from Allegany, Beall, Valley and Oldtown being graduated.

Saturday at 8 p. m. will be the time for Flintstone's exercises.

Cresaptown Junior High School will have its service Thursday, June 10, at 8 p. m.

Grant County Schools Meet In Competition

Field Day Today At Petersburg

PETERSBURG — The annual Grant County field day will be held on the Petersburg High School campus today. Harold Shaffer, president of the county teacher's association said this year the day will be much similar to past years. Scholastic events will be held in the morning and the afternoon devoted to out of door activities.

A parade of all the school children of the county will open the day of events as the 2,000 children march through the streets of downtown Petersburg. The line of march will form on Pine Street and step off at 9 a.m. The school children will proceed down Pine to Virginia Avenue and continue their march to Main Street. The parade will march North on Main to Jefferson Avenue and thence to the high school campus.

At the conclusion of the parade, the scholastic events will be held in the classrooms and gymnasium of the school. Included in the list of scholastic events for grades 3-7 inclusive will be spelling, arithmetic, writing, poetry interpretation and art.

The afternoon will be occupied as the schools compete in track and field events. Grades 3-6 will compete against each other, while Grades 7 and 8 will have their own competition. Listed as competitive fields are 25, 50 and 75 yard dashes, high jumping, standing and running broad jump and baseball throw for girls.

Parade chairman Jesse Riggleman reports that the Viking Band will take an active part in the parade and that many of the county schools have indicated they will portray unusual scenes and events. Another feature of the parade will be the first appearance of the Petersburg Fire Company drill team this Spring.

An exhibit room wil be on display in Memorial Field House, where many of the schools will exhibit their art projects.

WSCS Members Honored

Seven members of the WSCS of Midland Methodist Church, all over 75 years of age, were honored with a dinner Tuesday evening in the church lecture room and presented with WSCS honorary pins. Those in the group seated, left to right, are Mrs. Robert McKinley, Mrs. Molly Holder, Mrs. Hannah Davis and Mrs. Molly Williams. Standing, same order, are Mrs. Henry Eisentrout, Mrs. Hester Robertson and Mrs. Clementine Jones. One member, Mrs. Annie Berry, also over 75 years of age, was unable to attend on account of illness. The dinner was attended by approximately 100 persons, and was presided over by Rev. Louis Emerick, pastor, whose wife was also a guest.

David Spiggle Is Davis High Valedictorian

DAVIS — David Spiggle, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Spiggle of Davis has been named as Valedictorian of Davis High School graduating class for 1954. Spiggle has made an outstanding record of scholastic and club work in school where he has also been president of his class several times and is now vice-president of the senior class. He is also a member of the Davis-Thomas band, a Boy Scout, member of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, past president of that group and president of the Cheat District, Methodist Youth Fellowship. He is also vice-president of the Black Water Falls 4-H Club and a past president.

In 4-H work he has made his most outstanding record. He ranked third in individual scoring at the State Vegetable Judging and Identification contest at Jackson Mills last year. In 1952 he won blue ribbons on all his gardening projects and in 1953 he won a blue ribbon and first prize at the West Virginia State Fair at Lewisburg.

He won $100 and a trip to New York for his outstanding work in the Production and Marketing contest in the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association and won the same amount of money and a trip to Tulsa, Okla., in 1953. He had four years of vegetable growing, three of rural electrification and two years of handicraft.

Young Spiggle has been named as Head-H, Hand-H, and Heart-H, at various camps held for 4-Hers and in 1953 was named as "Spirit of the Camp" county camp's highest award. He has won his carting pin, his Green and White disc.

Mineral County Jury Acquits Ackerman In Road Accident Case

KEYSER — Floyd Delmar Ackerman, Route 28, who was charged with causing an accident on that highway on January 23, was freed by a jury in Mineral County Circuit Court Thursday. The jury heard evidence submitted in the case, by State Police and James R. O'Haver, McMullen Highway, whose car figured in the accident at the intersection of Route 28 and a private driveway. Two young boys, 11 and 12 years old, who were riding in a truck operated by the defendant also testified.

The jury heard evidence that started about 10:30 a.m. through to 1:45 p.m., with the exception of time out for lunch. The defendant was absolved of all blame and discharged by the court.

The jurors in the case were Oscar Broome, James Dowden, Lloyd Green, Harry Kitzmiller, Guy Ellifritz, Ellis Doll, Alston Streets, Charles Shepherd, Jesse Brafford, George Burdock, Charles Daugherty and Felix Baldwin.

The state's case was in charge of Prosecuting Attorney Vernon E. Rankin and Attorney H. G. Shores. Attorney Charles Smith appeared for the defendant.

James R. Kesecker was ordered by a jury in Mineral County Circuit Court, Keyser, yesterday, to pay $591.17 to John Rokisky for failure to make returns on money he collected for Rokisky.

Grant County Schools Meet In Competition

Field Day Today At Petersburg

PETERSBURG — The annual Grant County field day will be held on the Petersburg High School campus today. Harold Shaffer, president of the county teacher's association said this year the day will be much similar to past years. Scholastic events will be held in the morning and the afternoon devoted to out of door activities.

A parade of all the school children of the county will open the day of events as the 2,000 children march through the streets of downtown Petersburg. The line of march will form on Pine Street and step off at 9 a.m. The school children will proceed down Pine to Virginia Avenue and continue their march to Main Street. The parade will march North on Main to Jefferson Avenue and thence to the high school campus.

At the conclusion of the parade, the scholastic events will be held in the classrooms and gymnasium of the school. Included in the list of scholastic events for grades 3-7 inclusive will be spelling, arithmetic, writing, poetry interpretation and art.

The afternoon will be occupied as the schools compete in track and field events. Grades 3-6 will compete against each other, while Grades 7 and 8 will have their own competition. Listed as competitive fields are 25, 50 and 75 yard dashes, high jumping, standing and running broad jump and baseball throw for girls.

Parade chairman Jesse Riggleman reports that the Viking Band will take an active part in the parade and that many of the county schools have indicated they will portray unusual scenes and events. Another feature of the parade will be the first appearance of the Petersburg Fire Company drill team this Spring.

An exhibit room wil be on display in Memorial Field House, where many of the schools will exhibit their art projects.

WSCS Members Honored

Seven members of the WSCS of Midland Methodist Church, all over 75 years of age, were honored with a dinner Tuesday evening in the church lecture room and presented with WSCS honorary pins. Those in the group seated, left to right, are Mrs. Robert McKinley, Mrs. Molly Holder, Mrs. Hannah Davis and Mrs. Molly Williams. Standing, same order, are Mrs. Henry Eisentrout, Mrs. Hester Robertson and Mrs. Clementine Jones. One member, Mrs. Annie Berry, also over 75 years of age, was unable to attend on account of illness. The dinner was attended by approximately 100 persons, and was presided over by Rev. Louis Emerick, pastor, whose wife was also a guest.

David Spiggle Is Davis High Valedictorian

DAVIS — David Spiggle, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Spiggle of Davis has been named as Valedictorian of Davis High School graduating class for 1954. Spiggle has made an outstanding record of scholastic and club work in school where he has also been president of his class several times and is now vice-president of the senior class. He is also a member of the Davis-Thomas band, a Boy Scout, member of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, past president of that group and president of the Cheat District, Methodist Youth Fellowship. He is also vice-president of the Black Water Falls 4-H Club and a past president.

In 4-H work he has made his most outstanding record. He ranked third in individual scoring at the State Vegetable Judging and Identification contest at Jackson Mills last year. In 1952 he won blue ribbons on all his gardening projects and in 1953 he won a blue ribbon and first prize at the West Virginia State Fair at Lewisburg.

He won $100 and a trip to New York for his outstanding work in the Production and Marketing contest in the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association and won the same amount of money and a trip to Tulsa, Okla., in 1953. He had four years of vegetable growing, three of rural electrification and two years of handicraft.

Young Spiggle has been named as Head-H, Hand-H, and Heart-H, at various camps held for 4-Hers and in 1953 was named as "Spirit of the Camp" county camp's highest award. He has won his carting pin, his Green and White disc.

Carl G. Storm Is Named To Civil Service Board

FROSTBURG—Carl G. Storm, local service station operator and a former Maryland State policeman, was appointed to the Frostburg Civil Service Commission at a special meeting of the Mayor and City Council Wednesday night.

Storm, named for a six-year term, succeeds J. Harry Hanson, who was appointed city tax collector earlier this week.

The commission includes, besides Storm, Earl F. Brain, chairman, and Harry G. Shupe.

The first business coming under the terms of the new city charter will be to conduct an examination of applicants for the position of city clerk, filtration engineer, street superintendent and water superintendent. The commission will meet with the mayor and city council Monday, May 10, at 7 p.m. in the City Hall to adopt regulations for conducting the examinations.

Ladies Bowling Team Selects New Officers

BARTON—Mrs. Elsie McCormick has been elected president of the Ladies Bowling Team of Bowl-Mor Center. Named to serve with her are Daisy Kirk, secretary; Mrs. Phyllis Johnson, treasurer; and Mrs. Hilda Broadwater, Mrs. Lillian Poland, and Miss Kathryn Lashbaugh, by-laws committee.

The election was held at a recent meeting in the VFW Home at Lonaconing following a chicken dinner. Dancing and cards completed the evening. Twenty-five attended.

Changes Made In Red Cross At Keyser

KEYSER—At a special meeting of the officials of the Mineral County Chapter of the American Red Cross, at the home of Rev. Robert L. Bridgers, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church on South Mineral Street Wednesday evening, several changes were made in the organization. Mrs. Ida Ann Prysock again presented her resignation as blood bank program chairman, which she has held for two years. She had tendered her resignation a year ago, and early again this year, but it was declined.

Robert Spangler, field representative of the National Red Cross gave several reasons why there should be changes in the administration of the chapter, cautioning to select new workers, spreading out to the immediate areas for new life. He said new minds in the organization will stimulate interest and bring a constantly growing cooperative spirit.

Mrs. Katherine Cosner, Keyser, was named to succeed Mrs. Prysock as blood bank chairman, and Mrs. Frances Hartman, was named assistant. Mrs. Virginia Ayers, was named home nursing chairman.

Another meeting of the group will be held at the same place, Thursday evening, June 3, at which time other selections will be made to fill positions. A meeting of the board will be held August 3, and it was decided to conduct four board meetings annually, to keep up with progress.

A report was made at the meeting that the Red Cross Campaign donations this year amounted to approximately $3,150.

Those present included William Brenneman, Kenneth Cargo, Carroll Broadwater, Howard Sweitzer, Everett O'Brien, Samuel Ashenfelter, Archie Bateman, John Beckman, Caroline, Encie and Darlene Rhodes, Dorothy Wood, Susan Mersing, Bernadine Smith, Beverly Riley and Margaret Shaffer.

Harry S. Truman Makes Surprise Visit To Keyser

KEYSER — Harry S. Truman, former president of the United States, was a visitor in Keyser Wednesday morning for a few minutes. He surprised a number of local persons on the railroad station platform when they saw the former president leave a passenger coach on "Train No. 4, as it arrived soon after 7:30 a. m., DST. He walked a short distance on the platform and returned to the coach when it was ready to leave.

The former president and Mrs. Truman were enroute from Independence, Mo., to Washington where they will attend a Democratic two-day meeting. W. M. (Dyche) Shaffer, a B & O employe said Mr. Truman told him, "The B&O is my Railroad." The former president seemed to be in excellent health, Shaffer said.

Hampshire Co. To Hold Primary Election Aug. 3

Board Releases List Of Candidates

ROMNEY—The deadline for filing for candidacy for public office in Hampshire County was midnight on April 30. The primary election is scheduled in the county for August 3.

Three candidates will be seeking positions as Hampshire County Commissioners. They are Ellis E. Haines, Capon Bridge, Lynn Saville, Romney, and Meryl Combs, also of Romney.

John R. Blue, Harold Welker and James W. Short, all Democrats, filed for the House of Delegates. Frank Kight filed for constable in Romney District.

Two Board of Education posts will be filled. Loraine Grapes and Henry Campbell are the only candidates for the posts. Isabella Miller, the only woman serving on the Board of Education, declined to file this time. Her term will end at the close of 1954.

Saville and Combs are new candidates for commissioner, but Combs is now a member of Romney Town Council. Haines served as a commissioner in the 1930's.

Blue is currently filling the unexpired term of W. L. Thompson, who resigned from the House of Delegates, in order to accept a position in state treasurer's office. Welker and Short have run for House of Delegates in earlier elections. Welker was formerly commander of West Virginia VFW.

Kight is currently serving as constable and was formerly Romney chief of police.

Miss Golden Tornado IX Is Crowned At Keyser High

KEYSER—Miss Donna Lou Allamong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Allamong, was crowned "Miss Golden Tornado IX," at the annual beauty contest Wednesday evening in the Keyser High School auditorium. Runners-up were Miss Carol Sue Ashby and Shirley McLucas.

Miss Allamong is an active member of the junior class at the high school. Her extra-curricular activities include Tri-Hi-Y and the K-Ette Club. She has maintained a "B" average throughout her high school career. She has been active in 4-H work and is a past member of the Pocahontas 4-H Club.

Miss Ashby had been elected by her class-mates as president of the Student Council for the 1953-54 school term, and is affiliated with not only the Tri-Hi-Y and K-Ette Club, but the National Honor Society. She was a winner of the Golden Horseshoe test in her eighth grade.

Miss McLucas is a member of the high school band, with which she has served as drum major during the past year.

Miss Allamong was presented a trophy and a bouquet of red roses by last year's winner, Miss Pamela Franklin.

Miss Shirley Largent was pianist for the affair and Ida Frances Ward served as mistress of ceremonies. The judges were Sgt. and Mrs. Phillip Beal and Coach John Fox, Potomac State College. The event this year was sponsored by the Journalism Department of the high school and its sponsor, Frank Calemine. Dancing followed in the gymnasium.

SENIOR PLAYER — "Martha Brewster" will be portrayed by Jean Ann Fairgrieve in the Senior Class play, "Arsenic and Old Lace," on May 12 and May 13, at 8 p. m. in the Valley High School auditorium. Scenery is being readied for the two-night play performances, and the new stage lighting adds greatly to the effects of the dramatization.

ATA Sponsors Spring Dance

FROSTBURG—"Spring Dance," an informal evening of dancing, will be held Saturday, a the Frostburg Legion Home, during the sponsorship of Alpha Tau Alpha Fraterni of State Teachers College at Frostburg. Dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. with music by the "Swingkings," a local orchestra.

This is the first dance this spring and marks the first year that the sponsoring fraternity has opened their Spring Dance to the entire school. All alumni members of Alpha Tau Alpha have been invited to the dance, and other college alumni will be invited Saturday morning, since May 8 is also Alumni Day at State.

The dance committee is composed of Edward Andrews, chairman; David Phillips, Leon Armentrout, Berl Plummer, and Robert Hutcheson. Publicity was handled by John Swope and Don Drury.

At intermission Grand Senior Don Eugene Harris will present $5 gift certificates to the four senior members of Alpha Tau Alpha chosen most outstanding by the fraternity. Each year these awards are given to one-fourth of the seniors. The winners will not be announced until the night of the dance.

Other ATA plans for this spring include the annual outing later this month.

Scenery is being readied for the two-night play performances, and the new stage lighting adds greatly to the effects of the dramatization.

ATA Sponsors Spring Dance

FROSTBURG—"Spring Dance," an informal evening of dancing, will be held Saturday, a the Frostburg Legion Home, during the sponsorship of Alpha Tau Alpha Fraterni of State Teachers College at Frostburg. Dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. with music by the "Swingkings," a local orchestra.

This is the first dance this spring and marks the first year that the sponsoring fraternity has opened their Spring Dance to the entire school. All alumni members of Alpha Tau Alpha have been invited to the dance, and other college alumni will be invited Saturday morning, since May 8 is also Alumni Day at State.

The dance committee is composed of Edward Andrews, chairman; David Phillips, Leon Armentrout, Berl Plummer, and Robert Hutcheson. Publicity was handled by John Swope and Don Drury.

At intermission Grand Senior Don Eugene Harris will present $5 gift certificates to the four senior members of Alpha Tau Alpha chosen most outstanding by the fraternity. Each year these awards are given to one-fourth of the seniors. The winners will not be announced until the night of the dance.

Other ATA plans for this spring include the annual outing later this month.

ACCOMPANIED by assistant presidential press secretary Murray Snyder, a grim-faced President Eisenhower strides from the White House to the Executive Office building for his weekly news conference. The President told newsmen he is backing Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens to the limit in Stevens' bitter controversy with Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R), Wisconsin. He also declared the McCarthy-Army hearings have damaged America's international prestige and its national self-respect. He heaped high praise on Stevens. (International Soundphoto) public hearings by the Hess subcommittee. It promised hereafter to "monitor" its athletes periodically to guard against preferential treatment.

But the probe went forward today. The first witness, Brig. Gen. Herbert B. Powell, chief of Army personnel, will be followed to the stand by assorted Army camp officials, special services officers and the like.

The famed athletes in the case, and others who are said to have been pampered, like Singers Eddie Fisher and Vic Damone, will not be subpoenaed and called as witnesses, Hess said, "unless the Army denies what we happen to know is the truth."

Countenanced gold-bricking is only one part of the matter. Hess says the subcommittee wants to find answers to such questions as:

1—Who at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., gave Pvt. Walter Smith (Sugar Ray Robinson) an honorable discharge after he went AWOL on the eve of shipment overseas in World War II?

2—Why was Willie Mays' basic training at Fort Eustis, Va., held up from the spring of the year, when he entered, until after the Eustis baseball season ended?

3—Why was Whitey Ford permitted to serve all his time at Fort Monmouth, N. J., near his New York home?

5—Who ordered special treatment for Pvt. Billy Martin, 1953 World Series hero, now at Fort Ord, Calif.?

Newcombe suggested to the subcommittee that a big league star who is drafted in the spring or summer, at the average camp, is very likely to have his basic pushed back—so he can be exploited by the camp baseball team. The big Brooklyn righthander is believed to have protested to his company commander about being pitched too often while in the Army.

There has been a consistent report, too, that the New York Giants—fearful that Willie Mays would play himself out for the Army—got him to feign or exaggerate a sprained ankle to conserve himself against the day when he'd return to the Polo Grounds.

Other athletes involved in this curious sideshow to the McCarthy-Army circus are Dick Brodowski, Red Sox pitcher, Fort Dix; Alex Konikowski, N. Y. Giants, Fort Myer, Va.; Eddie and Johnny O'Brien, University of Seattle basketball twins now owned by the Pittsburgh Pirates, Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.; and Chico Vejar, Fort Benning, Ga. The subcommittee is concentrating on 10 famous draftees, but has 12 other names it can bring up in a hurry and about 75 others it could name in a pinch.

If Eddie Fisher is called, will the subcommittee demand TV? And will Damone "sing"?

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The vanity of a few generals commanding big U. S. Army camps is the basic cause of the congressional probe of "athletic coddling."

Rep. William E. Hess (R) Ohio, chairman of the defense activities subcommittee of the Armed Services Committee, told me that his group might never have known about this obeisance to muscle if it had not come across several camp newspaper sports pages which quoted the top general as saying, in effect, "I've got the best ballclub in the Army and I'm going to keep it that way."

The congressman and his aides began rounding up other camp papers, then sent out investigators to sample nearby camps and see just how drafted athletes were getting special treatment. The subcommittee heard Don Newcome, Brooklyn pitcher, when the Dodgers were in town to play Washington before the present season opened.

Hess doesn't think for an instant that this is an epidemic condition in the Army, nor is the Department of the Army being blamed. He says the blame rests on a few individual camp commanders who wanted to bask in the reflected glory of fine athletes they could call "my boys"—in the newspapers and at parties.

ACCOMPANIED by assistant presidential press secretary Murray Snyder, a grim-faced President Eisenhower strides from the White House to the Executive Office building for his weekly news conference. The President told newsmen he is backing Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens to the limit in Stevens' bitter controversy with Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R), Wisconsin. He also declared the McCarthy-Army hearings have damaged America's international prestige and its national self-respect. He heaped high praise on Stevens. (International Soundphoto)

Roger Bannister Runs Mile In 3:59.4 For World Record

Briton Breaks Haegg's Mark Set In 1945

Quest For 4-Minute Mile Ends On Track At Oxford, England

OXFORD, England, May 6 (AP)—Roger Bannister tonight ended the athletic world's quest for the four-minute mile with a monumental effort in which he was timed at 3:59.4.

Competing in his first race of the year, and on his own track at Iffley Road, the shy former Oxonian burst through the legendary four-minute barrier as a meager crowd of 1,000 mostly Oxford students, watched the memorable performance during which he drove himself mercilessly through a :58.9 final lap.

Beats Haegg's Record

Thus he thrust into the dustbin of sports history the world record mark of 4:01.4 established July 18, 1945, at Malmo, Sweden, by the great Gunder Haegg of Sweden. Bannister also unofficially equalled the 1,500-meter world mark of 3:43 en route to his mile mark.

Bannister was pulled along through the first three laps by a fellow Oxonian, Chris Chataway, and a former Cambridge steeplechaser, Chris Brasher.

He kept on Brasher's heels for the first two laps, and when Chataway rushed into the lead Bannister stayed with him through the third lap.

He was clocked at :57.5 for the quarter and 1:58.2 for the half. When he passed the three-quarter mark in 3:00.5 the handful of spectators seated in the small pavilion and scattered about the field gave a lusty cheer.

The great runner bided his time until about 300 yards from the tape, when he urged himself to a supreme effort. With a machine-like, seemingly effortless stride he drew steadily away from Chataway, and, head thrown back slightly, he breasted the cool, stiff wind on the last turn to come driving down the home stretch to climax his spectacular performance.

Must Be Approved

Before Bannister's tremendous record can become official it must be approved by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, but chances appeared good as the meet was an official one and the race was run under standard conditions.

The track was immediately resurveyed, and the measurement showed it was a half-inch longer than one mile.

Bannister told reporters he had not decided to go all out for a world record until 15 minutes before the start of the race. It had rained rather heavily during the day and a strong wind had whipped the field. But less than a half hour before race time the sun came out and a rainbow showed in the sky. It was a good luck omen for Bannister.

Chataway, who finished second about 60 yards behind Bannister, was timed in 4:07.2, the best he has ever done for the mile.

Bannister said he had been training recently with an Austrian coach, Franz Stampl, who helped him strengthen his shoulders and legs with push-ups. Bannister is an effortless runner, with longer strides than usual, and many consider his style to be among the best.

To Get Medical Degree

Bannister will receive his medical degree in a few months. Before that he plans to compete in the Empire Games at Vancouver and then in the European championships at Berne, Switzerland, in August.

"What made me happiest about the day is that I did it on my old track at Oxford," he said.

A young Oxford undergraduate called for "three cheers for Bannister" and the crowd roared with enthusiasm.

Bannister knew that Wes Santee of Kansas University and John Landy of Australia, now in Finland, were knocking at the door of the four-minute mile, and the blond English runner had worked tirelessly through the winter months keeping himself on a high plateau of condition for tonight.

Cleveland Tops Athletics, 3-2

PHILADELPHIA, May 6 (AP) — A leadoff eighth inning homer by third baseman Al Smith was enough margin to give the Cleveland Indians and Early Wynn a 3-2 win over the Philadelphia Athletics at Connie Mack Stadium tonight. Smith's poke offset a bases-empty homer in the same inning by the A's Vic Power.

Young Arnold Portocarrero, making his third outing with the A's since his return this spring from military service, was effective but not quite tight enough to hold the Indians in complete check.

Lew Burdette Blanks Buccos

Milwaukee Twirler Posts 3-0 Victory

MILWAUKEE, May 6 (AP)—Lanky Lew Burdette scarcely wasted a pitch today, throwing only 95 as he shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-0, on five hits to move the Milwaukee Braves into fifth place in the National League on their third straight victory.

Burdette, the converted fireman, walked two and struck out one in chalking up the first whitewash of the year by a Braves' pitcher. The Braves, climbing from the cellar when the three-game Pirate series started, to fifth place on the strength of the sweep, collected 11 hits off two Pittsburgh pitchers and hung the loss on starter George O'Connell.

Leg Cramp Forces Reynolds To Quit

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — Allie Reynolds pitched one hit ball until he was forced to retire in the eighth inning with a leg cramp as the New York Yankees today blanked Baltimore 9-0. The only hit off Reynolds was a leadoff single by Bobby Young in the first inning.

The Yanks rapped Joe Coleman and his successors for 11 hits including Yogi Berra's third homer of the year with Joe Collins on base in the first.

Taylor Leads At Greenbrier By One Stroke

Charleston Golfer Edges Snead, 65-66

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 6 (AP)—Joe Taylor sneaked in from Charleston, W. Va., today and horned in on Sam Snead's Greenbrier Open Golf Tournament by beating par by five strokes with a 65 and the first round lead.

Snead, who is out to win the tournament on his home course for the fourth straight time, strove mightily to get off in front, but had to be satisfied with runner-up, a stroke behind.

Herman Scharlau of Boca Raton, Fla., and Jack Burke Jr. of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., were tied for third at 68.

The 34-year-old Taylor wasn't added to the probable starters for the $10,000 tournament until yesterday, but he made his presence felt promptly. He was in the second group to finish and his score held up right through Snead, who was last.

Of the 29 pros who started the 72-hole tourney which runs through Sunday, 14 equalled or bettered the par 70. George Fazio of Pine Valley, N.J., was among those even with par after a terrific up and down round in which he had five birdies and the same number of bogeys.

Errie Ball of Oak Park, Ill., and Gil Cavanaugh of Cedarhurst N.Y. were among those who went over after they suffered a two-stroke penalty. They made the mistake of hitting each other's ball on the 13th.

Jimmy Demaret gave up in disgust and stopped counting after twice hitting into the creek on the 17th.

Lausse Favored To Beat Varona

Welterweights Clash At St. Nick Tonight

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Eduardo Lausse, a highly touted import from the Argentine, and Chico Varona, the Cuban welter champ, give tomorrow night's St. Nicholas Arena show a Latin American flavor.

Lausse is an 11 to 5 favorite in this clash of South of the border gauchos, chasing the Yankee dollar for the TV (NBC) cameras. The 10-round match, starting at 9 p.m. EST gets the usual Friday night radio (ABC) and TV network coverage.

A knockout is expected off the records that show the two have stopped a total of 71 in 120 fights. Lausse has 38 knockouts in his career record of 47-5-2 for 54 starts. Varona has stopped 33 while compiling a 53-13 record since 1945. Varona was stopped three times. Lausse never was stopped.

Lausse, managed by Charlie Johnston, has a 15-fight win streak. He hasn't lost since Sept. 13, 1953 when he dropped a decision to Kid Gavilan in a non-title bout before 20,000 at Buenos Aires. Varona has won 14 of his last 15, including two by knockout this year.

Chisox Rally Defeats Nats In Ninth, 5-4

Minoso Gets 4 Hits, Harry Dorish Victor

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The league-leading Chicago White Sox rallied for two runs with two out in the ninth inning to defeat Washington, 5-4 today. Orestes Minoso led Chicago's 11-hit attack with four singles, driving across four runs.

Roy Sievers lifted the Senators into a 4-3 lead in the seventh when he blasted his fourth home run of the season into the left field bleachers to break a 3-3 tie.

With two out in the ninth, Nelson Fox doubled high off the right field wall and Minoso's fourth single scored Fox with the tying run. Third baseman Eddie Yost fumbled Bob Boyd's grounder and Willard Marshall singled to center off Camilo Pascual, 20-year-old Cuban rookie who went the distance, to score Minoso with the winning run. It was Marshall's first RBI of the season.

Harry Dorish, who replaced Virgil Trucks in the sixth inning to become the victim of Sievers's smash, was credited with the victory.

Dorish specializes in beating the Senators, possessing a 14-4 lifetime record against them.

Roger Bannister Runs Mile In 3:59.4 For World Record

Briton Breaks Haegg's Mark Set In 1945

Quest For 4-Minute Mile Ends On Track At Oxford, England

OXFORD, England, May 6 (AP)—Roger Bannister tonight ended the athletic world's quest for the four-minute mile with a monumental effort in which he was timed at 3:59.4.

Competing in his first race of the year, and on his own track at Iffley Road, the shy former Oxonian burst through the legendary four-minute barrier as a meager crowd of 1,000 mostly Oxford students, watched the memorable performance during which he drove himself mercilessly through a :58.9 final lap.

Beats Haegg's Record

Thus he thrust into the dustbin of sports history the world record mark of 4:01.4 established July 18, 1945, at Malmo, Sweden, by the great Gunder Haegg of Sweden. Bannister also unofficially equalled the 1,500-meter world mark of 3:43 en route to his mile mark.

Bannister was pulled along through the first three laps by a fellow Oxonian, Chris Chataway, and a former Cambridge steeplechaser, Chris Brasher.

He kept on Brasher's heels for the first two laps, and when Chataway rushed into the lead Bannister stayed with him through the third lap.

He was clocked at :57.5 for the quarter and 1:58.2 for the half. When he passed the three-quarter mark in 3:00.5 the handful of spectators seated in the small pavilion and scattered about the field gave a lusty cheer.

The great runner bided his time until about 300 yards from the tape, when he urged himself to a supreme effort. With a machine-like, seemingly effortless stride he drew steadily away from Chataway, and, head thrown back slightly, he breasted the cool, stiff wind on the last turn to come driving down the home stretch to climax his spectacular performance.

Must Be Approved

Before Bannister's tremendous record can become official it must be approved by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, but chances appeared good as the meet was an official one and the race was run under standard conditions.

The track was immediately resurveyed, and the measurement showed it was a half-inch longer than one mile.

Bannister told reporters he had not decided to go all out for a world record until 15 minutes before the start of the race. It had rained rather heavily during the day and a strong wind had whipped the field. But less than a half hour before race time the sun came out and a rainbow showed in the sky. It was a good luck omen for Bannister.

Chataway, who finished second about 60 yards behind Bannister, was timed in 4:07.2, the best he has ever done for the mile.

Bannister said he had been training recently with an Austrian coach, Franz Stampl, who helped him strengthen his shoulders and legs with push-ups. Bannister is an effortless runner, with longer strides than usual, and many consider his style to be among the best.

To Get Medical Degree

Bannister will receive his medical degree in a few months. Before that he plans to compete in the Empire Games at Vancouver and then in the European championships at Berne, Switzerland, in August.

"What made me happiest about the day is that I did it on my old track at Oxford," he said.

A young Oxford undergraduate called for "three cheers for Bannister" and the crowd roared with enthusiasm.

Bannister knew that Wes Santee of Kansas University and John Landy of Australia, now in Finland, were knocking at the door of the four-minute mile, and the blond English runner had worked tirelessly through the winter months keeping himself on a high plateau of condition for tonight.

Lew Burdette Blanks Buccos

Milwaukee Twirler Posts 3-0 Victory

MILWAUKEE, May 6 (AP)—Lanky Lew Burdette scarcely wasted a pitch today, throwing only 95 as he shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-0, on five hits to move the Milwaukee Braves into fifth place in the National League on their third straight victory.

Burdette, the converted fireman, walked two and struck out one in chalking up the first whitewash of the year by a Braves' pitcher. The Braves, climbing from the cellar when the three-game Pirate series started, to fifth place on the strength of the sweep, collected 11 hits off two Pittsburgh pitchers and hung the loss on starter George O'Connell.

Leg Cramp Forces Reynolds To Quit

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — Allie Reynolds pitched one hit ball until he was forced to retire in the eighth inning with a leg cramp as the New York Yankees today blanked Baltimore 9-0. The only hit off Reynolds was a leadoff single by Bobby Young in the first inning.

The Yanks rapped Joe Coleman and his successors for 11 hits including Yogi Berra's third homer of the year with Joe Collins on base in the first.

Charleston Golfer Edges Snead, 65-66

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 6 (AP)—Joe Taylor sneaked in from Charleston, W. Va., today and horned in on Sam Snead's Greenbrier Open Golf Tournament by beating par by five strokes with a 65 and the first round lead.

Snead, who is out to win the tournament on his home course for the fourth straight time, strove mightily to get off in front, but had to be satisfied with runner-up, a stroke behind.

Herman Scharlau of Boca Raton, Fla., and Jack Burke Jr. of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., were tied for third at 68.

The 34-year-old Taylor wasn't added to the probable starters for the $10,000 tournament until yesterday, but he made his presence felt promptly. He was in the second group to finish and his score held up right through Snead, who was last.

Of the 29 pros who started the 72-hole tourney which runs through Sunday, 14 equalled or bettered the par 70. George Fazio of Pine Valley, N.J., was among those even with par after a terrific up and down round in which he had five birdies and the same number of bogeys.

Errie Ball of Oak Park, Ill., and Gil Cavanaugh of Cedarhurst N.Y. were among those who went over after they suffered a two-stroke penalty. They made the mistake of hitting each other's ball on the 13th.

Jimmy Demaret gave up in disgust and stopped counting after twice hitting into the creek on the 17th.

Welterweights Clash At St. Nick Tonight

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Eduardo Lausse, a highly touted import from the Argentine, and Chico Varona, the Cuban welter champ, give tomorrow night's St. Nicholas Arena show a Latin American flavor.

Lausse is an 11 to 5 favorite in this clash of South of the border gauchos, chasing the Yankee dollar for the TV (NBC) cameras. The 10-round match, starting at 9 p.m. EST gets the usual Friday night radio (ABC) and TV network coverage.

A knockout is expected off the records that show the two have stopped a total of 71 in 120 fights. Lausse has 38 knockouts in his career record of 47-5-2 for 54 starts. Varona has stopped 33 while compiling a 53-13 record since 1945. Varona was stopped three times. Lausse never was stopped.

Lausse, managed by Charlie Johnston, has a 15-fight win streak. He hasn't lost since Sept. 13, 1952 when he dropped a decision to Kid Gavilan in a non-title bout before 20,000 at Buenos Aires. Varona has won 14 of his last 15, including two by knockout this year.

Chisox Rally Defeats Nats In Ninth, 5-4

Minoso Gets 4 Hits, Harry Dorish Victor

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The league-leading Chicago White Sox rallied for two runs with two out in the ninth inning to defeat Washington, 5-4 today. Orestes Minoso led Chicago's 11-hit attack with four singles, driving across four runs.

Roy Sievers lifted the Senators into a 4-3 lead in the seventh when he blasted his fourth home run of the season into the left field bleachers to break a 3-3 tie.

With two out in the ninth, Nelson Fox doubled high off the right field wall and Minoso's fourth single scored Fox with the tying run. Third baseman Eddie Yost fumbled Bob Boyd's grounder and Willard Marshall singled to center off Camilo Pascual, 20-year-old Cuban rookie who went the distance, to score Minoso with the winning run. It was Marshall's first RBI of the season.

Harry Dorish, who replaced Virgil Trucks in the sixth inning to become the victim of Siever's smash, was credited with the victory.

Dorish specializes in beating the Senators, possessing a 14-4 lifetime record against them.

Cleveland Tops Athletics, 3-2

PHILADELPHIA, May 6 (AP) — A leadoff eighth inning homer by third baseman Al Smith was enough margin to give the Cleveland Indians and Early Wynn a 3-2 win over the Philadelphia Athletics at Connie Mack Stadium tonight. Smith's poke offset a bases-empty homer in the same inning by the A's Vic Power.

Young Arnold Portocarrero, making his third outing with the A's since his return this spring from military service, was effective but not quite tight enough to hold the Indians in complete check.

Campers Strive To Shake City Series Jinx, Play Fort Hill

Keyser Battles Elk Garden For Lead In PVC

Allegany Last Won City Game In 1952; LaSalle Plays Beall

Allegany and Fort Hill will hook up in battle for the first time this season in the third game of the city's triangular race for the city baseball title today at 4 p.m. at Fort Hill Field.

Fort Hill, leader of the Bi-State Conference with a 6-1 record also paces the city race by virtue of its 3-1 victory over LaSalle. The Explorers, however, got back in the running by whitewashing Allegany to the tune of 7-0.

Winless Since 1952

Allegany has failed to win a city game since the 1952 season when the Campers copped four straight from their two city rivals. Losing four straight last season and the 1954 opener to LaSalle, the Campers will be striving today. Fort Hill bagged the 1953 series by scores of 2-0 and 7-3 and shared the city title with LaSalle, each team posting 3-1 records.

LaSalle, crowding Fort Hill in the Bi-State race a game off the pace with a 5-2 record, faces Beall High School at Frostburg today. Beall is having an off year with two wins in seven starts but the Mountaineers, you'll recall, tossed a monkey wrench into the Fort Hill machinery last week by spilling the Sentinels to the tune of 5-0, and may cause LaSalle trouble.

In other Friday games Bruce meets Valley at Barton and Hyndman visits Mt. Savage.

Battle For P.V.C. Lead

A battle for first place in the Potomac Valley Conference is on tap today when "Tack" Clark's Keyser High Golden Tornado battles Paul Kalbaugh's Elks at Elk Garden. Elk Garden tied Keyser for the lead Wednesday by defeating Romney and the winner of today's game takes over the circuit's undisputed leadership.

Each team has won four games and lost one. Keyser handed Elk Garden its lone defeat, 10-6. Keyser's defeat came at the hands of Romney High, 12-8. The Golden Tornado puts a four-game winning streak on the line today.

Capon Bridge invades Mathias for a conference game while the West Virginia School for the Deaf plays host to the Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney in a non-league tilt.

Potomac Plays Frosh

On the collegiate front, Potomac State College invades Morgantown for the finale of its series with the West Virginia Freshmen who bagged the opener in Keyser by the score of 15 to 5.

C. & A. Gas Company Wins League Roll-off

The C. & A. Gas Company edged a nine-pin decision over McIntyre's Grocers in the Cities Service Dux League roll-off Wednesday night on the Savoy alleys.

Carl "Bone" King of the Grocers posted high game and set with a 228 and 930 while "Harp" Bland of C. & A. led his team with a 220-879. George Sachs was runner-up for the Gas Company with 223-849 for the five games.

C. & A. toppled 3,684 pins to 3,675 for the losers.

The league's annual banquet will be held Wednesday, May 12, at 6:30 p. m. at the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall.

Central Defeats Kennell's Mill

Central Quick Lunch defeated Kennell's Quick Lunch in a County Softball League game yesterday on the Pennsylvanians' field by the score of 17-13.

The winners collected 13 hits, four of which were shared by Basilio and B. Crabtree, both of whom rapped a double and single each. Cessna banged a triple and two-bagger to pace the losers.

Central Quick Lunch plays the Potomac Valley Cubs in a league game today at Allegany Field at 6:15 o'clock. The score:

Pimlico Opens Meeting Today

BALTIMORE, May 6 (AP)—Pimlico officially starts getting ready for the May 22 Preakness tomorrow by starting its 18-day spring meeting.

Prior to the Preakness, second of the triple crown events for 3-year-olds, Pimlico will offer two stakes for thoroughbreds of other classes.

The $25,000 Dixie Handicap designed for the older horses will be run Saturday at a mile and furlong. The $20,000 Black-Eyed Susan, the 3-year-old filly counterpart of the Preakness, comes off May 15.

Those 3-year-olds looking for a tuneup before the $100,000 Preakness may have it in the Prep on May 17. The Prep for a $6,000 purse will be a mile and sixteenth, two sixteenths shorter than the Preakness.

Cubs Nose Out Brooklyn, 8-7

Jeffcoat Is Victor In 11-Inning Battle

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP) — Ernie Banks' 11th inning double plus an error scored Randy Jackson from first to give the home run-powered Chicago Cubs an 8-7 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today.

Jeffcoat hurled eight creditable innings, yielding only five hits, after replacing starter Johnny Klippstein with none out in the fourth inning of the 3:26 game.

The loser was Clem Labine, third Dodger hurler.

The Cubs, held without a home run yesterday for the first time in 13 games, got three today for a season total of 31 in 15 games.

Hank Sauer, hitting safely in his 14th straight game, slammed his ninth homer and 200th of his major league career with none on in the third. But the smash which ruined Dodger starter Carl Erskine was Dee Fondy's three-run homer in the fifth. In the same inning, Randy Jackson poled a two-run homer.

Vikings Remain In Running For Sectional Title

Beat Franklin, 9-3; Kessel Fans Eleven

PETERSBURG, W. Va., May 6—Petersburg High School's Vikings remained in the running for sectional honors today by defeating the Franklin High School Panthers for the second time this season. The score was 9-3.

Jim Veach's three-run triple featured a four-run outburst in the opening frame and the Vikings never were headed.

Jimmy Kessel held the visitors to three hits — all singles — and struck out eleven.

Harry Knicely, starter and loser, yielded four hits and seven runs in 2⅔ innings, hi' one batsman and gave up nine bases on balls. Depoy finished on the rubber for Franklin.

Third baseman John Waddy collected two of the Vikings' six hits.

West Side Marbles Title Is Won By Don Hillegas

Centre Street Finals Set For Today At 2:30

With two former school champions looking on, Don Hillegas won the West Side School marbles championship yesterday afternoon in a thrilling finals match with James Diehl who had also shot his way through the preliminary games and semi-finals.

Hillegas defeated Sue Carroll (only girl entry), Billy Jenkins, Roy Robertson, Pat Drum and E. Paul Brown. Diehl won over Michael Marrale, James Stewart, Ronald Fleck, Robert Keel and Lester Boden.

Raymond Skidmore, sixth grade teacher, conducted the preliminary games and had the field of over 40 reduced to 12 for yesterday's finals. Pupils assisting were Kenneth Twigg, Virgil Marrale (previous champions) and Jerry Brode.

Conclude Games Today

Today's field at Centre Street has been reduced, under the direction of Edward G. Geis (fifth grade teacher) to 20 players. The finals will get under way about 2:20 p. m.

Only eight more schools have to hold finals to determine their representatives in the city finals June 1 at Gephart Playground, Frederick street.

The city champion will be given a week's vacation at the seashore, after school is out, with all expenses paid by the Times-News. For six days the Cumberland area mibs champion will live like a king at a big hotel in Asbury Park, N. J. along with marbles champs from all parts of the U. S. During the third week in June the National Marbles Tournament will be held in Asbury Park. A feature for all the boys will be a trip by ocean steamer to New York City, passing the Statue of Liberty and seeing the famous New York skyline as though just arriving in the U. S. A. from overseas.

Schedule Next Week

Next week's finals are scheduled as follows: Tuesday, Virginia Avenue; Wednesday, Corriganville; Thursday, La Vale, Friday, St. Mary's.

During the week of May 17 selection of school champs will be completed at East Side, Columbia Street, Humbird and Allegany Junior High.

Each school champion will be given a "Marbles Champion" T-shirt and four movie tickets. Each runnerup gets two movie tickets at the June 1 city finals.

Boros Leads At Ardmore

North Carolina Pro Posts 1st Round 68

ARDMORE, Okla., May 6 (AP)—A sensational barrage of birdies produced a 2-under-par 68 today and carried former National Open champion Julius Boros into the first round lead of the $15,000 Ardmore Open Golf Tournament over the Dornick Hills course.

The stylist from Mid Pines, N. C., toured the 6,483-yard layout in nines of 33-35 and hauled down $600 in bonus money. He collected $500 for the day's lowest round and picked up $100 for six birdies which overshadowed four bogies.

The leader was in no spot to let down in tomorrow's second round. Right after him with one-under-par 69s were Leo Biagetti, the 26-year-old Sandusky, Ohio, plugger; Walter Burkemo, PGA champion from Franklin, Mich., and Harold Williams Jr., of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Campers Strive To Shake City Series Jinx, Play Fort Hill

Keyser Battles Elk Garden For Lead In PVC

Allegany Last Won City Game In 1952; LaSalle Plays Beall

Allegany and Fort Hill will hook up in battle for the first time this season in the third game of the city's triangular race for the city baseball title today at 4 p.m. at Fort Hill Field.

Fort Hill, leader of the Bi-State Conference with a 6-1 record also paces the city race by virtue of its 3-1 victory over LaSalle. The Explorers, however, got back in the running by whitewashing Allegany to the tune of 7-0.

Winless Since 1952

Allegany has failed to win a city game since the 1952 season when the Campers copped four straight from their two city rivals. Losing four straight last season and the 1954 opener to LaSalle, the Campers will be striving to break a five-game string today. Fort Hill bagged the 1953 series by scores of 2-0 and 7-3 and shared the city title with LaSalle, each team posting 3-1 records.

LaSalle, crowding Fort Hill in the Bi-State race a game off the pace with a 5-2 record, faces Beall High School at Frostburg today. Beall is having an off year with two wins in seven starts but the Mountaineers, you'll recall, tossed a monkey wrench into the Fort Hill machinery last week by spilling the Sentinels to the tune of 5-0, and may cause LaSalle trouble.

In other Friday games Bruce meets Valley at Barton and Hyndman visits Mt. Savage.

Battle For P.V.C. Lead

A battle for first place in the Potomac Valley Conference is on tap today when "Tack" Clark's Keyser High Golden Tornado battles Paul Kalbaugh's Elks at Elk Garden. Elk Garden tied Keyser for the lead Wednesday by defeating Romney and the winner of today's game takes over the circuit's undisputed leadership.

Each team has won four games and lost one. Keyser handed Elk Garden its lone defeat, 10-6. Keyser's defeat came at the hands of Romney High, 12-8. The Golden Tornado puts a four-game winning streak on the line today.

Capon Bridge invades Mathias for a conference game while the West Virginia School for the Deaf plays host to the Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney in a non-league tilt.

Potomac Plays Frosh

On the collegiate front, Potomac State College invades Morgantown for the finale of its series with the West Virginia Freshmen who bagged the opener in Keyser by the score of 15 to 5.

C. & A. Gas Company Wins League Roll-off

The C. & A. Gas Company edged a nine-pin decision over McIntyre's Grocers in the Cities Service Dux League roll-off Wednesday night on the Savoy alleys.

Carl "Bone" King of the Grocers posted high game and set with a 228 and 930 while "Harp" Bland of C. & A. led his team with a 220-879. George Sachs was runner-up for the Gas Company with 223-849 for the five games.

C. & A. toppled 3,684 pins to 3,675 for the losers.

The league's annual banquet will be held Wednesday, May 12, at 6:30 p. m. at the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall.

Central Defeats Kennell's Mill

Central Quick Lunch defeated Kennell's Quick Lunch in a County Softball League game yesterday on the Pennsylvanians' field by the score of 17-13.

The winners collected 13 hits, four of which were shared by Basilio and B. Crabtree, both of whom rapped a double and single each. Cessna banged a triple and two-bagger to pace the losers.

Central Quick Lunch plays the Potomac Valley Cubs in a league game today at Allegany Field at 6:15 o'clock. The score:

Pimlico Opens Meeting Today

BALTIMORE, May 6 (AP)—Pimlico officially starts getting ready for the May 22 Preakness tomorrow by starting its 18-day spring meeting.

Prior to the Preakness, second of the triple crown events for 3-year-olds, Pimlico will offer two stakes for thoroughbreds of other classes.

The $25,000 Dixie Handicap designed for the older horses will be run Saturday at a mile and furlong. The $20,000 Black-Eyed Susan, the 3-year-old filly counterpart of the Preakness, comes off May 15.

Those 3-year-olds looking for a tuneup before the $100,000 Preakness may have it in the Prep on May 17. The Prep for a $6,000 purse will be a mile and sixteenth, two sixteenths shorter than the Preakness.

Vikings Remain In Running For Sectional Title

Beat Franklin, 9-3; Kessel Fans Eleven

PETERSBURG, W. Va., May 6—Petersburg High School's Vikings remained in the running for sectional honors today by defeating the Franklin High School Panthers for the second time this season. The score was 9-3.

Jim Veach's three-run triple featured a four-run outburst in the opening frame and the Vikings never were headed.

Jimmy Kessel held the visitors to three hits — all singles — and struck out eleven.

Harry Knicely, starter and loser, yielded four hits and seven runs in 2⅔ innings, hit one batsman and gave up nine bases on balls. Depoy finished on the rubber for Franklin.

Third baseman John Waddy collected two of the Vikings' six hits.

Cubs Nose Out Brooklyn, 8-7

Jeffcoat Is Victor In 11-Inning Battle

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP) — Ernie Banks' 11th inning double plus an error scored Randy Jackson from first to give the home run-powered Chicago Cubs an 8-7 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today.

Jeffcoat hurled eight creditable innings, yielding only five hits, after replacing starter Johnny Klippstein with none out in the fourth inning of the 3:26 game.

The loser was Clem Labine, third Dodger hurler.

The Cubs, held without a home run yesterday for the first time in 13 games, got three today for a season total of 31 in 15 games.

Hank Sauer, hitting safely in his 14th straight game, slammed his ninth homer and 200th of his major league career with none on in the third. But the smash which ruined Dodger starter Carl Erskine was Dee Fondy's three-run homer in the fifth. In the same inning, Randy Jackson poled a two-run homer.

Boros Leads At Ardmore

North Carolina Pro Posts 1st Round 68

ARDMORE, Okla., May 6 (AP)—A sensational barrage of birdies produced a 2-under-par 68 today and carried former National Open champion Julius Boros into the first round lead of the $15,000 Ardmore Open Golf Tournament over the Dornick Hills course.

The stylist from Mid Pines, N. C., toured the 6,483-yard layout in nines of 33-35 and hauled down $600 in bonus money. He collected $500 for the day's lowest round and picked up $100 for six birdies which overshadowed four bogies.

The leader was in no spot to let down in tomorrow's second round. Right after him with one-under-par 69s were Leo Biagetti, the 26-year-old Sandusky, Ohio, plugger; Walter Burkemo, PGA champion from Franklin, Mich., and Harold Williams Jr., of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Cancel Practice

The practice session of Frostburg American Legion's junior baseball team, set for Saturday at 12:30, has been cancelled because of the game scheduled at the Frostburg Ball Park between Frostburg State Teachers College and West Virginia University Freshmen.

West Side Marbles Title Is Won By Don Hillegas

Centre Street Finals Set For Today At 2:30

With two former school champions looking on, Don Hillegas won the West Side School marbles championship yesterday afternoon in a thrilling finals match with James Diehl who had also shot his way through the preliminary games and semi-finals.

Hillegas defeated Sue Carroll (only girl entry), Billy Jenkins, Roy Robertson, Pat Drum and E. Paul Brown. Diehl won over Michael Marrale, James Stewart, Ronald Fleck, Robert Keel and Lester Boden.

Raymond Skidmore, sixth grade teacher, conducted the preliminary games and had the field of over 40 reduced to 12 for yesterday's finals. Pupils assisting were Kenneth Twigg, Virgil Marrale (previous champions) and Jerry Brode.

Conclude Games Today

Today's field at Centre Street has been reduced, under the direction of Edward G. Geis (fifth grade teacher) to 20 players. The finals will get under way about 2:20 p. m.

Only eight more schools have to hold finals to determine their representatives in the city finals June 1 at Gephart Playground, Frederick street.

The city champion will be given a week's vacation at the seashore, after school is out, with all expenses paid by the Times-News. For six days the Cumberland area mibs champion will live like a king at a big hotel in Asbury Park, N. J. along with marbles champs from all parts of the U. S. During the third week in June the National Marbles Tournament will be held in Asbury Park. A feature for all the boys will be a trip by ocean steamer to New York City, passing the Statue of Liberty and seeing the famous New York skyline as though just arriving in the U. S. A. from overseas.

Schedule Next Week

Next week's finals are scheduled as follows: Tuesday, Virginia Avenue; Wednesday, Corriganville; Thursday, La Vale, Friday, St. Mary's.

During the week of May 17 selection of school champs will be completed at East Side, Columbia Street, Humbird and Allegany Junior High.

Each school champion will be given a "Marb

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 6 (INS) — Everything is so rosy again between Ida Lupino and Howard Duff that they'll team in "Private Hell Three" for Collier Young, Ida's ex-husband. It all sounds like one happy family.

In addition to Ida and Howard, Collier is very pleased over snapping Steve Cochran, (who's plenty hot after "Carnival Story") and also Dean Jagger, a fair country actor himself.

Collier tells me, "We are making this just as we made 'The Bigamist,' for independent release. We made money with 'The Bigamist' and this one should be equally good. We've signed Don Siegel, who directed 'Riot in Cell Block 11' for Walter Wanger, to handle our picture."

Broadway, here she comes! Maureen O'Hara is the next Hollywood star to make her debut on the stage. Maureen gets in tomorrow from West Point where she's been on location on "The Long Grey Line," and she will have with her the script of "Fanny," which Josh Logan gave her.

Logan visited her at West Point and asked her to co-star with Ezio Pinza, who is already signed for this show. Maureen sang for Mrs. Logan and Sam Behrman, the author, and read some of the lines. Then and there she was offered the role and she accepted.

Maureen has four pictures unreleased, and she feels there's no better time to try her luck in the big town.

A scoop for Warner Brothers. Dudley Nichols, one of the most sought after screenwriters in our town, has been signed by Jack Warner to write "The Lewis and Clark Expedition."

Dudley won the Academy Award for "The Informer" in 1935, and last year he won the Laurel Award from the screen writers themselves, the highest compliment a writer can receive from his fellow craftsmen.

"The Lewis and Clark Expedition" will be Warners big film for 1955.

William Wyler not only is Sam Goldwyn's favorite gin rummy partner on Sunday evenings, he's also directed some of Sam's biggest money-making movies ("Best Years of Our Lives" and "Wuthering Heights" among them), automatically making Wyler Sam's favorite director.

So don't bat an eyelash if, over a gin rummy table, Wyler is signed to direct Sam's million dollar project, "Guys and Dolls." I might go so far as to say it's all set, except for the actual signing of the contract.

Ensconced in a bungalow at the Beverly Hills Hotel, Milto. Berle and his wife, Ruth Cosgrove, are ready to give out with the interviews. The Berles were met last night in a tired old taxi, as a gag, by Eddie Cantor.

Miltie, who is supposedly here for a rest, goes on to the Cantor show May 16, and then he stays on until August when he is a headliner at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas.

The Berles will look for a house here. Now all you people who have houses to rent — please don't call me!

After eight years of feuding with American censors, a final okay has been given Hildegarde Neff's foreign-made movie, "Sunderin, a Sinner." It opens soon in San Francisco and I understand it's been cleared for Los Angeles as well.

What caused the delay? As I get it, there's a nude bathing scene (whether of Hildegarde or another player I don't know) — and the censors found it objectionable.

I haven't the slightest idea what caused them to change their minds unless the nude moment has been eliminated.

Jean-Pierre, who is a talented young writer, told me that Claudette Colbert played in a French picture "Si Versailles En Etai Conte," which translated means "If Versailles Could Tell." Michele Morgan, Simone Simon, Sacha Guitry and other top players are associated with Claudette. The idea is to make money to restore historical Versailles.

Petit said Claudette has won a whole new public in France.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Any day Ava Gardner planes into town very secretly. But, at this moment, according to last word, she is still in Madrid.

My friend, Marie Wilson, takes her "My Friend, Irma" manner and goes to Indianapolis May 31 to award the Borg-Warner Trophy to the winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis speedway classic.

This I have to read! Lauren Bacall is writing a novel and she won't tell the subject. Three will get you ten that there will be a character named Bogey.

Marti Stevens and her bridegroom, Michael Butler, are visiting her Uncle Joe Schenck. Joe tells me that Marti's husband wants her to give up her singing ambitions but Marti says her marriage will not interfere with her career.

Poor George Distel, owner of the King's Restaurant, found he had a broken back as well as a broken leg. He's being given a testimonial dinner tomorrow and Larr, Finley is giving up master of ceremonying his own show to go to the King's and take charge of the Distel affair.

Mary McCarty, who continues to pack them in night after night at the Mocambo, will be followed May 18 by Benay Venuta.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Local GI Returning To U. S. From Japan

Cpl. Albertus Oxendine, 32, husband of Mrs. Nadine Oxendine, 132 North Centre Street, is returning to the United States after serving with the 8205th Army Unit at Camp Kokura, Japan. Overseas since July, 1952, he was a guard at the camp.

Another local veteran, Sgt. Donald F. Hott, son of Kirk G. Hott, RD 3, Valley Road, who served with the 5th Infantry Division in Korea, is spending a rotation leave at home. He will report to Fort Meade for reassignment.

Firemen Answer Call

Central firemen were called early yesterday afternoon to the Queen City Dairy Inc., South Mechanic Street, when a short circuit ignited roofing in the rear of the building. Damage was minor.

Your telephone personality is important! Be sure you rate high on telephone voice, speech and etiquette.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

At one party or another in your young or adult life, you must have played the telephone game, in which one member of the group repeats a phrase to her neighbor and the phrase is carried in whispers to the end of the line. When the last player tells aloud the words relayed by the individual at her side, the phrase usually is unintelligible.

One object of this game is confusion, and that makes it amusing. It's not so amusing, however, when an actual telephone message is garbled. Nor is it one's intent to relay misinformation by phone.

I classify all telephone errors under one heading—telephonitis! This includes the over-long conversation in a pay booth while others are waiting, the extended chatter that ties up a party line, the intentional or inadvertent lapses of vocal etiquette that occur in telephoning but seldom in face-to-face talk.

Speak Up!

In normal conversation you pitch your voice so as to be heard and understood by your companion of the moment. In telephone conversation, too, the rule of easy audibility should be observed. The telephone shout and the telephone whisper are in equally poor taste. Your voice should be clear and distinct, if you'd meet with a proper reception at the other end of the line.

When calling, give your name. You may expect the second party to a social or business call to recognize your voice. But you eliminate any chance of mistaken identity merely by saying "This is Betty," or "Mrs. Harper," or "Betty Harper," as appropriate to the situation. If the person you wish to reach is unavailable, leave a message. There's nothing so irritating as to be told that "someone" called while you were out.

A Moment's Thought

If you're not quite positive of your "spiel," wait a moment before you make your call, to outline the message in your mind. Don't you find it disconcerting when you pick up the phone and your caller fumbles through a message? Make your calls brief, businesslike (even though the message may be social) and to the point, by knowing exactly what you are going to say beforehand.

You're not judged on looks when making a telephone call. Your personality is conveyed through your voice, your speech and your etiquette. The way you handle these elements of your charm determine the impression you have left when you hang up the receiver.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness ,dullness, and lack of proper modulation. IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce by the Complainant a vincuolo matrimonii from the Respondent. The Bill recites that the parties were married on the 25th day of June, 1946, by a religious ceremony at Cumberland, Maryland; that the Complainant is domiciled in Allegany County, Maryland; and that the parties have been separated since June, 1952, and that their said separation has continued to the present time, for more than eighteen months, and without interruption. The last known address of the Respondent is c/o Cora M. Long, 126 Grand Avenue, Cumberland, Maryland.

It is therefore, this 22nd day of April, 1954, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the Complainant, William E. Carder, shall cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks, before the 24th day of May, 1954, giving notice to the absent Respondent, Lydia Irene Carder, of the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint filed against her and warning her to be and appear before this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 10th day of June, 1954, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

James T. Blizzard, Westernport, Maryland vs. Elizabeth M. Blizzard, Box 114, Mingo Junction, Ohio. No. 23393 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Plaintiff, James T. Blizzard, from the Defendant, Elizabeth M. Blizzard.

The Bill of Complaint states that the Plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, where he has resided for more than one year prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint; that the parties were married on March 26, 1949, in Westernport, Allegany County, Maryland; that no children were born of said marriage; that although the conduct of the Plaintiff was always kind, affectionate, and above reproach, yet the Defendant deserted and abandoned the Plaintiff on or about May 3, 1951; and that such abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation or hope of reconciliation.

The bill further recites that the Defendant is a resident of the state of Ohio, and her last known address appears in the heading of this suit.

It is, thereupon, this 6th day of May, 1954, by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in some nswepaper in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 7th day of June, 1954, giving notice to the said absent Defendant of the purpose of this suit and warning her to appear in this court on or before the 24th day of June, 1954, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree shall not be passed as prayed.

Joseph E. Boden, Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 6 (INS) — Everything is so rosy again between Ida Lupino and Howard Duff that they'll team in "Private Hell Three" for Collier Young, Ida's ex-husband. It all sounds like one happy family.

In addition to Ida and Howard, Collier is very pleased over snapping Steve Cochran, (who's plenty hot after "Carnival Story") and also Dean Jagger, a fair country actor himself.

Collier tells me, "We are making this just as we made 'The Bigamist,' for independent release. We made money with 'The Bigamist' and this one should be equally good. We've signed Don Siegel, who directed 'Riot in Cell Block 11' for Walter Wanger, to handle our picture."

Broadway, here she comes! Maureen O'Hara is the next Hollywood star to make her debut on the stage. Maureen gets in tomorrow from West Point where she's been on location on "The Long Grey Line," and she will have with her the script of "Fanny," which Josh Logan gave her.

Logan visited her at West Point and asked her to co-star with Ezio Pinza, who is already signed for this show. Maureen sang for Mrs. Logan and Sam Behrman, the author, and read some of the lines. Then and there she was offered the role and she accepted.

Maureen has four pictures unreleased, and she feels there's no better time to try her luck in the big town.

A scoop for Warner Brothers. Dudley Nichols, one of the most sought after screenwriters in our town, has been signed by Jack Warner to write "The Lewis and Clark Expedition."

Dudley won the Academy Award for "The Informer" in 1935, and last year he won the Laurel Award from the screen writers themselves, the highest compliment a writer can receive from his fellow craftsmen.

"The Lewis and Clark Expedition" will be Warners big film for 1955.

William Wyler not only is Sam Goldwyn's favorite gin rummy partner on Sunday evenings, he's also directed some of Sam's biggest money-making movies ("Best Years of Our Lives" and "Wuthering Heights" among them), automatically making Wyler Sam's favorite director.

So don't bat an eyelash if, over a gin rummy table, Wyler is signed to direct Sam's million dollar project, "Guys and Dolls." I might go so far as to say it's all set, except for the actual signing of the contract.

Ensconced in a bungalow at the Beverly Hills Hotel, Milto. Berle and his wife, Ruth Cosgrove, are ready to give out with the interviews. The Berles were met last night in a tired old taxi, as a gag, by Eddie Cantor.

Miltie, who is supposedly here for a rest, goes on to the Cantor show May 16, and then he stays on until August when he is a headliner at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas.

The Berles will look for a house here. Now all you people who have houses to rent — please don't call me!

After eight years of feuding with American censors, a final okay has been given Hildegarde Neff's foreign-made movie, "Sunderin, a Sinner." It opens soon in San Francisco and I understand it's been cleared for Los Angeles as well.

What caused the delay? As I get it, there's a nude bathing scene (whether of Hildegarde or another player I don't know) — and the censors found it objectionable.

I haven't the slightest idea what caused them to change their minds unless the nude moment has been eliminated.

Jean-Pierre, who is a talented young writer, told me that Claudette Colbert played in a French picture "Si Versailles En Etai Conte," which translated means "If Versailles Could Tell." Michele Morgan, Simone Simon, Sacha Guitry and other top players are associated with Claudette. The idea is to make money to restore historical Versailles.

Petit said Claudette has won a whole new public in France.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Any day Ava Gardner planes into town very secretly. But, at this moment, according to last word, she is still in Madrid.

My friend, Marie Wilson, takes her "My Friend, Irma" manner and goes to Indianapolis May 31 to award the Borg-Warner Trophy to the winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis speedway classic.

This I have to read! Lauren Bacall is writing a novel and she won't tell the subject. Three will get you ten that there will be a character named Bogey.

Marti Stevens and her bridegroom, Michael Butler, are visiting her Uncle Joe Schenck. Joe tells me that Marti's husband wants her to give up her singing ambitions but Marti says her marriage will not interfere with her career.

Poor George Distel, owner of the King's Restaurant, found he had a broken back as well as a broken leg. He's being given a testimonial dinner tomorrow and Larr, Finley is giving up master of ceremonying his own show to go to the King's and take charge of the Distel affair.

Mary McCarty, who continues to pack them in night after night at the Mocambo, will be followed May 18 by Benay Venuta.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Local GI Returning To U. S. From Japan

Cpl. Albertus Oxendine, 32, husband of Mrs. Nadine Oxendine, 132 North Centre Street, is returning to the United States after serving with the 8205th Army Unit at Camp Kokura, Japan. Overseas since July, 1952, he was a guard at the camp.

Another local veteran, Sgt. Donald F. Hott, son of Kirk G. Hott, RD 3, Valley Road, who served with the 5th Infantry Division in Korea, is spending a rotation leave at home. He will report to Fort Meade for reassignment.

Firemen Answer Call

Central firemen were called early yesterday afternoon to the Queen City Dairy Inc., South Mechanic Street, when a short circuit ignited roofing in the rear of the building. Damage was minor.

Your telephone personality is important! Be sure you rate high on telephone voice, speech and etiquette.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

At one party or another in your young or adult life, you must have played the telephone game, in which one member of the group repeats a phrase to her neighbor and the phrase is carried in whispers to the end of the line. When the last player tells aloud the words relayed by the individual at her side, the phrase usually is unintelligible.

One object of this game is confusion, and that makes it amusing. It's not so amusing, however, when an actual telephone message is garbled. Nor is it one's intent to relay misinformation by phone.

I classify all telephone errors under one heading—telephonitis! This includes the over-long conversation in a pay booth while others are waiting, the extended chatter that ties up a party line, the intentional or inadvertent lapses of vocal etiquette that occur in telephoning but seldom in face-to-face talk.

Speak Up!

In normal conversation you pitch your voice so as to be heard and understood by your companion of the moment. In telephone conversation, too, the rule of easy audibility should be observed. The telephone shout and the telephone whisper are in equally poor taste. Your voice should be clear and distinct, if you'd meet with a proper reception at the other end of the line.

When calling, give your name. You may expect the second party to a social or business call to recognize your voice. But you eliminate any chance of mistaken identity merely by saying "This is Betty," or "Mrs. Harper," or "Betty Harper," as appropriate to the situation. If the person you wish to reach is unavailable, leave a message. There's nothing so irritating as to be told that "someone" called while you were out.

A Moment's Thought

If you're not quite positive of your "spiel," wait a moment before you make your call, to outline the message in your mind. Don't you find it disconcerting when you pick up the phone and your caller fumbles through a message? Make your calls brief, businesslike (even though the message may be social) and to the point, by knowing exactly what you are going to say beforehand.

You're not judged on looks when making a telephone call. Your personality is conveyed through your voice, your speech and your etiquette. The way you handle these elements of your charm determine the impression you have left when you hang up the receiver.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness ,dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce by the Complainant a vincuolo matrimonii from the Respondent. The Bill recites that the parties were married on the 25th day of June, 1946, by a religious ceremony at Cumberland, Maryland; that the Complainant is domiciled in Allegany County, Maryland; and that the parties have been separated since June, 1952, and that their said separation has continued to the present time, for more than eighteen months, and without interruption. The last known address of the Respondent is c/o Cora M. Long, 126 Grand Avenue, Cumberland, Maryland.

It is therefore, this 22nd day of April, 1954, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the Complainant, William E. Carder, shall cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks, before the 24th day of May, 1954, giving notice to the absent Respondent, Lydia Irene Carder, of the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint filed against her and warning her to be and appear before this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 10th day of June, 1954, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Joseph E. Boden, Clerk.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Plaintiff, James T. Blizzard, from the Defendant, Elizabeth M. Blizzard.

The Bill of Complaint states that the Plaintiff is a resident of Allegany County, where he has resided for more than one year prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint; that the parties were married on March 26, 1949, in Westernport, Allegany County, Maryland; that no children were born of said marriage; that although the conduct of the Plaintiff was always kind, affectionate, and above reproach, yet the Defendant deserted and abandoned the Plaintiff on or about May 3, 1951; and that such abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation or hope of reconciliation.

The bill further recites that the Defendant is a resident of the state of Ohio, and her last known address appears in the heading of this suit.

It is, thereupon, this 6th day of May, 1954, by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in some nswepaper in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 7th day of June, 1954, giving notice to the said absent Defendant of the purpose of this suit and warning her to appear in this court on or before the 24th day of June, 1954, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree shall not be passed as prayed.

Joseph E. Boden, Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

(While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be continued by a number of guest writers. This one is by Edward R. Murrow.)

Workers In The Vineyard

By EDWARD R. MURROW

In this mass medium of communication—both radio and television—there's more than meets the ear and eye. There's a whole band of virtually forgotten men—the workers in the vineyard—who have to watch and listen whether they want to or not; the men who make the programs possible and perform technical tricks beyond the understanding of those of us who work in this business.

I have seen them work fifty-two hours at a stretch installing microphones and cables and lights to bring you a political convention. Wherever there's a microphone or camera, some engineer put it there. I've seen them risk their lives to bring you the sound of bombs and gunfire and aerial combat. I've seen them rig microphones in the Maginot Line, in bombers, on rooftops; had them ask to fly bombing mission just because they thought they could improve the quality of the broadcasts and then had them say when I came back: "If only you'd taken me along, I could have taken that quiver out of your voice."

The engineers have stretched hundreds of feet of cable just to bring you the sounds of horses' hoofs during a royal procession. During the war they arranged things so that we could push a button and talk to all four networks in this country in less than five seconds.

All during the Battle of Britain and the Blitz, the engineers in New York and London would talk for a few minutes before the broadcast went on the air. They discussed comparative prices of cabbages in New York and London, what they did on weekends. I remember there was one engineer in New York who was painting his house and we followed his progress in London with great interest. I've known reporters to get excited, but never the technicians and engineers.

This is particularly true in television — especially live television where each show is the equivalent of opening night in the theater. In live television you are not afforded the luxury of "doing it over." The television engineers always hope for the best and anticipate the worst. On accasion, I have seen them bring in mobile generators because the remote spots had insufficient power to handle the cameras. They have strung video cable up twenty-one floors of an apartment house. They have had to erect micro-wave relay towers—some of them a hundred feet or more in the air so that the picture could get on your screen. They have had to eliminate, on a moment's notice, interference with their pocket-sized microphones. They have had to battle light reflections from mirrors, street noises that could drown out the voice of a guest, a shortage of floor space, and and over-dose of last minute jitters on the part of nonprofessionals appearing on television.

Cameras break down when you least expect them too; circuits get crossed; and phone calls — often urgent ones—somehow just don't get through when they're most needed. But as I said, engineers and technicians are adaptable. They just go about their job, doing the best they can under a given set of circumstances. And when, once in a while, things do go wrong and a broadcast fails to get through, they just shrug their shoulders and say: "It's leaving here all right." Engineers are the toughest of all critics. And for this reporter it's a very great day when an engineer says, "That was a pretty fair show." They're generally conservative with their praise.

The engineers work amidst a forest of knobs and dials and cables and cameras. When the sweep hand on the big clock reaches the proper place, they throw you your cue. And they can do that in a dozen different ways. They can do it with a casua flip of the hand as though to say—"all right, go on and get it over with—it's only going to last fifteen minutes of a half hour. I can stand it." Or they can cut you with the sort of expression which says: "Understand, this is just my job. But don't think you'd be sitting here if I had anything to do with it. I have no responsibility for this." Or another engineer can give you your cue with a gesture which says: "Welcome. I have complete confidence that you're really going to make some sense tonight, make no fluffs and get off right on the nose." I'd rather have that kind of engineer than a handful of hot copy.

I'd also like to mention briefly the announcer—particularly on radio. Maybe you think he just reads commercial copy prepared by an advertising agency. But that's not the case. Often the announcer is the only tangible audience the broadcaster has—for he's the man across the microphone—the only one you see, except for the engineer. A good announcer is likely to say: "What have you got tonight?" and you reply: "It's a turkey, there isn't any news and what there is I've written badly and the end result will probably be merely a contribution to confusion." And the announcer says: "It can't be that bad. Just sit down and give it a reading." And while you read he listens and seems interested. When you fluff a line, or get a backlash on a sentence and it begins to strangle you, he grins and says with his eyes: "Go on, let it alone . . . if you go back for a second try it will be worse and anyway it wasn't as bad as you think." And occasionally, not too often, when the program is done, the announcer will turn to you and say: "You know, you had a couple of minutes of pretty good stuff in that show tonight. Wasn't bad." With a good announcer you always feel that if your throat closes up or you go crazy, you can throw him the copy and your pencilled notes and he will carry on and get the show off on time.

So, I commend to you a small token of recognition to the announcers, the engineers and the technicians who work our shows . . . the men who have to listen whether they want to or not . . . the men who have not the choice of just turning the switch and stopping listening. These above all are the workers in the vineyard.

I said this was a column about engineers and announcers. One day I'd like to try my hand at a book about film cameramen and cutters, at least six of whom have learned to stay up for thirty-six straight hours and do it almost every week.

UNUSUAL PLAYS JOINED

ANY of the unusual plays of bridge is pretty to a tutored kibitzer when well executed. But something still nicer to see is a job during which two unusual plays are combined to help make a single contract. One form of procedure not witnessed too often is that in which the dummy is established, as if it were the master hand, even though it contain only three trumps. Another which is spotted only once in a month of Sundays—and which many players have never seen—is the discarding of a side-suit loser on a trump of the opposite hand, as part of the setting-up process.

It's a good thing South let North play the slam in clubs, as a bid of 6-Hearts by him could have run up against trouble, especially if the club finesse was guessed wrong, and a bid of 6-No Trumps could have brought ruin when a spade was led. It was also a good thing for an interested kibitzer behind the declarer, as he got a treat watching the club play after East led the spade 8.

The manipulator, Edmund Freneau, of New Jersey, will be long remembered for what he did after winning with the spade A. He decided to set up the dummy by reverse play, instead of his own hand, and managed it successfully although he lost the trump finesse. Because of West's bid, he decided to count that worthy for the club Q. So after laying down the club A, he led the J and sent it through, being startled when East showed up with the Q. The diamond Q was returned to remove the K as a dummy reentry to bring in the hearts, but Mr. Freneau took it with his A, then laid down the club K and 10.

The second of those trumps brought a discard of the diamond 8 from the dummy, a vital play as shortly developed. The three heart tops were scored and the 2 ruffed to eliminate the J. Then the diamond 3 to the K gave entry to finish with the heart 10 and 3 on the board.

What extremes must South use in striving for his 6-Spades after West leads the spade 7?

Workers In The Vineyard

By EDWARD R. MURROW

In this mass medium of communication—both radio and television—there's more than meets the ear and eye. There's a whole band of virtually forgotten men—the workers in the vineyard—who have to watch and listen whether they want to or not; the men who make the programs possible and perform technical tricks beyond the understanding of those of us who work in this business.

I refer to the men you never hear or see—the engineers.

I have seen them work fifty-two hours at a stretch installing microphones and cables and lights to bring you a political convention. Wherever there's a microphone or camera, some engineer put it there. I've seen them risk their lives to bring you the sound of bombs and gunfire and aerial combat. I've seen them rig microphones in the Maginot Line, in bombers, on rooftops; had them ask to fly bombing mission just because they thought they could improve the quality of the broadcasts and then had them say when I came back: "If only you'd taken me along, I could have taken that quiver out of your voice."

The engineers have stretched hundreds of feet of cable just to bring you the sounds of horses' hoofs during a royal procession. During the war they arranged things so that we could push a button and talk to all four networks in this country in less than five seconds.

All during the Battle of Britain and the Blitz, the engineers in New York and London would talk for a few minutes before the broadcast went on the air. They discussed comparative prices of cabbages in New York and London, what they did on weekends. I remember there was one engineer in New York who was painting his house and we followed his progress in London with great interest. I've known reporters to get excited, but never the technicians and engineers.

This is particularly true in television — especially live television where each show is the equivalent of opening night in the theater. In live television you are not afforded the luxury of "doing it over." The television engineers always hope for the best and anticipate the worst. On accasion, I have seen them bring in mobile generators because the remote spots had insufficient power to handle the cameras. They have strung video cable up twenty-one floors of an apartment house. They have had to erect micro-wave relay towers—some of them a hundred feet or more in the air so that the picture could get on your screen. They have had to eliminate, on a moment's notice, interference with their pocket-sized microphones. They have had to battle light reflections from mirrors, street noises that could drown out the voice of a guest, a shortage of floor space, and and over-dose of last minute jitters on the part of non-professionals appearing on television.

Cameras break down when you least expect them too; circuits get crossed; and phone calls — often urgent ones—somehow just don't get through when they're most needed. But as I said, engineers and technicians are adaptable. They just go about their job, doing the best they can under a given set of circumstances. And when, once in a while, things do go wrong and a broadcast fails to get through, they just shrug their shoulders and say: "It's leaving here all right." Engineers are the toughest of all critics. And for this reporter it's a very great day when an engineer says, "That was a pretty fair show." They're generally conservative with their praise.

The engineers work amidst a forest of knobs and dials and cables and cameras. When the sweep hand on the big clock reaches the proper place, they throw you your cue. And they can do that in a dozen different ways. They can do it with a casual flip of the hand as though to say—"all right, go on and get it over with—it's only going to last fifteen minutes of a half hour. I can stand it." Or they can cut you with the sort of expression which says: "Understand, this is just my job. But don't think you'd be sitting here if I had anything to do with it. I have no responsibility for this." Or another engineer can give you your cue with a gesture which says: "Welcome. I have complete confidence that you're really going to make some sense tonight, make no fluffs and get off right on the nose." I'd rather have that kind of engineer than a handful of hot copy.

I'd also like to mention briefly the announcer—particularly on radio. Maybe you think he just reads commercial copy prepared by an advertising agency. But that's not the case. Often the announcer is the only tangible audience the broadcaster has—for he's the man across the microphone—the only one you see, except for the engineer. A good announcer is likely to say: "What have you got tonight?" and you reply: "It's a turkey, there isn't any news and what there is I've written badly and the end result will probably be merely a contribution to confusion." And the announcer says: "It can't be that bad. Just sit down and give it a reading." And while you read he listens and seems interested. When you fluff a line, or get a backlash on a sentence and it begins to strangle you, he grins and says with his eyes: "Go on, let it alone . . . if you go back for a second try it will be worse and anyway it wasn't as bad as you think." And occasionally, not too often, when the program is done, the announcer will turn to you and say: "You know, you had a couple of minutes of pretty good stuff in that show tonight. Wasn't bad." With a good announcer you always feel that if your throat closes up or you go crazy, you can throw him the copy and your pencilled notes and he will carry on and get the show off on time.

So, I commend to you a small token of recognition to the announcers, the engineers and the technicians who work our shows . . . the men who have to listen whether they want to or not . . . the men who have not the choice of just turning the switch and stopping listening. These above all are the workers in the vineyard.

I said this was a column about engineers and announcers. One day I'd like to try my hand at a book about film cameramen and cutters, at least six of whom have learned to stay up for thirty-six straight hours and do it almost every week.

UNUSUAL PLAYS JOINED

ANY of the unusual plays of bridge is pretty to a tutored kibitzer when well executed. But something still nicer to see is a job during which two unusual plays are combined to help make a single contract. One form of procedure not witnessed too often is that in which the dummy is established, as if it were the master hand, even though it contain only three trumps. Another which is spotted only once in a month of Sundays—and which many players have never seen—is the discarding of a side-suit loser on a trump of the opposite hand, as part of the setting-up process.

	♠ 10 6 2 ♥ 5 ♦ A 7 6 3 ♣ K 10 9 7 4
♠ K Q J 9 5 3 ♥ J 7 6 4 ♦ J ♣ 8 3	N W E S	♠ 8 7 4 ♥ 9 8 ♦ Q 10 9 4 2 ♣ Q 6 5
	♠ A ♥ A K Q 10 3 2 ♦ K 8 5 ♣ A J 2

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	2 ♥	2 ♠
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass

It's a good thing South let North play the slam in clubs, as a bid of 6-Hearts by him could have run up against trouble, especially if the club finesse was guessed wrong, and a bid of 6-No Trumps could have brought ruin when a spade was led. It was also a good thing for an interested kibitzer behind the declarer, as he got a treat watching the club play after East led the spade 8.

The manipulator, Edmund Freneau, of New Jersey, will be long remembered for what he did after winning with the spade A. He decided to set up the dummy by reverse play, instead of his own hand, and managed it successfully although he lost the trump finesse. Because of West's bid, he decided to count that worthy for the club Q. So after laying down the club A, he led the J and sent it through, being startled when East showed up with the Q. The diamond Q was returned to remove the K as a dummy reentry to bring in the hearts, but Mr. Freneau took it with his A, then laid down the club K and 10.

The second of those trumps brought a discard of the diamond 8 from the dummy, a vital play as shortly developed. The three heart tops were scored and the 2 ruffed to eliminate the J. Then the diamond 3 to the K gave entry to finish with the heart 10 and 3 on the board.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ J 10 8 ♥ A K 10 9 ♦ 9 7 4 ♣ A 7 5
♠ 7 3 ♥ Q J 5 4 ♦ K J 2 ♣ K 9 4 2	N W E S	♠ 6 4 ♥ 8 6 ♦ Q 10 6 5 3 ♣ J 10 8 3
	♠ A K Q 9 5 2 ♥ 7 3 2 ♦ A 8 ♣ Q 6

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

Happy!
Yes, all except our competitors who want hundreds of $$$ more. Every car plainly marked. Would you buy from a Super Market that didn't price their goods? We are not ashamed of our prices. We don't want to get rich. (No chance at these prices)

College Avenue Widening Plan Is Outlined

Frostburg Council Endorses Proposal

FROSTBURG — James L. Reid, Supervisor of School Planning, State Board of Education, submitted plans and specifications Wednesday evening for the closing of Park Avenue and the widening of College Avenue, to Frostburg city fathers.

The council after a lengthy discussion of the various details, expressed approval of the project and pledged their cooperation in having the work done this summer, providing the proposals are approved at a public meeting which must be held under the terms of the new city charter to give interested citizens an opportunity to express their views.

Reid informed the mayor and city commissioners that the supervisory responsibilities connected with the widening of College Avenue would be assumed by the State Roads Commission and added that engineers of the commission had already completed plans and specifications for widening College Avenue from Bowery to Broadway.

Paul Kempter, an engineering official of the States Roads Commission, attended the meeting and explained in detail the work that would be necessary in widening College Avenue and the changes that would be necessary in renewing the water mains and other utilitiy lines. It was also explained by Reid that the Potomac Edison Company had offered their cooperation by relocating poles.

All estimates of cost submitted were for the widening of College Avenue from Bowery to Broadway, but the city commissioners decided the street should be widened to Water Street, which is a distance of about 1800 feet. The cost of widening College Avenue, not including Water Street, was estimated at about $59,000. A change was discussed for extending the work to Water Street which would involve additional cost.

Reid explained that the closing of Park Avenue is necessary in order to provide the college with a modern campus comparable to those of other state teacher colleges in Maryland.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP)—Selling pressure mounted steadily against wheat on the Board of Trade today and by the finish the bread cereal had been thrown back for substantial losses.

Weakness in wheat upset the rest of the list, although declines in other commodities were not large.

College Avenue Widening Plan Is Outlined

Frostburg Council Endorses Proposal

FROSTBURG — James L. Reid, Supervisor of School Planning, State Board of Education, submitted plans and specifications Wednesday evening for the closing of Park Avenue and the widening of College Avenue, to Frostburg city fathers.

The council after a lengthy discussion of the various details, expressed approval of the project and pledged their cooperation in having the work done this summer, providing the proposals are approved at a public meeting which must be held under the terms of the new city charter to give interested citizens an opportunity to express their views.

Reid informed the mayor and city commissioners that the supervisory responsibilities connected with the widening of College Avenue would be assumed by the State Roads Commission and added that engineers of the commission had already completed plans and specifications for widening College Avenue from Bowery to Broadway.

Paul Kempter, an engineering official of the States Roads Commission, attended the meeting and explained in detail the work that would be necessary in widening College Avenue and the changes that would be necessary in renewing the water mains and other utilitiy lines. It was also explained by Reid that the Potomac Edison Company had offered their cooperation by relocating poles.

All estimates of cost submitted were for the widening of College Avenue from Bowery to Broadway, but the city commissioners decided the street should be widened to Water Street, which is a distance of about 1800 feet. The cost of widening College Avenue, not including Water Street, was estimated at about $59,000. A change was discussed for extending the work to Water Street which would involve additional cost.

Reid explained that the closing of Park Avenue is necessary in order to provide the college with a modern campus comparable to those of other state teacher colleges in Maryland.

Home Nursing Class Formed

MT. SAVAGE—A Home Nursing class under the instructions of Mrs. Gladys Pressman, was formed Tuesday evening in the Community Building on Main Street. The classes are sponsored by the Red Cross for the Mt. Savage 4-H Club under the leadership of Mrs. Lawrence Diehl. The classes will be held each Tuesday and Thursday evening for the next three weeks, two hours a night.

The class consists of Shelva Winebrenner, Shirley Gordon, Evelyn Snyder, Beulah Wisenberg, Dorothy Aldridge, Rosemarie Houck, Ruby Ann Rice, Jane Rizer, Lois Werner and Janet Fair.

Mrs. Pressman is a graduate of the class of 1940 of Allegany Hospital, now the Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

City Requests Bids On Water Plant Project

Old Filter Units To Be Modernized

William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, said bids will be opened on Tuesday, June 1, at 10 a. m. at a special meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Plan Contact Basins

Also included is the construction of two up-flow contact basins of reinforced concrete, each 45 feet in diameter, with a control chamber. These units, the first to be built in Maryland, will remove most of the sediment from water before it is fed into filter beds—where microscopic materials will be removed.

The work will include alterations to the existing structure, housing of the modernized area, mechanical equipment, piping and valves, electrical work and other incidental items.

Mixing, flocculation and settling equipment and motor-operated floor stands will be furnished and installed in a succeeding contract, according to the notice to contractors.

Installation of certain equipment items which can be installed in the future at no extra cost is being deferred in order to keep the estimated cost of the work within available funds, about $250,000.

The upcoming contract is a continuation of a long-range plan of modernization and expansion of the city's water facilities.

New Filters Built

The first part of the program was completed last year at a cost of about $310,000. This included the installation of six new filter units, each with a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons of water daily, and a modern building to house the new filters.

Modernization of the plant's clearwell, which failed as the work got underway, and partial modernization of the chemical house was included in the work already accomplished.

When the old filters are modernized, the city will have a plant capable of filtering 18,000,000 gallons of water daily, and over 22,000,000 gallons if needed during peak loads, since all of the units are built to operate under 25 per cent overloads.

GEORGE A. SEIBERT

Banker Receives Certificate As Member Of 50-Year Club

George A. Siebert Began As Runner In 1895

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

When George A. Seibert, 231 Glenn Street, assistant secretary of the Liberty Trust Company, received a Certificate of Membership in the 50-Year-Club yesterday he became a member of a select group in the Maryland Bankers Association.

The genial gentleman was beaming all over when he opened the envelope and read that his name had been placed on roster with other state bankers.

Siebert has been employed with the Liberty Trust Company since its founding in 1920 and began his career as a runner in the former Third National Bank in 1895.

The letter accompaning the certificate read in part, "Your service to banking in Maryland has indeed been outstanding and this formal recognition represents only a minute reflection of our esteem."

The letter and certificate were signed by Thomas E. McConnell, president of the Maryland Bankers Association and Harper R. Clark, chairman of the 50-Year Club.

During an interview yesterday, he recalled how his father came to Cumberland one day, talked with a number of bank officials and said that his son, George, did not care too much for farming on North Branch and probably would like to work in a bank where he could learn something.

After working as a runner for the Third National Bank in the horse-and-buggy days when banking was simpler, Siebert recalled, he resigned about 1900 and went to work with the Interstate Trust Company which a few years later went out of business.

It was in 1903 that Siebert became a bookkeeper and cashier with the Times and Alleganian Company, and remained in that position for about two years when he decided to get back in the banking business.

He rejoined the Third National Bank and was employed with them when it merged with other banks in 1920 to form the Liberty Trust Company. Siebert has seen the Queen City grow up during the past half-century and in recalling the horse-drawn buggies on the city streets remarked, "Boy, were they noisy!"

During the years he has seen dry goods stores where bolts of cloth were sold give way to the modern clothing stores, and small frame buildings torn down to be replaced by the large hotels.

Banking in the early 20th Century was very simple in comparision to the modern trend with its various types of savings accounts and loan plans, he pointed out.

His current duties include being a teller as well as assistant secretary and he is rather proud of his punctuality on the job.

Plans To Retire

Siebert said yesterday he is planning to retire sometime in the near future and remarked that he

Baltimore Pike Firemen Plan Fund Campaign

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company is preparing plans for its annual fund drive which will start Monday, May 10, and run for about two weeks, Martin M. Gordon, company president, disclosed last night.

This volunteer group covers an area that extends along Baltimore Pike from the top of Martin's Mountain to the city limits, north to the state line and Mason Road and south to Williams Road.

In conducting the campaign to pay off the company's mortgage, Baltimore Pike firemen have divided the area they serve into districts which will be canvassed by teams of two or three men.

Joseph Bruner is general chairman of the fund raising drive.

Some eight teams have been designated to solicit funds. Along Jeffries Road to Williams Road Theodore Rice, Dale Valentine and Richard Arnold will handle the solicition. Along Christie Road and Willow Brook Road to the city limits Donald and Kenneth Michael will be in charge.

Bruner, James Michael and John Twigg will cover Rocky Gap Road, Beans Cove Road and the Old Hancock Road. Hinkle Road and Williams Road to Mt. Herman Church will be solicited by Leslie Hinkle and Roy Charlton.

Four different teams will work portions of the Baltimore Pike. From the city limits to Mt. Pleasant Road and including Eastman Road, DeHaven Road and Mason Road the team of solicitors will include Amos Lyons, Richard Lynch and Melvin DeHaven. From Mt. Pleasant Road to Johnson Road, the solicitors will be Clinton and Earl Jewell. From Breakneck Road to the top of Martin's Mountain Gordon will be the solicitor. From the Fire Hall to Johnson Road the team will include Roy Gross and Harry Wilson.

$221 Verdict Awarded By Circuit Court Jury

An Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday awarded $221.59 damages to Charles M. Broadwater of the Union Grove area and the Pearl Assurance Company.

The plaintiff had sued Thomas Miltenberger of Flintstone for $500 damages as a result of a two-car collision last June 23 on Hazen Road. Broadwater was paid $171.59 damages by the equitable plaintiff with which he had a $50-deductible insurance policy.

Representing the plaintiff was Attorney William R. Carscaden. The defense attorney was Earl E. Manges. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris officiated at the trial.

Rare Writ Is Denied Prisoner

A seldom-requested writ of coram nobis has been denied an inmate of the Maryland House of Correction by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The petitioner, William Taylor, was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction February 10 on his conviction by Judge James Clark in Anne Arundel County on a charge of being "a rogue and a vagabond."

In his letter of denial to Taylor, Judge Harris explains that a writ of error coram nobis is an old common-law writ recognized in Maryland. Its function is different from an ordinary writ of error in that the latter raises questions of law, while the former deals only with facts, which, if known at the time judgment was rendered, would have prohibited its rendition.

Also, it is unlike the writ of error in that it is returned to the court which rendered the judgment, while the writ of error is taken to some other and superior court.

"The decisions both in America and England are uniform in holding that the writ lies only to the trial court to correct its own errors of facts . . ." Judge Harris wrote.

He concludes by telling Taylor that a writ of coram nobis must be sought from Judge Clark. Taylor has argued that Judge Clark denied him the benefit of witnesses who would have shown he was not "a rogue and a vagabond."

On April 1, Judge Harris denied Taylor's original plea for a writ of habeas corpus.

Rieve Re-Elected President Of CIO Textile Workers

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 6 (AP)—Emil Rieve, president of the CIO Textile Workers Union of America since its birth 15 years ago, was re-elected today for another two-year term.

The Polish-born labor leader was unopposed in the election at the union convention here.

Elected to their first full terms were William Pollock, executive vice president and John Chupka, secretary-treasurer. Both were named to their present posts in a special executive council election last year.

The TWUA has voted an increase in the minimum dues to $3 a month from $2 a month. Of the $3, $1.50 goes to the international union and the other half stays with the local.

Teen Road-e-o Written Test Due Next Week

Will Be Conducted At Central YMCA

Young Allegany County motorists who would like to compete in the annual Teen-age Road-e-o which the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce is sponsoring here again this year were reminded last night that the first obstacle for them to surmount is the written examination.

Instead of being conducted in the various schools as was the case last year, the written examination will be taken at Central YMCA. James W. Hines, general chairman of the Road-e-o, stressed that the test will be given between 7 and 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, May 12 and 13.

Any licensed driver enrolled in any public or parochial school in Allegany County may compete in the road-e-o.

Those making the best grades in the written examination will compete in the driving test which will be conducted on the A&P parking lot, Wineow Street, at 2 p.m. Memorial Day, Sunday, May 30. The young drivers must negotiate standard-shift automobiles through four tests designed to prove the skill of the driver. There is no emphasis upon speed.

The aim of the Jaycees is to show, by example, that young drivers can be careful and are more skilled than many of the older motorists. Trophies will be presented to the top three contestants here.

Winners here will go to Baltimore to compete in the state Road-e-o, which is scheduled for Saturday, June 12.

The winner of the Maryland contest will join with other state representatives August 10-14 in Washington, to compete in the National Teen-Age Road-e-o, which is co-sponsored by the United States Jaycees, Liberty Mutual Insurance companies, and the American Trucking Associations Inc.

Last year, over 80,000 teen-agers took part in more than 600 local contests.

Mahoney, Dorsey, Tawes Endorsed

The South End Democratic Club this week endorsed George P. Mahoney for the party's nomination for governor of Maryland. At the same time, the club also endorsed the candidacy of Mahoney's running mate, Philip H. Dorsey, for attorney general. J. Millard Tawes was endorsed for the office of state comptroller.

Carner stated, "As a result of Mr. Mahoney's campaign tour, in which he was accompanied by Mr. Dorsey, in South Cumberland last week, our membership decided to call a special meeting due to the interest evidenced in Mr. Mahoney's visit. All our members, together with many other residents of South Cumberland, were very much impressed with Mr. Mahoney and we are convinced, more than ever, that he is truly the candidate of the rank and file membership of the party.

"It is our belief," Carner continued, "that Mr. Mahoney will make an outstanding governor. We are proud to join with the other Toms, Dicks and Harrys throughout the county and state, to do everything we can to assure him the Democratic nomination, so the Democratic party may present to the Maryland voters in November a strong united ticket that will regain for the party the governing of the state.

"Our organization has pledged itself to a very active part in the primary in support of Mahoney, Dorsey and Tawes," Carner concluded.

Two weeks ago, another South Cumberland Democratic club, The Fourth District Democratic Organization, also announced its endorsement of Mahoney.

De-ratting Dump

Hearing Slated On Shipping Of Uncensored Film

Extradition Action May Be Requested

Litigation extending over more than a year could end here May 17 in connection with the showing, in a county drive-in theatre, of a copy of a motion picture film which did not bear the seal of the Maryland Board of Censors.

The state, through Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, has summoned three Washington men, representing the ownership and distribution of the movie, to a hearing before Magistrate Milton S. Dick in Trial Magistrates Court on May 17 at 1 p.m.

Charged with selling, leasing, loaning or using a motion picture without having the film submitted to the Maryland Board of Censors, to be approved and licensed, are: John Rose, of the Rose Road Shows, trader for the film; R. E. Binns, manager, and J. Obert, an official of the Clark Distributing Company.

Fletcher said Rose has informed Allegany County authorities he is willing to waive extradition and appear for a hearing here. The two officials of the distributing firm have so far refused to come for a hearing, he added.

He said that if the men fail to appear for the hearing, the state will institute extradition proceedings.

The case arose from the showing, at an Allegany County drive-in theatre on April 25, 1953, of a version of the film which had not been approved by the state censorship board.

Progress Noted In Organizing Milk Producers

Progress was reported yesterday by an American Federation of Labor official in a current drive to organize milk producers of this area.

Earl Rider, general AFL organizer, said considerable progress is being made in organizing units of the National Agricultural Workers Union, an AFL affiliate.

He said the AFL is conducting an active drive to organize milk producers "so they will be sure of the price they will get for milk."

Organized in Allegany County has been the Allegany Milk Producers Cooperative Union, which has been meeting in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Headed by John T. Mason, Cresaptown, temporary chairman, the unit has signed up a nucleus, Rider said, of the some 250 eligible milk producers in Allegany and Garrett counties, Md., Mineral County, W. Va., and Bedford and Somerset counties, Pa.

Rider has scheduled a meeting tonight at 7:30 p. m. (EST) at Moorefield, W. Va., to get an organization under way in the South Branch Valley, and has made tentative plans for a similar meeting in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., next week.

Red Cross Views Disaster Problems At Conference

Mrs. Madeline Blaylock, disaster representative of the American Red Cross, nad Miss Margaret Margrave, Red Cross general field representative, conferred with local Red Cross leaders yesterday.

At the conference were Mrs. Harry J. Beneman, chapter chairman; Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary; Thomas B. Finan, chapter disaster chairman; H. Lee Silcox, vice chairman, and Mrs. Raymond Boore, chairman of nursing services.

The conference was called to discuss Red Cross responsibilities to the community in time of natural disaster and cooperation with Civil Defense in event of a national emergency.

'Clean-Up' Workers Ready To Open Drive Tomorrow

City-Wide Trash Pickups To Start Monday

An army of volunteers—adults and youngsters—is poised today to start a battle against dirt and grime.

The opening gun will be fired tomorrow, the starting date of Clean-Up Week. The campaign will end May 15.

Co-operating with the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce in the annual clean-up, paint-up, fix-up drive will be civic groups, merchants, and business and industrial establishments. These will be supplemented by students of both public and parochial schools.

Some 9,000 check lists will be distributed tomorrow to students of all the schools in Cumberland. On these lists, the students will report the clean-up tasks performed either by themselves or by their parents. Last year, the student reports showed that a grand total of 35,390 specific clean-up tasks had been completed by the students.

Business and industrial establishments are scheduling "clean-up" jobs and in some instances, remodeling jobs have been timed to coincide with Clean-Up Week.

A major activity, for which plans have been completed, is the block-to-block "pick-up" of trash.

Beginning Monday, May 10, city trucks and crews, augmented by those of private contractors, will cover the entire city. The city will be divided into three zones and the "pick-up" will be completed in three days, one zone a day, as follows:

Monday, May 10 — The area north of Williams Street to Wills Creek, East Side, and the city line north and east.

Tuesday, May 10—All the streets from Williams Street south.

Wednesday, May 11—The entire West Side.

Collections will start at 7 a. m. each day and all residents of the city are to have trash on the curb by that time. If any is missed, a call to the City Warehouse, telephone 1134, is all that is necessary to have it picked up.

All materials to be picked up must be placed at the curb in the same manner as garbage is placed for collection. Trash must be in containers or tied up for easier lifting.

The "pick-up" is in addition to the customary collections made throughout the year. It gives householders a chance to get rid of the trash that has been accumulating in attics and basements since last spring.

The Chamber announced yesterday that the Cumberland Dairy Service Corporation will collect empty milk bottles in the same three zones and on the same three days as the trash "pick-up." The organization asks only that the milk bottles be placed in separate containers and not mixed in with trash.

Trucks picking up the bottles will be those of the Dairy Service Corporation which acts as a bottle distributior and pick-up agency for Cumberland dairies. They will follow close behind the trash pick-up trucks.

Disaster Is Averted In LaVale Fire

A fire which easily could have resulted in disastrous consequences was extinguished yesterday afternoon through the quick action of LaVale volunteer firemen.

While a tank truck was unloading gasoline near the Deal Service Station about 4 p. m. some of the fuel seeped along the unloading point down over a bank and ignited.

The flames quickly spread up over the bank and ate their way to the huge tank truck. Firemen, armed with carbon dioxide extinguishers, quickly extinguished the fire. Grass and brush which was burning in the immediate area was extinguished with the booster pumps of the company's two trucks.

Cromwell Zembower, of the LaVale Department, said the side of the tank truck was scorched in the blaze which caused quite a bit of excitement in that community. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

April Fire Mark For Area Poor

Western Maryland experienced its worst April forest fire record in about 10 years last month when 28 blazes burned over 238.38 acres of woodland, according to District Forester William H. Johnson.

Allegany County was the worst offender last month when 12 fires burned 163.5 acres of land in this county. Two blazes in the same general area east of Cumberland were chiefly to blame for the bad mark. One on Irons Mountain burned over 74 acres. The other on Bush Ridge near Collier Mountain accounted for 40 acres.

Washington County's five April fires burned over 60 acres of woodland. Garrett and Frederick counties, which had considerably more rain than the other two counties, had only 11 fires between them. In Garrett County the six burned only 7.55 acres. In Washington County five burned only 7.33 acres.

Last month's record stresses the importance of special care in the woodlands, especially during unseasonably dry periods. Locally, in April there was only 2.02 inches of rainfall compared with an average for the month of 2.88 inches.

Girl Scouts Community Advisor To Visit Cumberland Council

Miss Elizabeth McHugh, Washington, Girl Scouts Community Advisor, will make an official visit to the Cumberland Girl Scouts Tuesday.

Miss McHugh, assigned to Section 10 in Region III, of which the local council is a part, will confer with scout leaders, council members, chairmen and scouts during her official visit.

A schedule has been arranged for interviews throughout all of Tuesday at the Girl Scout House, Greene Street. On Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock she will speak at a conference of the membership nominating and troop organization committees.

Since World War II, when Miss McHugh served in the WAC, she has been actively affiliated with the Girl Scouts. She is assigned as a councilor and community advisor, working out of the region office in Washington. Region III includes Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Senator Butler Assures City Of Parkway Help

Budget Official Explains Position

Senator John Marshall Butler has assured the City of Cumberland he will do everything possible in spite of the current setback, to obtain consideration by Congress of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Parkway.

In a letter to Mayor Roy W. Eves, the senior Maryland senator enclosed a letter received from the Bureau of the Budget which explains why funds for the Parkway were not included in the 1955 budget.

Recreational Opportunities

The communication, from Donald R. Belcher, assistant budget director, said the parkways program of the National Park Service is intended to afford recreational opportunities to the public by providing restricted roadways with wide parklike rights-of-way through scenic or historic areas.

These roadways, Belcher added, "are designed for pleasure travel and not to serve ordinary traffic needs or be a means of communication. Such utilitarian purposes are served by the various Federal-aid and state and local road programs.

Must Be Delayed

"Although highly desirable, the parkways program appears to be one which should be held in abeyance in the face of extremely heavy demands for defense expenditures, and an urgent need to attain a balanced budget.

"Accordingly, the 1955 budget did not include funds to start construction of the Chesapeake and Canal Parkway. Of the $425,000 included for parkways, approximately $400,000 is for continued construction of going projects where needed to complete a usable unit, and the remainder is to provide minimum needs for advance planning."

Dr. Skitarelic Urges Lions To Promote Race

Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, Baltimore Pike, in a talk to the Cumberland Lions Club this week, recounted his experiences at the National Capital Sports Car Races at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington last Sunday, and urged the Lions to promote the Cumberland races.

Dr. Skitarelic said more than 100,000 people attended the affair, including a number of celebrities such as Bob Hope and Dave Garroway.

"Those people really rolled out the red carpet for all the sports car owners and drivers," he declared. "It was quite evident that this newest of outdoor sports is a growing thing and the Cumberland Lions have a wonderful opportunity in their local promotion."

The physician, who races his own sports car and says he finished 17th in his race in Washington, moving up from 60th place at the start, urged the Lions to try to make the Cumberland Sports Car Races more than just a regional event.

"You've got to think big to be big," he declared. "These races attract the nation's leading industrialists and the more times we invite them here, the more chance we have of getting acquainted and perhaps interesting them in locating industrial plants here."

Dr. Skitarelic said that sports car racing is a sport which is catching on rapidly, and that the majority of people who can afford it are industrialists and men who have money to invest.

He urged the Lions to promote the Sports Car Races here as diligently as possible. "Make these people want to come back again and again," he urged. "Show them that we are interested in them and they in turn will show their interest in us.

"Last year's races got us off to a good start. This year and the next and the next, we must do still better," he concluded.

Bids Asked For LaVale Post Office Housing

Proposals and bids are being solicited by the Post Office Department for quarters suitable for post office purposes at LaVale, according to Thomas B. Cumiskey, assistant postmaster.

The department desires about 1,200 square feet of space and bids must be sent to Post Office Inspector W. B. Buckley at Washington by May 26.

Super Market Opens At New Location

Albert's Super Market will open today at its new location at Crystal Park, Albert Tomsko, manager, announced yesterday.

The market, which has parking space for 350 cars, will open on a modified basis, primarily to accommodate regular customers of the store's former Wineow Street location. A formal opening will be held later.

Potomac Valley Cows Compile Best Record For Butterfat Production This Year

Yielding an average of 27.9 pounds of butterfat for each of the 859 cows, the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association in April reached its highest butterfat average of the year.

As a matter of fact, that figure was higher than all but two of the 12 months of last year. In May, 1953, the average was 31 pounds and in March it was 28 pounds.

The butterfat percentage of 4.06 last month was 1954's second highest as was the milk average of 688 pounds per cow. The peak milk production so far this year has been 696 pounds for March. Best last year was May's 752 pounds.

Butterfat champion of the association last month was a grade Guernsey called simply No. 17, owned by A. E. and D. W. Light of Pinto, who had 85 pounds of butterfat (5.1 per cent) in 1670 pounds of milk.

The top 11 butterfat producers came from six different dairy farms in the Tri-State area. The Lights had two other cows on the select list, a grade Holstein in a two-way tie for third place and a grade Guernsey tied with two other cows in ninth place.

Carl W. Garland and Sons, Buffalo Mills, Pa., had two cows among the big butterfat producers. One, Fan, a registered Holstein, who was fresh only 27 days in April, was second with 86 pounds of butterfat in 1600 pounds of milk. Another Garland cow was in a two-way tie wor seventh place.

Brinker Brothers of Springfield, W. Va., had three cows on the honor roll. One was tied for third place, another tied for fifth and the third tied for seventh. The best producer of the three, Princess, a grade Holstein, was fresh only 21 days.

The other two honor cows, owned by Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings and Ivan Wilson of Midland were in the three-way tie for ninth place with 67 pounds of April butterfat. Eight of the top 11 producers were Holsteins and three Guernseys.

Old Filter Units To Be Modernized

William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, said bids will be opened on Tuesday, June 1, at 10 a. m. at a special meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Notices to contractors detailing the scope of the project are being issued today.

Plan Contact Basins

Also included is the construction of two up-flow contact basins of reinforced concrete, each 45 feet in diameter, with a control chamber. These units, the first to be built in Maryland, will remove most of the sediment from water before it is fed into filter beds—where microscopic materials will be removed.

The work will include alterations to the existing structure, housing of the modernized area, mechanical equipment, piping and valves, electrical work and other incidental items.

Mixing, flocculation and settling equipment and motor-operated floor stands will be furnished and installed in a succeeding contract, according to the notice to contractors.

Installation of certain equipment items which can be installed in the future at no extra cost is being deferred in order to keep the estimated cost of the work within available funds, about $250,000.

The upcoming contract is a continuation of a long-range plan of modernization and expansion of the city's water facilities.

New Filters Built

The first part of the program was completed last year at a cost of about $310,000. This included the installation of six new filter units, each with a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons of water daily, and a modern building to house the new filters.

Modernization of the plant's clearwell, which failed as the work got underway, and partial modernization of the chemical house was included in the work already accomplished.

When the old filters are modernized, the city will have a plant capable of filtering 18,000,000 gallons of water daily, and over 22,000,000 gallons if needed during peak loads, since all of the units are built to operate under 25 per cent overloads.

Rare Writ Is Denied Prisoner

A seldom-requested writ of coram nobis has been denied an inmate of the Maryland House of Correction by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The petitioner, William Taylor, was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction February 10 on his conviction by Judge James Clark in Anne Arundel County on a charge of being "a rogue and a vagabond."

In his letter of denial to Taylor, Judge Harris explains that a writ of error coram nobis is an old common-law writ recognized in Maryland. Its function is different from an ordinary writ of error in that the latter raises questions of law, while the former deals only with facts, which, if known at the time judgment was rendered, would have prohibited its rendition.

Also, it is unlike the writ of error in that it is returned to the court which rendered the judgment, while the writ of error is taken to some other and superior court.

"The decisions both in America and England are uniform in holding that the writ lies only to the trial court to correct its own errors of facts . . ." Judge Harris wrote.

He concludes by telling Taylor that a writ of coram nobis must be sought from Judge Clark. Taylor has argued that Judge Clark denied him the benefit of witnesses who would have shown he was not "a rogue and a vagabond."

Rieve Re-Elected President Of CIO Textile Workers

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 6 (AP)—Emil Rieve, president of the CIO Textile Workers Union of America since its birth 15 years ago, was re-elected today for another two-year term.

The Polish-born labor leader was unopposed in the election at the union convention here.

Elected to their first full terms were William Pollock, executive vice president and John Chupka, secretary - treasurer. Both were named to their present posts in a special executive council election last year.

The TWUA has voted an increase in the minimum dues to $3 a month from $2 a month. Of the $3, $1.50 goes to the international union and the other half stays with the local.

GEORGE A. SEIBERT

Banker Receives Certificate As Member Of 50-Year Club

George A. Siebert Began As Runner In 1895

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

When George A. Seibert, 231 Glenn Street, assistant secretary of the Liberty Trust Company, received a Certificate of Membership in the 50-Year-Club yesterday he became a member of a select group in the Maryland Bankers Association.

The genial gentleman was beaming all over when he opened the envelope and read that his name had been placed on roster with other state bankers.

Siebert has been employed with the Liberty Trust Company since its founding in 1920 and began his career as a runner in the former Third National Bank in 1895.

The letter accompaning the certificate read in part, "Your service to banking in Maryland has indeed been outstanding and this formal recognition represents only a minute reflection of our esteem."

The letter and certificate were signed by Thomas E. McConnell, president of the Maryland Bankers Association and Harper R. Clark, chairman of the 50-Year Club.

During an interview yesterday, he recalled how his father came to Cumberland one day, talked with a number of bank officials and said that his son, George, did not care too much for farming on North Branch and probably would like to work in a bank where he could learn something.

After working as a runner for the Third National Bank in the horse-and-buggy days when banking was simpler, Siebert recalled, he resigned about 1900 and went to work with the Interstate Trust Company which a few years later went out of business.

It was in 1903 that Siebert became a bookkeeper and cashier with the Times and Alleganian Company, and remained in that position for about two years when he decided to get back in the banking business.

He rejoined the Third National Bank and was employed with them when it merged with other banks in 1920 to form the Liberty Trust Company. Siebert has seen the Queen City grow up during the past half-century and in recalling the horse-drawn buggies on the city streets remarked, "Boy, were they noisy!"

During the years he has seen dry goods stores where bolts of cloth were sold give way to the modern clothing stores, and small frame buildings torn down to be replaced by the large hotels.

Banking in the early 20th Century was very simple in comparision to the modern trend with its various types of savings accounts and loan plans, he pointed out.

His current duties include being a teller as well as assistant secretary and he is rather proud of his punctuality on the job.

Plans To Retire

Siebert said yesterday he is planning to retire sometime in the near future and remarked that he

Baltimore Pike Firemen Plan Fund Campaign

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company is preparing plans for its annual fund drive which will start Monday, May 10, and run for about two weeks, Martin M. Gordon, company president, disclosed last night.

This volunteer group covers an area that extends along Baltimore Pike from the top of Martin's Mountain to the city limits, north to the state line and Mason Road and south to Williams Road.

In conducting the campaign to pay off the company's mortgage, Baltimore Pike firemen have divided the area they serve into districts which will be canvassed by teams of two or three men.

Joseph Bruner is general chairman of the fund raising drive.

Some eight teams have been designated to solicit funds. Along Jeffries Road to Williams Road Theodore Rice, Dale Valentine and Richard Arnold will handle the solicition. Along Christie Road and Willow Brook Road to the city limits Donald and Kenneth Michael will be in charge.

Bruner, James Michael and John Twigg will cover Rocky Gap Road, Beans Cove Road and the Old Hancock Road. Hinkle Road and Williams Road to Mt. Herman Church will be solicited by Leslie Hinkle and Roy Charlton.

Four different teams will work portions of the Baltimore Pike. From the city limits to Mt. Pleasant Road and including Eastman Road, DeHaven Road and Mason Road the teams of solicitors will include Amos Lyons, Richard Lynch and Melvin DeHaven. From Mt. Pleasant Road to Johnson Road, the solicitors will be Clinton and Earl Jewell. From Breakneck Road to the top of Martin's Mountain Gordon will be the solicitor. From the Fire Hall to Johnson Road the team will include Roy Gross and Harry Wilson.

$221 Verdict Awarded By Circuit Court Jury

An Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday awarded $221.59 damages to Charles M. Broadwater of the Union Grove area and the Pearl Assurance Company.

The plaintiff had sued Thomas Miltenberger of Flintstone for $500 damages as a result of a two-car collision last June 23 on Hazen Road. Broadwater was paid $171.59 damages by the equitable plaintiff with which he had a $50-deductible insurance policy.

Representing the plaintiff was Attorney William R. Carscaden. The defense attorney was Earl E. Manges. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris officiated at the trial.

Teen Road-e-o Written Test Due Next Week

Will Be Conducted At Central YMCA

Young Allegany County motorists who would like to compete in the annual Teen-age Road-e-o which the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce is sponsoring here again this year were reminded last night that the first obstacle for them to surmount is the written examination.

Instead of being conducted in the various schools as was the case last year, the written examination will be taken at Central YMCA. James W. Hines, general chairman of the Road-e-o, stressed that the test will be given between 7 and 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, May 12 and 13.

Any licensed driver enrolled in any public or parochial school in Allegany County may compete in the road-e-o.

Those making the best grades in the written examination will compete in the driving test which will be conducted on the A&P parking lot, Wineow Street, at 2 p.m. Memorial Day, Sunday, May 30. The young drivers must negotiate standard-shift automobiles through four tests designed to prove the skill of the driver. There is no emphasis upon speed.

The aim of the Jaycees is to show, by example, that young drivers can be careful and are more skilled than many of the older motorists. Trophies will be presented to the top three contestants here.

Winners here will go to Baltimore to compete in the state Road-e-o, which is scheduled for Saturday, June 12.

The winner of the Maryland contest will join with other state representatives August 10-14 in Washington, to compete in the National Teen-Age Road-e-o, which is co-sponsored by the United States Jaycees, Liberty Mutual Insurance companies, and the American Trucking Associations Inc.

Last year, over 80,000 teen-agers took part in more than 600 local contests.

Mahoney, Dorsey, Tawes Endorsed

The South End Democratic Club this week endorsed George P. Mahoney for the party's nomination for governor of Maryland. At the same time, the club also endorsed the candidacy of Mahoney's running mate, Philip H. Dorsey, for attorney general. J. Millard Tawes was endorsed for the office of state comptroller.

Announcement of the endorsements was made by Sheldon Carner, vice president and general chairman of the club's campaign committee.

Carner stated, "As a result of Mr. Mahoney's campaign tour, in which he was accompanied by Mr. Dorsey, in South Cumberland last week, our membership decided to call a special meeting due to the interest evidenced in Mr. Mahoney's visit. All our members, together with many other residents of South Cumberland, were very much impressed with Mr. Mahoney and we are convinced, more than ever, that he is truly the candidate of the rank and file membership of the party.

"It is our belief," Carner continued, "that Mr. Mahoney will make an outstanding governor. We are proud to join with the other Toms, Dicks and Harrys throughout the county and state, to do everything we can to assure him the Democratic nomination, so the Democratic party may present to the Maryland voters in November a strong united ticket that will regain for the party the governing of the state.

"Our organization has pledged itself to a very active part in the primary in support of Mahoney, Dorsey and Tawes," Carner concluded.

Two weeks ago, another South Cumberland Democratic club, The Fourth District Democratic Organization, also announced its endorsement of Mahoney.

De-ratting Dump

Hearing Slated On Shipping Of Uncensored Film

Extradition Action May Be Requested

Litigation extending over more than a year could end here May 17 in connection with the showing, in a county drive-in theatre, of a copy of a motion picture film which did not bear the seal of the Maryland Board of Censors.

The state, through Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, has summoned three Washington men, representing the ownership and distribution of the movie, to a hearing before Magistrate Milton S. Dick in Trial Magistrates Court on May 17 at 1 p.m.

Charged with selling, leasing, loaning or using a motion picture without having the film submitted to the Maryland Board of Censors, to be approved and licensed, are: John Rose, of the Rose Road Shows, trader for the film; R. E. Binns, manager, and J. Obert, an official of the Clark Distributing Company.

Fletcher said Rose has informed Allegany County authorities he is willing to waive extradition and appear for a hearing here. The two officials of the distributing firm have so far refused to come for a hearing, he added.

He said that if the men fail to appear for the hearing, the state will institute extradition proceedings.

The case arose from the showing, at an Allegany County drive-in theatre on April 25, 1953, of a version of the film which had not been approved by the state censorship board.

Progress Noted In Organizing Milk Producers

Progress was reported yesterday by an American Federation of Labor official in a current drive to organize milk producers of this area.

Earl Rider, general AFL organizer, said considerable progress is being made in organizing units of the National Agricultural Workers Union, an AFL affiliate.

He said the AFL is conducting an active drive to organize milk producers "so they will be sure of the price they will get for milk."

Organized in Allegany County has been the Allegany Milk Producers Cooperative Union, which has been meeting in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Headed by John T. Mason, Cresaptown, temporary chairman, the unit has signed up a nucleus, Rider said, of the some 250 eligible milk producers in Allegany and Garrett counties, Md., Mineral County, W. Va., and Bedford and Somerset counties, Pa.

Rider has scheduled a meeting tonight at 7:30 p. m. (EST) at Moorefield, W. Va., to get an organization under way in the South Branch Valley, and has made tentative plans for a similar meeting in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., next week.

Red Cross Views Disaster Problems At Conference

Mrs. Madeline Blaylock, disaster representative of the American Red Cross, nad Miss Margaret Margrave, Red Cross general field representative, conferred with local Red Cross leaders yesterday.

At the conference were Mrs. Harry J. Beneman, chapter chairman; Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary; Thomas B. Finan, chapter disaster chairman; H. Lee Silcox, vice chairman, and Mrs. Raymond Boore, chairman of nursing services.

The conference was called to discuss Red Cross responsibilities to the community in time of natural disaster and cooperation with Civil Defense in event of a national emergency.

'Clean-Up' Workers Ready To Open Drive Tomorrow

City-Wide Trash Pickups To Start Monday

The opening gun will be fired tomorrow, the starting date of Clean-Up Week. The campaign will end May 15.

Co-operating with the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce in the annual clean-up, paint-up, fix-up drive will be civic groups, merchants, and business and industrial establishments. These will be supplemented by students of both public and parochial schools.

Some 9,000 check lists will be distributed tomorrow to students of all the schools in Cumberland. On these lists, the students will report the clean-up tasks performed either by themselves or by their parents. Last year, the student reports showed that a grand total of 35,390 specific clean-up tasks had been completed by the students.

Business and industrial establishments are scheduling "clean-up" jobs and in some instances, remodeling jobs have been timed to coincide with Clean-Up Week.

A major activity, for which plans have been completed, is the block-to-block "pick-up" of trash.

Beginning Monday, May 10, city trucks and crews, augmented by those of private contractors, will cover the entire city. The city will be divided into three zones and the "pick-up" will be completed in three days, one zone a day, as follows:

Monday, May 10 — The area north of Williams Street to Wills Creek, East Side, and the city line north and east.

Wednesday, May 11—The entire West Side.

Collections will start at 7 a. m. each day and all residents of the city are to have trash on the curb by that time. If any is missed, a call to the City Warehouse, telephone 1134, is all that is necessary to have it picked up.

All materials to be picked up must be placed at the curb in the same manner as garbage is placed for collection. Trash must be in containers or tied up for easier lifting.

The "pick-up" is in addition to the customary collections made throughout the year. It gives householders a chance to get rid of the trash that has been accumulating in attics and basements since last spring.

The Chamber announced yesterday that the Cumberland Dairy Service Corporation will collect empty milk bottles in the same three zones and on the same three days as the trash "pick-up." The organization asks only that the milk bottles be placed in separate containers and not mixed in with trash.

Trucks picking up the bottles will be those of the Dairy Service Corporation which acts as a bottle distributor and pick-up agency for Cumberland dairies. They will follow close behind the trash pick-up trucks.

Disaster Is Averted In LaVale Fire

A fire which easily could have resulted in disastrous consequences was extinguished yesterday afternoon through the quick action of LaVale volunteer firemen.

While a tank truck was unloading gasoline near the Deal Service Station about 4 p. m. some of the fuel seeped along the unloading point down over a bank and ignited.

The flames quickly spread up over the bank and ate their way to the huge tank truck. Firemen, armed with carbon dioxide extinguishers, quickly extinguished the fire. Grass and brush which was burning in the immediate area was extinguished with the booster pumps of the company's two trucks.

Cromwell Zembower, of the LaVale Department, said the side of the tank truck was scorched in the blaze which caused quite a bit of excitement in that community. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

April Fire Mark For Area Poor

Western Maryland experienced its worst April forest fire record in about 10 years last month when 28 blazes burned over 238.38 acres of woodland, according to District Forester William H. Johnson.

Allegany County was the worst offender last month when 12 fires burned 163.5 acres of land in this county. Two blazes in the same general area east of Cumberland were chiefly to blame for the bad mark. One on Irons Mountain burned over 74 acres. The other on Bush Ridge near Collier Mountain accounted for 40 acres.

Washington County's five April fires burned over 60 acres of woodland. Garrett and Frederick counties, which had considerably more rain than the other two counties, had only 11 fires between them. In Garrett County the six burned only 7.55 acres. In Washington County five burned only 7.33 acres.

Last month's record stresses the importance of special care in the woodlands, especially during unseasonably dry periods. Locally, in April there was only 2.02 inches of rainfall compared with an average for the month of 2.88 inches.

Girl Scouts Community Advisor To Visit Cumberland Council

Miss Elizabeth McHugh, Washington, Girl Scouts Community Advisor, will make an official visit to the Cumberland Girl Scouts Tuesday.

Miss McHugh, assigned to Section 10 in Region III, of which the local council is a part, will confer with scout leaders, council members, chairmen and scouts during her official visit.

A schedule has been arranged for interviews throughout all of Tuesday at the Girl Scout House, Greene Street. On Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock she will speak at a conference of the membership nominating and troop organization committees.

Since World War II, when Miss McHugh served in the WAC, she has been actively affiliated with the Girl Scouts. She is assigned as a councilor and community advisor, working out of the region office in Washington. Region III includes Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Senator Butler Assures City Of Parkway Help

Budget Official Explains Position

Senator John Marshall Butler has assured the City of Cumberland he will do everything possible in spite of the current setback, to obtain consideration by Congress of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Parkway.

In a letter to Mayor Roy W. Eves, the senior Maryland senator enclosed a letter received from the Bureau of the Budget which explains why funds for the Parkway were not included in the 1955 budget.

Bids Asked For LaVale Post Office Housing

Proposals and bids are being solicited by the Post Office Department for quarters suitable for post office purposes at LaVale, according to Thomas B. Cumiskey, assistant postmaster.

The department desires about 1,200 square feet of space and bids must be sent to Post Office Inspector W. B. Buckley at Washington by May 26.
